U. S. CALLED ON FOR EMERGENCY WHEAT RELIEF

Plan Direct Buying to Boost Price.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Scarcely seven months after the passage of the federal government's agricultural marketing act, the federal farm board has been called upon to create a stabilization corporation, by which means the United States government will for the first time attempt to purchase sufficient of the existing wheat crop to relieve present demoralized price levels.

At the close of its first two day meeting here yesterday the wheat growers' advisory committee of the farm board recommended the immediate creation of such a national surplus control corporation under powers granted by the marketing act. Articles of incorporation are being drawn up in order to exert the governmental action at the earliest possible time.

Legge Gives Approval.

Although Alexander Legge, chairman of the farm board, could not be reached after the announcement of the committee, it is understood he, as well as S. R. McKelvie, grain member of the board, sat in with the wheat growers and approved their actions. W. G. Kellogg, chairman of the advisory group and general manager of the farm board's central sales cooperative, made the announcement.

This proposed entry of the farm board into the weakened national and international wheat markets is said to be an unprecedented peacetime action of the federal government toward attempted control of raw foodstuffs for the benefit of the producers.

While the new stabilization corporation would be closely related to the Farmers' National Grain corporation, a $20,000,000 cooperative sales agency created last fall by the farm board, it is more than a mere coördinating and marketing organization. Under the marketing act's provisions, its board of directors may be given almost unlimited leeway in amount of grain purchased, and how the surplus may be disposed of.

To Use $500,000,000 Fund.

Any losses that might be incurred in the processing, holding or "dumping" of wheat in the domestic or world market may be repaid from the revolving fund of $500,000,000 appropriated by congress last June for the farm board. Loans are made by the federal farm board from this fund to the stabilization corporation. It is the plan of the board that any losses incurred in unusual years are to be made up from profits of the corporation during more favorable seasons.

The act also provides that the farm board may recognize an existing corporation as the agency for conducting its stabilization activities. It is this section of the law which might enable the farm board to use the mechanical facilities of its existing farmer-owned grain corporation in Chicago in its plan of getting into the present wheat situation as soon as possible.

Chairman Legge has previously decided, in a letter to Senator Charles L. McNary, the policy of the board on this matter of the government's attempt to stabilize agricultural commodities. The process of stabilization, he said, is divided into two rather distinct classes.

What Board Is Doing.

"The first class is what might be called normal operations, involved in almost everything the board is doing," he wrote. "Every measure taken to increase the effectiveness of cooperative organizations in any commodity, or improve their financial position, to coördinate or correlate their activities so as to make their operations more effective, is in itself a process of stabilization."

In most cases, he believed, this sort of activity would be all that was needed, the result depending on how successful the board is in working out large, well managed organizations which will control a sufficiently large percentage of the product to make their influence felt on the market.

"The second form of stabilization," Mr. Legge explained, "might be termed extraordinary or emergency operations, whereby, because of a large surplus on any commodity, the operation would consist of buying and taking off the market some considerable part of the tonnage so as to relieve the pressure, and carrying the product until some future date in the hope that there would be a more favorable opportunity of disposing of it."

Yesterday's announcement by the wheat advisory committee indicates that such an emergency as Mr

CITY HALL RING FIGHTS PLAN TO PAY EMPLOYES

Pins Hope on Sale of Warrants.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city administration is reported to have decided upon its policy for extricating the municipality from the financial mire.

If it fails to sell tax anticipation warrants, it will make war on "the reformers," attack the Citizens' committee, headed by Silas H. Strawn, and take indirect slaps at the bankers. The open declaration of battle is to be withheld for ten days or so, and the interim spent in an intensive effort to sell tax warrants. If that fails then the flood gates will be thrown open, according to the tentative decision.

The Administration Strategy.

Mayor Thompson's friends hope they will be able to dispose of warrants. They much prefer to "whip the reformers" by that method, although they admit privately the chances of success are against them. Failing that, it is then planned to have President Caldwell of the school board flood the city's homes with propaganda through the school children. The approach to the parents will be a plea to buy warrants to keep the schools open. At the same time the sale of warrants over the counter is to be started.

To impress the public, the Strawn committee, the bankers and the reformers that the city administration intends to become drastic, the city issued its first 1930 corporate tax warrant yesterday to a city creditor, M. Huber, Inc., a contractor who takes care of the city's ash and refuse disposal. The amount of the warrant is $40,000. It is signed by Mayor Thompson, V. S. Petterson, deputy controller, and James W. Breen, first assistant corporation counsel.

City's Policy Is Told.

Later Deputy Petterson said:

"If any creditor comes in and wants tax anticipation warrants we will accommodate him. If any employé desires them, he will be given them. If any buyer desires to purchase, we will sell him."

This is the practice which Mr. Strawn and the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association predicted will depreciate the market value of the warrants. Thus far the county has been prevailed upon not to issue warrants to employés for unpaid salaries. Specifically the bankers' association advised its members not to cash such warrants or accept them as collateral.

A Letter from Wall Street.

The most promising prospect for the sale of warrants yesterday was a letter from Herbert C. Heller & Co., 37 Wall street, New York City, which was signed by Mr. Heller. It was addressed to City Controller Schmidt and reads:

"The writer will be in Chicago Friday or Saturday of this week when he will take the liberty of calling to see you, and will possibly have some suggestions or form of deal that might be of interest to you in selling some warrants."

E. K. Eichengreen, resident manager of the Heller office in Chicago at 105 West Adams street, said that Mr. Heller will see the city controller today. Mr. Heller was credited in political circles yesterday afternoon with working out the deal by which $40,000,000 of school board building fund warrants were sold last July 8. This was criticized by some aldermen as "excessively profitable" for the buyers of those warrants.

City Hall Rescuers at Work.

Mayor Thompson was declared to be diligently at work to get money for the employés. He did not get down to his city hall office until his usual time of 3 o'clock in the afternoon, however.

The special committee appointed by the city council "to find purchasers for the tax warrants" was also reported to be industriously working, but Corporation Counsel Ettelson was working at home. The other members, Ald. John S. Clark and Controller Schmidt, got together for a talk. The committee, appointed last Tuesday to get cash for some of the 40,122 public employés who have been waiting more than a month for $11,275,500 in salaries, is scheduled to have its first session at noon today.

Committee Is Showed Up.

It was reported among city employés yesterday that the official modesty of these officials has prevented an earlier meeting. The resolution of appointment did not name a chairman, although Corporation Counsel Ettelson's name was first on the list. He is reported to have disliked the honor of being head of the sales or-

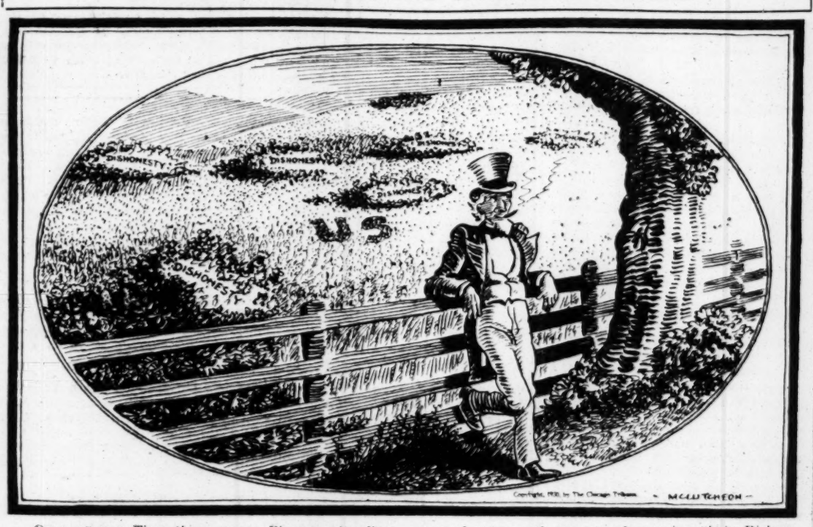
THE RICH FARM AND THE SPREADING THISTLE



Once upon a Time there was a Pioneer who discovered a Great Piece of Virgin Land. As far as the eye could see, it lay across Hills and Valleys and Mountains, awaiting the Labor that would make it Rich and Fruitful.

The Pioneer worked hard, overcoming Great Obstacles in his Fight against the Wilderness, and in Time the Land began to repay him in Bounteous Crops. He said to his sons, "Here is a Fine Farm. If you are Wise, you will Guard and Protect it well and it will Bless you the Rest of your Days.

The Goodly Name of this new Land of Promise spread throughout the World and other Workers came from Far Away to Help Develop it and Share in its Bounty. And they also became Happy and Contented, for they were Honest, Industrious and Frugal.

The Land was vast and fertile. Under the Labor of the People thereon it bloomed with rich rewards for their Toil. But as they grew Richer, their Thoughts turned more and more to Increasing their Riches. For long hours they would Dream of Easier Ways of Multiplying their Wordly Goods. They forgot the Wise Counsel of the Old Pioneer that they Guard well their Precious Possession.

One day, on the Wings of an Ill Wind a few Brambles and Thistles crept into the Fields of Grain, and as they were not at once Dislodged, others took Courage and followed them in. When they saw that Everybody was too busy with his dreams of wealth to Bother with them, they Gained Confidence and began to Spread like Wildfire. It was then that the Farmers became alarmed. The rich fields of which they were so Proud were Threatened with Contamination and, perhaps, Destruction. "Unless we bend ourselves to the Great Task of Stamping them out," they cried, "our Splendid Heritage is Ruined."

Moral—It is not wise to allow bad tendencies to continue unchecked. The atom, if allowed to develop, may become a devastating giant.

Pilot Saves Aid, Sticks to Plane to Die

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Lieut. Alexander B. Orr, army flyer attached to Rodd field here, crashed to his death today after a collision in the air, but added his name to the list of the army's air heroes.

When he felt his plane going into a fatal tailspin after colliding with another plane, he ordered his sergeant, Albert F. Farrar, to take to his parachute, saving Farrar's life. Lieut. Orr stuck to his ship and went to his death.

Controls Damaged in Crash.

A plane piloted by Lieut. Carl R. Storrie crashed into Orr's plane and damaged the controls so that it was impossible to right the ship, Farrar said tonight. Storrie's plane was not injured and he landed safely.

Orr's widow and his parents survive.

Takes to Parachute Too Late.

East Hempstead, N. Y., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Elliot de Lisser, an automobile dealer of New York City, was killed today after his airplane went into a tailspin. He apparently waited too long before making a parachute leap. He was taking a test for a private pilot's license.

The plane went into a spin at an altitude of about 2,500 feet, but De Lisser did not jump until only about 150 feet from the ground. His parachute did not open.

The plane struck a house, the engine plunging through the roof into the attic.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Lawrence occupy the upper floor of the house and Mrs. Lawrence had gone on a shopping trip only a few minutes before the heavy motor ripped into the building.

TAXICAB ROBBER SHOT IN BATTLE WITH POLICEMAN

Five minutes after he had robbed a cab driver of $10 Spencer Richards, 26 years old, of the Clinton hotel, Madison and Clinton streets, was overtaken by a policeman, wounded in an exchange of shots, and captured at Holt and Fry streets early this morning.

Richards, who subsequently admitted fifteen similar robberies, hired a De Luxe cab at Madison street and Campbell avenue and directed the driver, Roy Hess, 40 years old, 2329 Monroe street, to take him to 836 North Marshfield avenue. At that address he produced his pistol and relieved Hess of all his cash.

A block away the cab driver found Patrolman William Sife of the Racine avenue district on his beat. Together they searched the neighborhood and saw Richards in an alley. At the policeman's command to halt he fired two shots and was turning to flee when a bullet in his back below the shoulder halted him. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

Two men with guns who attempted to rob John Carter in his drug store at 3923 Diversey avenue early this morning fled without loot when Carter drew his pistol and fired four shots.

CHICAGO COUPLE HELD AS THIEVES IN LIBERTYVILLE

Alfred Landress, 35 years old, owner of a delicatessen store at 1445 Congress street, and his wife, Emily, 28 years old, were held to the Lake county grand jury yesterday under bonds of $5,000 each on burglary charges after they had been arrested at the home of J. E. Coleman on Ames street in Libertyville. Coleman is a painter on the estate of Samuel Insull.

The couple were arrested by Libertyville police after Mrs. William E. Larson, a neighbor, saw Landress enter the house while Mrs. Landress sat outside in an automobile. In Landress' possession the police said they found a diamond ring which had been taken from Coleman's home. A suit and an overcoat belonging to Coleman were on the dining room table.

As a result of recent north shore robberies the police of several suburbs were kept busy yesterday answering calls from alarmed householders who reported seeing prowlers near their homes.

SIX ARE KILLED IN UTAH COAL MINE EXPLOSION

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Six men were killed in an explosion in a coal mine at Standardville, Utah, 150 miles south of here, late last night, according to messages received here by the Standard Coal company, owners of the property. The fate of many others in the mine at the time of the explosion was not determined.

Six bodies were taken from the mine and three men were rescued alive.

The cause of the explosion was unknown and mine officials were unable to say whether any of the three slopes in which the other 14 or 16 miners were working was clogged by débris.

Lake Forest's Cops Too Fast for Katherine

A pert young woman with auburn hair was held in the Lake Forest police station last night charged with larceny and operating a confidence game and suspected of knowledge of burglaries which have occurred in three north shore homes during the last week. The prisoner is Miss Katherine McCarty, 18 years old.

Posing as the daughter of Mrs. Harlan B. Eldred, whose husband is a wealthy broker, the girl ordered an expensive dress charged to Mrs. Eldred's account at a loop department store on Wednesday and then proceeded to the Eldred home at 495 Rosemary road, Lake Forest, to claim the frock upon delivery.

Poses as Mrs. Elder's Friend.

To Ruth Franzen, maid in the Eldred home, the girl introduced herself as Josephine Astor, an intimate friend of Mrs. Eldred. She casually mentioned having been a house guest at the home the Eldreds have been occupying in Miami and told the maid Mr. Eldred was expected to return from Florida that evening.

Two hours before Mr. Eldred arrived the department store delivered the frock. The visitor signed the receipt and it was after her departure that the maid found her diamond engagement ring missing from her bedroom. She told Mr. Eldred, who confirmed the maid's growing suspicion, that the girl she had admitted was no friend of Mrs. Eldred.

Traced by Phone Call.

Through a telephone call the girl made while in the Eldred home Police Chief Tiffany of Lake Forest yesterday traced "Miss Astor" to 2340 Calumet avenue, Chicago. There she was found asleep and arrested by Lieut. Tracey and his detective bureau squad, who were accompanied by Chief Tiffany.

Reflecting on her knowledge of the Eldred domicile in Miami—she had even told the maid the correct address of the Miami house—Chief Tiffany questioned her at length concerning the burglaries at the homes of A. D. Lasker, Fred A. Poor, and Hampden Winston, all of whom are sojourning in Florida. The girl airily refused to answer, demanding that she be allowed to telephone a lawyer.

Senator Smoot Becomes a Great-Grandfather

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah today became a great-grandfather. The child, born at Garfield hospital here, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chambers. She will be named Alice, after her mother. Mrs. Chambers is only 18. She married last year after eloping to Frederick, Md. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smoot.

Nina Wilcox Putnam Asks to Be Adjudged Bankrupt

Miami, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Inez W. Sanderson, generally known as Nina Wilcox Putnam, author of short stories and articles, today petitioned the United States District court here to be adjudged a voluntary bankrupt.

Fines Mother Only $5; Raps Drys' Tactics

Mrs. Catherine Kearns, originally of Ireland and the mother of seven and grandmother of fourteen in her 64 years of life, was sentenced to pay one of the smallest prohibition fines on record in the federal court yesterday when she pleaded guilty to possessing liquor. Judge Carpenter, dean of the District bench, directed her to pay $5 and no court costs, and accompanied the sentence with biting sarcasm directed at the dry agents who arrested her.

Last August Agent Clifford B. Ewing wheedled a pint of spirits from Grandmother Kearns after neighbors had praised the quality of her home made liquors too loudly. Later a raid on the home at 521 West 63d street revealed 100 bottles of beer which Mrs. Kearns had brewed, she said, "for the christening party—my youngest grandchild." She told the court all about the party yesterday and one of her daughters corroborated the recital.

Criticizes Dry Agents.

"I understand," said Judge Carpenter, "that an army of prohibition agents watched New Year's eve celebrations and reported Chicago bone dry, but they had no difficulty in making a seizure at this home. And all she had was enough for a party. Five dollars, no costs."

In the excitement attending her arrest last summer, Mrs. Kearns was quaintly loquacious, but yesterday she had little to say as she stood before the bench in the high ceilinged courtroom.

Supported by a daughter, she stood silent while Assistant District Attorney Eugene Tapy stated the amount of intoxicants found in the home. Besides the beer, there were two bottles of spirits, one red and one white, which, as she explained last summer, Mrs. Kearns mixed "so the guests could take their choice."

Tells Her Story.

"For what purpose did you have this liquor in your home?" the judge asked.

In a low voice, almost devoid of the rich Irish brogue that adorned it in her first court appearance, Mrs. Kearns told of the christening party cut short by the raid. She and her husband, Patrick, "a laborer in Washington park," had planned the affair, and the beer and the spirits were to have been used to toast the new born, she said.

Although Mrs. Kearns pleaded guilty to selling liquor and was the first Chicago grandmother to be held as a Jones law violator, the government proceeded against her by filing an information and not by indictment, which would have made her liable to a five year prison term and a $10,000 fine.

JUDGE ACTS AS JURY

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—A directed verdict of guilty in a prohibition case—the first in Detroit since the state prohibition law went into effect, May 1, 1918—was given today by Judge Arthur W. Kilpatrick in the Recorder's court in the trial of Mrs. Edna Dilion.

The verdict was ordered by Judge Kilpatrick on the motion of Van H. Ring, assistant prosecuting attorney, who argued that Mrs. Dillon's testimony amounted to a plea of guilty.

The case, Judge Kilpatrick said, revolutionizes the trial of prohibition offenders in Detroit when circumstances similar to those presented by Mrs. Dillon are before the court.

Commends Prosecutor.

"In any case like this I will direct a verdict of guilty if the prosecutor so moves," Judge Kilpatrick said.

"I am sick and tired of seeing open and shut cases going to the jury and then resulting in acquittals, as they

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Breaking its silence for the first time since the beginning of the London naval conference, the American delegation made public tonight its proposals for the limitation and reduction of navies—proposals which constitute virtually a surrender by the Hoover administration to the terms of the British government.

The American proposals provide for a reduction in battleship fleets and an increase in the cruiser fleets of both powers, without establishing parity in either catagory.

The most interesting feature in the American plan is an ingenious scheme, purporting to equalize Anglo-American cruiser strength, but in reality imposing on America the limitation of 18 cruisers which has been sought all along by Great Britain, instead of the 21 cruisers which were originally contended for by President Hoover.

Obtains British Approval.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson read the American proposals to newspaper correspondents tonight, following a conference with Prime Minister MacDonald in the house of commons, where the American secretary of state submitted this statement to the British prime minister and obtained an approval of it.

In Mr. Stimson's outline of the proposals the American delegation adopts virtually the entire British program for naval limitation, which is so devised as to perpetrate British naval superiority over the United States and retain for Great Britain the mastery of the seas.

At the same time the American delegation backs down on its demand for the number of big cruisers which even the Hoover administration a few months ago pronounced essential to the establishment of Anglo-American cruiser parity. This action of the American delegation represents the greatest British victory since the Washington conference, at which America was induced to scrap a new navy which was in the course of construction.

Five U. S. Proposals Defined.

The American proposals may be summarized as follows:

1. Anglo-American battleship parity is to be established in 1931, instead of 1942, by reducing Great Britain's 20 battleships and America's 18 battleships to 15 each.

2. America is to have 18 big cruisers and 327,000 tons of big and little cruisers in aggregate; Great Britain is to have 15 big cruisers and 339,000 aggregated tonnage, with the proviso that America may build up to Great Britain's tonnage on the condition that she reduces her big cruisers to 15, and Great Britain may increase her big cruisers to 18 on the condition that she reduces to America's aggregate tonnage.

Propose Cut on Subs.

3. The quantity of aircraft carriers and destroyers is to be established by parity of tonnage.

4. Submarines are to be reduced to the lowest possible number and tonnage, on the basis of parity, or they will be abolished if the other nations consent.

5. Concession to Japan of a greater proportion of naval strength in all categories than the 5-5-3 ratio adopted at the Washington conference.

Mr. Stimson transmitted the American proposals to the British and Japanese delegations after ascertaining that they will be acceptable to each. He said that suggestions have not been made to France and Italy at this time because their problems are not directly related to America, but he said he considered a Franco-Italian agreement essential to the naval limitation plan on the lines proposed by America.

The Battleship Proposal.

The American battleship proposal would accelerate the reduction provided for by the Washington treaty, under the terms of which Great Britain and America would have 15 battleships each, and Japan nine, at the expiration of the replacement program in 1942.

The Stimson proposal in effect is that Great Britain scrap five ships, America scrap three and Japan scrap one next year. Presumably each navy would scrap its oldest ships. Great Britain now has 606,450 tons of battleships and America has 523,400 tons.

If America scrapped three and Great Britain scrapped five of their oldest ships British tonnage would be 427,350 and American tonnage would be 457,500. British battleship superiority would still, however, be greater than indicated by this tonnage disparity.

U. S. Experts Muzzled.

Great Britain has two crack superdreadnaughts, the Rodney and Nelson, which were laid down after the Washington treaty, equal to which America possesses none.

American naval authorities say that Anglo-American battleship parity cannot be established unless America, under the Stimson scrapping plan, also is allowed to build at least one superdreadnaught. No suggestion of this sort was mentioned in the American proposals.

That the proposal of Secretary of State Stimson on cruisers is a surrender of parity by America is also privately admitted by nearly all the naval advisers to the American delegation. They are muzzled, however, and are unable to speak their views.

Joker in Cruiser Proposal.

The joker in the cruiser proposal is the option accorded Great Britain to increase its big cruisers from 15 to 18, on condition that she reduce her aggregate cruiser tonnage to the American level and the option to America that she reduce big cruisers to 15.

To exercise the option America would be required to cut down her big cruisers and build more small cruisers, which is exactly contrary to the necessity of American national defense. On account of outlying naval bases, America needs large cruisers with long steaming radius and has little use for small cruisers.

On the other hand, Great Britain, by exercising her option, could increase her big cruisers to the same number as America, while still retaining superiority in small cruisers. Under the terms of the American plan, the United States will have the right to eighteen 10,000 ton 8 inch gun cruisers and twenty-one 7,000 ton 6 inch gun cruisers, aggregating 327,000 tons, while Great Britain would have 15 big and 35 small cruisers, aggregating 339,000 tons.

If each country is to exercise its option, America would get 15 big and 27 small cruisers, aggregating 339,000 tons, to Great Britain's 18 big and 21 small ships, aggregating 327,000 tons. Great Britain now has 54 cruisers aggregating 327,000 tons. From the start, London has proposed to reduce the number to 50, but to increase the total tonnage to 339,000 tons.

DRAWS FIRE IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—A striking change in the United States' policy, which is likely to invite the antagonism of even the pacifists, is revealed in the American naval reduction proposals enunciated tonight in London by Henry L. Stimson, chairman of the American delegation at the five power conference. This proposal, which disclosed that the United States suggests a cruiser tonnage limit for the United States of 327,000 tons, divided into 18 big gun cruisers and 20 six inch gun ships, is in direct opposition to the naval policy laid down last year by the general board and approved by former President Coolidge.

The American proposals disclose that the United States has given in to the British on two important points. Great Britain from the beginning fought to hold America's eight inch gun cruiser tonnage to 18 10,000 ton ships against this country's insistence on a maximum of at least 21 of the big type of vessels needed by the United States because of its long coast lines, few naval bases, and the length of the lines of communications between this country and the Philippines.

Fail to Slash Cruisers.

President Hoover at first urged a cut in cruisers below the 300,500 tons on the present building program. Finally, to obtain even a tentative agreement, the American total tonnage figure was raised to 315,000 tons. As the proposal now stands, the United States is asking 327,000 tons and, at the same time, is agreeing to the British demand that this country's big gun cruisers be limited to 18. Britain's cruiser tonnage would amount to 339,000 tons.

Acceptance of the Stimson proposal would give the United States a cruiser fleet of 38 vessels, 18 big gun and 20 small gun ships. Great Britain would have 50 vessels.

The Stimson proposal calls for the sacrifice of five of the 15 10,000 ton ships on the American program. In their place would be substituted 10 of the smaller 6 inch gun vessels of a class useful to Great Britain, but, according to American naval officers of little value to the United States. This government has contended repeatedly for big cruisers capable of steaming long distances and of fighting on at least equality with any other cruiser when it reached its destination.

The result is that the Stimson proposals, as they touched on cruisers, were received with surprise in all Washington circles, except the state department and the White House. No surprise was occasioned by the other proposals which called for scrapping of three American battleships and five British capital ships in 1931. It had also been assumed that the United States would demand tonnage parity by categories with the British empire.

Expect Storm in Congress.

The decision of the American government to raise its cruiser tonnage to 327,000 tons came as a shock to the pacifist organizations and they are certain to fight this step. Likewise the decision of the Hoover administration to alter naval policy and sacrifice its right to build the type of cruisers needed by a nation with few naval bases and a large commerce is expected to stir up a storm among adequate navy men in congress.

Indications of the coming storm are found in a statement made tonight by Chairman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], of the house naval affairs committee.

"If we are going to build more cruisers than we originally contemplated when the 15 cruiser bill was passed, let us build them in 10,000 ton cruisers of the type of ship adapted for use by the United States, rather than in 6 inch gun 7,000 ton vessels of the class best fitted to take care of British needs."

Text of Stimson Proposal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Following is the text of the statement by Secretary Stimson, chairman of the American delegation, at the London naval conference:

"At the opening of the conference the United States delegation made no statement of its position or of the needs of its country beyond the historical fact of the agreement in principle for parity between Great Britain and the United States. We are now in a position where we can go further. Following discussions among ourselves and negotiations with the British and Japanese which have clarified the limits of possible agreement, our delegation has made suggestions as follows:

"First, with Great Britain immediate parity in every class of ship in the navy.

"The gross tonnage of these two fleets is substantially 1,220,000 tons apiece. The negotiations last summer between President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald practically reduced the discussions of parity between them to the comparatively insignificant difference in their respective cruiser class tonnage of 24,000 tons. We propose to settle this difference as follows: Under our suggestion the actual tonnage difference between the two cruiser fleets will be only 12,000 tons. Of the larger cruisers armed with 8 inch guns Great Britain will have 15 and the United States 18, an advantage to the latter of 30,000 tons.

Gives British Option.

"Of the smaller cruisers armed with 6 inch guns Great Britain will have an advantage of 42,000, but beyond this, in order to insure exact equality of opportunity, the United States makes the suggestion that each country will have the option of duplicating exactly the cruiser fleet of the other. Thus Great Britain would have the option by reducing its number of small cruisers to increase its large cruisers from 15 to 18 so as to give it a total tonnage of 327,000 tons, the exact amount of tonnage which the United States now asks.

"On the other hand, the United States would have the option, by reducing its larger cruisers from 18 to 15, to increase the number of its small cruisers so as to give it a total cruiser tonnage of 339,000 tons, the exact amount of tonnage which the British now ask.

"In battleships we suggest by reduction in number on both sides to equalize our two fleets in 1931 instead of in 1942. At present the British battleship fleet contains two more vessels than ours. In destroyers and air craft carriers we suggest equality in tonnage, and in submarines the lowest tonnage possible.

"As is well known, we will gladly agree to a total abolition of submarines if it is possible to obtain the consent of all five powers to such a proposition and in any event we suggest that the operations of submarines be limited to the same rules of international law as surface craft in operation against merchant ships so that they cannot attack without providing for the safety of the passengers and crew.

Japanese Ratios Varied.

"Second, our suggestion to the Japanese would produce an over-all relation satisfactory to us, and, we hope, to them. In conformity with our relations in the past, it is not based upon the same ratio in every class of ships.

"We have not made proposals to the French and Italians, whose problems are not so directly related to ours that we feel it appropriate at this time to make suggestion to them. A settlement of the Italian and French problem is essential, of course, to the agreement contemplated. The United States delegates do not feel at liberty to discuss any further details in figures, and it is obvious that the announcement of hypothetical figures by others is calculated only to provoke argument.

"Our delegation is in agreement on every item of our program, and we are in the most hopeful spirit that, in coöperation with the other delegations, the primary purposes of the conference, namely, the termination and prevention of competition in naval armament and such reductions are found consistent with national security may be accomplished.

"This is all that we deem it helpful to state until our suggestions have been considered by the delegations to whom they have been sent."

BIG FIVE AGREE 'IN PRINCIPLE' ON GLOBAL TONNAGE

Only Italians Object to Modified French Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Pursuant to orders from the big five to step on the gas, the first committee of the naval conference got a move on today. After a couple of hours' consideration of the French and British proposals for a compromise between the global and categorical limitation theses, the committee agreed in principle to the compromise but passed the question over to a subcommittee which is to be appointed to work out the details. Nevertheless it must be taken into account that reservations on all points were entered by the Italians. They are still standing out for the necessity of a preliminary examination of the questions of proportion and global tonnage.

The subcommittee of the first committee will start work to try and adjust technical difficulties immediately. This body will consist of two experts and one adviser from each delegation.

Fix Global Tonnage First.

So far as can be learned the basis of compromise is the British amendment to the French proposal, by which the conference will fix the global tonnage first and then proceed to apportion the various types of ships in categories with some right of transfer in certain classes. The French will be satisfied in their demand for freedom in the light cruiser and destroyer classes either by lumping the two categories in one or allowing practically an unlimited transfer between them. Japan backed up France, but America and Britain joined in opposing.

The subcommittee is also instructed to examine the suggestion for two classes of powers "ocean powers" meaning America, Great Britain, and Japan, and "continental" meaning France and Italy, and working out a different set of categories for each group, meeting their special needs. The sixth category in the French plan, consisting of small auxiliaries, will not be mentioned by the British, and was also referred to the subcommittee.

Discuss Battleships.

It is learned tonight that the question of scrapping battleships, although not brought formally before the conference or any committee, has been the subject of an active interchange of views between the American, British, and Japanese delegations. The plan is to anticipate scrapping ships which fall due under the Washington treaty in 1934, 1935, and 1936. Great Britain has ten such ships, and is willing to sacrifice five, bringing its total down to 15, while America and Japan are asked to scrap proportionately, making the totals 15, 15, and 9.

The British ships which are earmarked for immediate scrapping under this scheme are the Iron Duke, Marlborough, Emperor of India, Benbow, and Tiger. America and Japan are also expected to scrap only the oldest ships, and it is corollary that all powers are to be pledged to build no more battleships until after 1936. This, of course, leaves Great Britain, with its more modern post-war ships, still ruler of the waves, so far as battleships are concerned.

Following the initiation of the policy of speeding up the parley, it was announced that, beginning next Monday, the first committee will meet twice a day, and André Tardieu, the French premier, who goes to Paris again tomorrow, will return on Monday and will be in daily attendance.

The French today began to draft a plan for humanizing submarine warfare for submission to the plenary meeting on next Tuesday.

This morning also Mr. MacDonald, Mr. Stimson, Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief Japanese delegate; James E. Fenton, minister for trade and customs of Australia, and T. M. Wilford, minister of justice of New Zealand, received at St. James' palace a deputation from a woman's pacifist organization known as the "Women's Peace Crusade." Among the deputation were three American women, Mrs. Caspar Whitney, Mrs. Edgerton Parsons, and Miss Josephine Schain. The women presented petitions from several countries urging real disarmament, and were replied to by Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Stimson, who politely thanked the women for their support and said they were doing their best.

TOKIO GOVERNMENT STUNNED BY DRASTIC U. S. NAVAL PROPOSAL

TOKIO, Feb. 7.—[Friday.]—(AP)—An American proposal, described as "drastic and far reaching" and covering every category of naval armaments, was received by the Japanese government last night from its delegation at the London naval conference.

The proposal, which created a profound impression in government circles, was submitted to Tokio without comment by the Japanese delegation, which did not ask for any instructions. However, the questions involved were of such importance as to transcend the delegates' powers and hence deliberation of the whole government was made necessary. Naval experts have begun a study of the document, which probably will require several days.

The foreign office maintained a profound secrecy today. It was learned authoritatively, however, that the proposal in its present form was not acceptable to Japan.

FRENCH FEAR U. S., BRITAIN LEAGUED IN PRIVATE PACT

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—America's new proposals to Great Britain for equalization of navies tonight tends to confirm the French apprehensions that all the principal issues under discussion at the conference were cut and dried during the preliminary negotiations when Prime Minister MacDonald visited President Hoover last fall.

Mr. Stimson's reiteration of the United States' desire that submarines be restricted to the smallest possible tonnage is regarded by the French delegation as an indication that Washington is ready to back Great Britain's demand for the suppression of submersibles in return for the British admiralty conceding to the American viewpoint on other questions.

"It was not necessary to invite the other three powers here to solemnly witness the United States make a separate pact with England," said one member of the delegation.

Russell Reports Progress in Shooting Probes.

Aside from a minor shooting on the west side yesterday evening the criminal element had ceased firing, but the police—unpaid—had not ceased their activities. Commissioner Russell said considerable progress had been made in the investigation of the seven shootings in seven days, and he was working in which "tough" district he would put Capt. William Shoemaker, who is known as being "hardboiled" and who has been assigned to the state's attorney's office.

Shoemaker was formerly chief of detectives.

Andrew Mannino, 40 years old, 1442 Fullerton avenue, a baker employed by the Sawyer Biscuit company, 1049 West Harrison street, was shot twice in the left shoulder in front of 631 Southport street last evening by a man who stepped out of a gangway and fired several shots with a revolver and then fled. Joseph Sonandia, 1452 Fullerton avenue, Mannino's fellow worker, who was going home with him, took the wounded man to the Mother Cabrini hospital, where it was found that his wounds were not serious.

The police believe Mannino had been shot because he had refused to strike with other employés of the Sawyer company, who went out on strike for a short time on Wednesday. Officials granted their demand for pay for an extra half hour each day, and the workers returned.

Shooting Victim Dies.

Another murder mystery burdened police archives yesterday when Burrell Benson, 24 years old, 1534 Grand avenue, died. Benson was shot on Oct. 31 in an alley near Maypole avenue and Lake street. He told police Joseph Riggo, 1741 Maypole avenue, was responsible for the shooting, saying that Riggo and two other men had led him into the alley. Riggo hasn't been found. Benson was said to have been paying attentions to Riggo's wife.

Deputy Chief of Detectives John Egan ordered charges of murder placed against Jerry Cotter and George [Monk] Campion because of the shooting of William Healy, who died on Wednesday, and steps were taken to cause the indictment of John Neville, union business agent, on the same charge.

Demands Brother Testify.

Egan directed that John Healy, brother of the slain man, be taken before the grand jury today and be punished if he refuses to tell what his brother told him about the shooting. At the inquest yesterday John Healy refused to repeat the dying statement of his brother, in which, police are sure, Neville was named as the actual killer and Cotter and Campion as accessories.

Sergt. Edward Callopy of the Marquette station traced the revolver with which Philip Marchese was killed on Tuesday afternoon in front of the Irving school. It was sold on April 26, 1928, to Joe Spanco, 1052 South Western avenue, who is being sought.

The revolver with which Joseph ["Motor Joe"] Cada was killed early Sunday morning was traced to a company in New York, which since has gone out of business, and the New York police were asked to make a search for records of the resale of the pistol. The revolver found on Cada's body also is being traced.

Paul Swain, 34 years old, 1900 West Adams street, and George Gray, 27 years old, 3108 Arthington street, were arrested at Damen street and Jackson boulevard as suspects of the shooting of Philip H. Meagher, building superintendent directing the erection of the Lying-in hospital, who was wounded Wednesday afternoon at 59th street and Drexel avenue. A revolver was found in their automobile, which was similar in appearance to the car used by the men who shot Meagher. Witnesses to the shooting are to be asked if they can identify Swain and Gray.

Commissioner Russell and State's Attorney Swanson were interested in what might be the attitude of the members of the executive committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce after they meet today concerning the outbursts of violence of the last eight days.

SCHMIDT CASE UP IN MEDICAL COUNCIL TODAY

The case of Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, Chicago surgeon, who was ousted from the Chicago Medical society a year ago because of his indirect connection with the Public Health institute, is expected to come today before the judicial council of the American Medical association—his court of last resort.

Dr. Schmidt said last night that he expected the council's decision to be favorable to him, but added: "I won't be surprised at anything."

The surgeon was ousted from the medical society because as head of the Illinois Social Hygiene league he has handled charity cases sent to the league from the Public Health institute, which advertises its services. The institute also contributes funds toward the league's charitable work. Dr. Schmidt in his defense raised the whole question of medical ethics and the high cost of illness.

He first appealed to the Illinois State Medical society and this organization upheld the decision of the Chicago organization. Dr. Schmidt then appealed to the American Medical association.

BUS, STREET CAR AND AUTO CRASH; TWO MAY DIE

Three Seriously Injured in Triple Collision.

Three persons were injured seriously, two of them perhaps fatally, last night in a three sided traffic accident involving a street car, an automobile, and a motor bus on 79th street, near Vincennes avenue. Thirty passengers on the street car and the bus were shaken up by the collision, but only one of them was hurt seriously. The injured:

Mrs. Anna New, 42 years old, his wife, left ear torn off, fractures of the left hip and the pelvis.

Mrs. Adeline Cella, 36 years old, 4921 Quincy street, fracture of the spine.

Bus Bound for St. Louis.

At the Auburn Park hospital, where all three were taken, it was said that Mr. and Mrs. New were both in a critical condition from loss of blood and might not survive their injuries.

The bus, operated on the Nervin bus line and driven by Robert Whitehall of St. Louis, was westbound on 79th street on the way to St. Louis when it collided with New's car, a coupe, which was traveling east on 79th street, just east of Vincennes avenue.

The coupe struck the left wheel of the bus and was whirled about just as an eastbound 79th street car came up at a high speed. The car struck the automobile and hurled it on to the sidewalk on the south side of the street, a distance of 20 feet.

New's leg was caught in the door and severed, while Mrs. New received the full force of the impact between the street car and the automobile. Mrs. Cella was riding in one of the front seats of the bus.

Jury Probes Death.

Walter B. Trunk, Chicago Ridge restaurant owner, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury yesterday investigating the death of George Wick, 30 years old, 6440 South Claremont avenue. Wick was fatally injured when he was struck by Trunk's automobile as he [Wick] was repairing a tire on his own car in front of 6520 South Western avenue Wednesday night.

Trunk fled after the accident. He was traced through the license number of his car, obtained by a witness, George Zimmerman, 710 West 65th street. Trunk said that he did not believe he had struck Wick a fatal or even serious blow.

With no deaths reported yesterday, the 1930 auto toll for Cook county remained at 70.

TAFT IS IMPROVING, BUT HIS CONDITION STILL TERMED GRAVE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—William Howard Taft continued to show improvement today in his fight for life, although his condition is still considered very grave.

At 7:30 this evening attending physicians announced through the White House that the chief justice had taken more nourishment and had shown a more decided improvement than at any time since his return to the capital Tuesday.

"The chief justice has taken more nourishment," the evening bulletin read, "and shows a more decided improvement than at any time since his return to Washington."

A resolution expressing regret over Mr. Taft's illness and expressing the hope that he would recover was adopted today by the senate.

In this connection Senator Cole Blease [Dem., S. C.] said he hoped the judiciary committee should refuse to approve the nomination of Charles E. Hughes for chief justice. He charged "some one fooled Taft into resigning" and urged reappointment.

EX-JUDGE ADAMS' WEDDING IS TO BE TOMORROW

Former Municipal Judge Asa G. Adams, 61 years old, and Mrs. Gertrude Kirby, 60 years old, will be married tomorrow. Mrs. Kirby's daughter is the wife of Judge Adams' son, Winfield H. Adams. The former judge and his son are law partners and he has made his home with the younger couple since the death of his first wife more than a year ago. The Adams home is at 8951 South Leavitt street.

Policeman Finds His Dog Ignores the Regulations

Policeman Martin L. Ernest, 6215 Calumet avenue, decided last night that his dog, Chief, had earned his reputation as a friendly animal but in doing so has lost his reputation as a capable guardian of the Ernst home. Ernst left Chief on guard while he and Mrs. Ernst attended a movie last night. When they returned they found a window open and a pair of trousers and $2 missing. The burglar, apparently making a friend of Chief, had locked him in the basement.

Buys for Dog, but Not for Family; Is Sent to Jail

Herman Wagner, 5228 South Kolin avenue, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Lupe in Stockyards court. His wife, Elizabeth, had testified he gladly bought meat for his dog, but refused to provide for herself and their five children. Wagner, unable to pay the fine, was taken to the Bridewell to serve it out. "Take good care of the dog, Lizzie," was his parting admonition to his wife.

KIDNAP VICTIM FREED, A WRECK; HUNT PLOTTERS

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—With six men and a woman under heavy bail here, suspected of complicity in the kidnaping of Max Price, wealthy 60 year old real estate broker, who was released early today after having been held captive and brutally treated, local and New York dectectives redoubled their efforts to find the ringleaders of the plot. Price was freed on his promise to pay a $25,000 ransom.

Police here are trying to hook up local suspects with Samuel Handel and Harry Fleisch, alleged members of the "Purple" gang of kidnapers in Detroit, under arrest in New York, who admit, police say, that they were promised $2,000 to conduct the negotiations for the payment of a ransom by Price's family.

Thus far the police have been able to get only a fragmentary account of his adventure from Price, whose physical and mental faculties are so impaired that he was taken from his home to a sanitarium this morning.

WHEEL OF SAW FLIES TWO BLOCKS TO KILL WOMAN

Richmond, Va., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Death, assuming the form of a fly wheel to a saw, flew through space for two blocks today.

James Brice, a Negro, was sawing wood in a vacant lot. The balance wheel, an iron disc ⅛ an inch thick, snapped as the saw was running at high speed. One part fell to the ground and the other sailed high in the air, clearing a two story church and two small houses and plunging through the roof of a third.

Winnie Jones, Negro woman, was struck by the iron with terrific force. Her face and half her head was severed.

Physician Drops Dead of Heart Disease as He Shaves

Dr. Charles L. McDonnell, 39 years old, 4735 South Western avenue, dropped dead of heart disease in the bathroom at his home, last night while shaving.

INSISTS HOOVER IS "BACK SLIDER" ON PROHIBITION

Wagner in Senate Flays Crime Board Program.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—President Hoover's pre-campaign promise to conduct an organized, searching investigation, with a view to remedying dry law abuses was characterized on the senate floor today as an idea "rich in hopes," which ended in "sad neglect."

During an attack upon the Wickersham law enforcement program, Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], a wet leader, charged that the President, since his acceptance speech, figuratively has backslid in his attitude toward prohibition. With each succeeding speech, Wagner declared, the problem of the abuses of the dry law has shrunk in Mr. Hoover's estimation, giving way to his advocacy of a questionable program to stiffen enforcement.

Debate Will Continue.

While Wagner, in the senate, was criticizing the President, the house of representatives started debate on the Williamson bill—the first of the measures recommended by the Wickersham commission—to transfer the prohibition unit from the treasury department to the department of justice. The debate will continue tomorrow.

Indications were that the transfer bill will be passed by an overwhelming majority, many of the wets, as well as drys, voting for it. There is certain, however, to be a close vote on amendments dealing with industrial alcohol control. Under the bill, as reported, the secretary of the treasury and the attorney general are given dual control over permits, but there is a strong demand that it be lodged solely in one of the two departments. Today's debating was confined almost entirely to this phase of the bill.

Wickersham Is Quizzed.

Earlier in the day George W. Wickersham, chairman of the law enforcement commission, and Dean Roscoe Pound, a member, appeared before the house judiciary committee to defend the Christopherson bill providing for the elimination of jury trials in minor prohibition cases. They denied that the bill abridged any rights under the constitution.

Senator Wagner's address in the senate, although it precipitated no debating, attracted wide attention because its target was the White House.

Quoting the President's acceptance speech statement that the "grave abuses" of prohibition "must be remedied," Wagner reminded his hearers that great hopes were aroused by that announcement. Hoover supporters, he said, saw in this statement hope for reform and modification of the drastic dry laws.

"In each succeeding speech, however," Wagner continued, "the problem of the abuses of prohibition shrank in Mr. Hoover's estimation. In his inaugural address the investigation of prohibition was diluted with an inquiry into the whole structure of jurisprudence. Before the Associated Press prohibition became 'but one segment of one problem.' Finally, the commission met and, on May 28, 1929, the President addressed it relative to its duties. He did not even mention prohibition. He did not refer to the experiment. He forgot the abuses under the eighteenth amendment.

"Such has been the life history of the idea. It started out rich in hopes, but ended in sad neglect.

What Are These Abuses?

"And now the report of the commission has arrived. It has been before the country since the 13th of January. The President has transmitted it to congress with the statement that its proposals will cure many abuses of prohibition.

"What abuses did the American people have in mind when they heard Mr. Hoover as a candidate use that word? Did they have in mind a little crowding in the courtrooms, trouble prohibitionists have in finding laws relative to prohibition, or a little lost motion between the departments of treasury and justice?

"No, they were far graver, far more serious than these. When we heard the words, 'grave abuses,' we thought of the killing and the maiming of our citizens by armed enforcement officers. We thought of the violation of the constitutional guaranties against unlawful search and seizure. We had in mind the dirty business of wire tapping. We were concerned with the corruption and bribery of office holders and with the rise of a new powerful criminal class—the rum runner, bootlegger, and hijacker—and with the steadily rising tide of intemperance.

"These were some of the abuses we thought the President would have his commission investigate. Instead, I hesitate to say it—the mountains have labored and brought forth a mouse and a tiny one at that.

Congestion in Court.

"The grave abuses which the commission has investigated and discovered are that there is some lost motion in having cases prepared by one department and prosecuted by another; that it is difficult for a prohibition agent to look up a legal point quickly because the dry laws are spread over many statutes; and that there is congestion in the courts."

Passing over what he said were the unimportant proposals relative to departmental organization and modification, Senator Wagner, who for seven years was a justice of the New York Supreme court, assailed the major proposal to authorize United States commissioners to try minor prohibition cases. Not only would this plan deny trial by jury, he argued, but it would place the fate of offenders into the hands of district attorneys.

Sees Ancient Rights Gone.

Under the Wickersham plan, he continued, the district attorney could hold over the head of a defendant the threat of transforming a misdemeanor with a six months' penalty into a felony with a five year penalty, using this power to "club the accused into acquiescence in the denial of a jury."

Such a procedure, he maintained, would "fritter away an ancient and inalienable right, stubbornly fought for, jealously guarded, and handed down to us as an enduring instrument by the fathers of the republic."

The prohibition storm center tomorrow, however, will be on the floor of the house, which, before the end of the day, may reach a vote on the Williamson transfer bill.

Representative L. C. Dyer [Rep., Mo.] has been invited to appear before the law enforcement commission March 5 by Chairman Wickersham when hearings will begin on his 2.75 per cent beer bill.

Bulk of Liquor Seized Here Has Moonshine Alcohol Base

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Eighty-one per cent of the booze seized and analyzed in the Chicago enforcement district last year was found to be made from so-called "moonshine alcohol or spirits," according to a report submitted to the house expenditures committee today by Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran.

Only 1 per cent of the more than 9,000 samples tested, in spite of the general belief that pure grain or specially denatured alcohol is used, was made from "recooked" denatured alcohol, and less than three-fourths of 1 per cent of the seizures proved to be "pure" whisky, according to the report. Nine per cent of the seizures were merely "colored spirits, whisky flavored; one-fourth of 1 per cent was real Scotch whisky, 2 per cent was "good alcohol," and 6 per cent was "colored or uncolored spirits, produced from good alcohol," the report indicated.

The results of the analyses were offered by the dry commissioner as "the best evidence" to corroborate his contention that the diversion of industrial alcohol into bootleg channels in the Chicago district, comprising northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin, and Iowa, has been reduced to a minimum within the last two years, and that what was formerly "the worst problem" in the district has been solved by wholesale revocations or cancellations of withdrawal permits.

Within two years, the report asserted, seven industrial alcohol concerns, some of which—notably the Chicago Grain Products company, and the Craigin Products company—were organized solely for the diversion of industrial alcohol, six bonded warehouses and seven denaturing plants were "eliminated from the problem" by cancellation of their permits. The immediate result of their elimination, the report claimed, was "a net reduction in the production and warehousing of alcohol of approximately 12 million gallons."

"There has also been a marked reduction," according to the report, "in the withdrawal of specially denatured alcohol by manufacturers procuring the same for use in the manufacture of barber supplies and toilet preparations. The diversion of alcohol from this source was, for a number of years, one of the worst problems with which the department has been confronted.

"The withdrawals of these concerns whose permits were revoked or disapproved aggregated 3,841,440 wine gallons annually. Therefore, there has been a net reduction of that quantity in this respect."

Doran's report, listing the names of 823 firms or individuals who, under permits, withdrew more than 100 gallons of alcohol each in 1928 and 1929 was prepared in response to a request made by the committee during its study of the pending bill to transfer responsibility for prohibition enforcement from the treasury department to the department of justice.

BRITAIN'S DRY EMBASSY WILL GO WET AGAIN

To Backslide When Howard Leaves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Washington's first embassy to board the water wagon is about to topple off. With the departure this month of Sr. Esme Howard, the British ambassador, the ban placed by the retiring dean of the diplomatic corps on the importation of liquor by members of his staff will be automatically lifted.

Unless Sir Ronald Lindsay, the new British ambassador to the United States, should unexpectedly adopt the policy of his predecessor, the sixteen diplomats now attached to the British embassy will take steps at once to replenish their depleted cellars and the short drought that hit the younger diplomats the hardest will be a matter of history.

Sir Esme shocked the state department as well as official Washington last May when he announced that henceforth he would approve no more importation of diplomatic liquor for members of his staff. The pronouncement was hailed with fervor by the drys, and predictions were issued from the reform camps that the startled diplomatic colony would follow suit.

But None Follow Lead.

But the action of the dean of the corps did not touch a popular chord in other sections of the diplomatic set, and the net result was that the sixteen diplomats attached to the British embassy were deprived of their toddies and cocktails, while the rest of Washington's 200 or more diplomats continued to import liquor under their diplomatic immunity privilege and continued to serve it.

It was learned today from an unimpeachable source that since he halted further liquor importations by his staff Sir Esme has restricted the use of wines and liquors at the embassy to occasions when guests have been present.

Only a few dusty, old bottles remain in an obscure corner of the embassy wine cellar and these are slated to slack the thirsts of some of the ambassador's many friends who will drop in at the embassy to bid the dean of the corps godspeed before he leaves for London, Feb. 21.

As a strict matter of fact, the British embassy has never been dry to guests. Despite the edict that shut off new importations of intoxicants, there has been no move to give dry dinners at the embassy.

invariably do. Time after time in the past I would have ruled in this manner had the prosecutor made the proper motion. I commend Mr. Ring very highly for his alertness in seeing my power in this case and taking advantage of it."

Under the rules of procedure in Michigan the trial judge has the power to direct a verdict of guilty in a felony if the facts warrant.

Gives Rum to Policeman.

Mrs. Dillon was arrested Aug. 31 by Patrolman Donald Moody, who testified he was admitted to the house by Mrs. Dillon, who sold him whisky and beer for 75 cents.

When Mrs. Dillon took the stand she said that one of her friends let Patrolman Moody into the house while she was giving a party. Knowing Patrolman Moody to be a policeman, she said, she would not sell him liquor but gave him the whisky and beer.

Asks Directed Verdict.

Judge Kilpatrick was about to charge the jury when Ring leaped to his feet.

"Mrs. Dillon has convicted herself in her own testimony," he said. "She admitted the crime charged against her and therefore, in effect, has pleaded guilty. I ask that you direct a verdict of guilty."

Judge Kilpatrick then gave the verdict which Ring asked without allowing the jury to take the case. He remanded Mrs. Dillon to the county jail for sentence next Thursday.

Tries to Steal Wine; Gets 5 Years.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Wine is contraband, under the Volstead law, but when one man tries to steal some from another he is just as guilty of attempted robbery as if he had tried to steal diamonds. This, in effect, was Judge Rosalsky's ruling today in general sessions, when he sentenced Thomas Kennedy, an ex-convict, to five years in Sing Sing prison. It was only one gallon of wine that Kennedy wanted when he entered D. Belladal's flat, it was testified.

A. OF C. MEMBERS WILL SEEK JOBS FOR UNEMPLOYED

The Chicago Association of Commerce is coöperating with the Illinois Free Employment bureau in an effort to find jobs for unemployed men. The association has sent a letter to its members urging them to help find jobs for the many applicants at the state bureau. The letter, signed by Robert Isham Randolph, president, states:

"The attention of the Chicago Association of Commerce has been called to a somewhat acute situation in Chicago relative to unemployment.

"If you have any sort of work that needs to be done about your home, factory, or store, communicate with the Illinois Free Employment bureau at 116 North Dearborn street."

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

MABEL REINECKE IS APPOINTED TO ELECTION BOARD

First Woman to Hold Post in Chicago.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday announced the appointment of Mrs. Mabel Gilmore Reinecke, former collector of internal revenue, as a member of the board of election commissioners that directs the election machinery of Chicago and several of its suburbs. She is the first woman to hold such an office here.

Therefore, it was pointed out, Mrs. Reinecke has added another score to her record of being in the vanguard among women in governmental affairs. She was the first woman deputy collector of internal revenue and she was the first woman to hold the full title of collector.

Judge Makes Announcement.

"This appointment," said Judge Jarecki, "has been made to give recognition to women, who now constitute a substantial part of our electorate and have, demonstrated their interest in impartial, fair, and honest elections. Mrs. Reinecke has been chosen after an exhaustive survey because of her recognized ability and unquestioned fairness. Having been persuaded by citizens interested in honest elections, she has agreed to accept the appointment."

The place to which Mrs. Reinecke has been appointed is the minority or Republican membership on the board, left vacant late last year when Judge Jarecki told Commissioner Frank W. Barber, a Deneen adherent, that his term had expired and that he would not be reappointed.

Since that time, it is said, the county judge has considered a number of names submitted to him from Republican sources and determined upon Mrs. Reinecke because of her freedom from entanglement with the Republican factions in the county and because of her record during her eight years in the federal building.

Enters Politics in 1911.

Mrs. Reinecke first became known in politics in 1911 as an active worker in the Merriam mayoral campaign. In 1912 she was identified with the Bull Moose campaign. She was associated with the senatorial battles of the late William B. McKinley and the late Medill McCormick and in 1921 was secretary of the women's committee supporting the coalition judicial ticket that defeated the city hall slate by 100,000 votes.

In the fall of that year she was appointed deputy collector under the late John C. Cannon. Upon Mr. Cannon's death she became acting collector and on May 1, 1923, her appointment as collector was announced. She retained that office until April 1, 1929. She is a close friend of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and, until her appointment, had been expected to aid in the latter's campaign for the United States senate this year.

Boy Has 50-50 Chance to Live After Bullet Removal

Dean Grover, 7 years old, 801 Commercial avenue, Waukegan, had a 50-50 chance to live last night. A bullet was removed from the base of his brain Wednesday in Passavant hospital by Dr. Loyal Davis, after the Waukegan Kiwanis club gave the boy his only chance for recovery by paying for the cost of the operation. Dr. Davis said the boy was doing "pretty well." If he recovers he will regain the use of his right arm, paralyzed since last fall, when he was struck by a stray rifle bullet.

H. S. Youth Seriously Hurt as He Plays with Rifle

Harold Ryan, 16 years old, a student at Lane Technical High school, shot and seriously wounded himself last evening while playing with a .22 caliber rifle in his home at 719 Grace street. He was removing the stock when a bullet discharged, entering his left side on an upward course and passing through his chest. He was taken to the Northern hospital by Town Hall police.

BERAN GETS NEW TRIAL IN SLOT MACHINE CASE

Only Conviction in Long Battle Is Wiped Out.

The only conviction obtained by the state's attorney's office during the year or more of investigation and prosecution of the so-called $1,000,000 slot machine syndicate cases was wiped out yesterday when Judge Otto Kerner in the Criminal court granted a new trial to Frank Beran, former police custodian. Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers, who has worked on the slot machine investigation since State's Attorney Swanson took office, refused to say whether another effort would be made to prosecute Beran.

"I have come to the conclusion that reversible error was committed in this case," said the judge in giving his decision. "I do not believe that this conviction would stand up before the Supreme court and therefore I am forced to grant a new trial."

Evidence Lacking, He Argues.

Attorney Michael Ahern, who was called into the case after Beran was convicted, argued that the state had failed to produce evidence to support the indictment. He said that the indictment charged Beran with being indirectly bribed by James ["High Pockets"] O'Brien, alleged head of the syndicate. All the state proved, if anything, Ahern argued, was that David C. Rockola, said to have been O'Brien's chief lieutenant, did the bribing by leaving some money on a desk in the custodian's office. The evidence was at variance with the charge in the indictment, he said.

Rockola a Witness.

The Beran case was the only one in which Rockola testified. He admitted leaving money on a desk, but refused throughout the trial to say that it was left at the instigation of O'Brien or that O'Brien had any knowledge of the alleged bribe, which was for the purpose of getting back slot machines confiscated by the police. In the other trials Rockola refused to testify and is now under two six months' sentences for contempt of court.

Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson political leader; six police captains and 21 others, including O'Brien, were named in the slot machine indictments, but the prosecution collapsed in all of these cases.

EXTORTION CASE JURY DISAGREES; NEW TRIAL SET

CRIMINAL COURT.

Arthur Akins, burglary, sentenced to 1 to 5 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Daniel Blackwell and Joseph Nero, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Walter Steffen.

Raymond Cleveland, Emmett Lee, Walter Zygmerski and Frank Blotnicki, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Barney Swigon, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry Fisher.

After 18 hours' deliberation a jury was unable to agree on the guilt or innocence of Policeman Michael De Laurentis and three other men charged with conspiracy to extort money from the owner of a speakeasy and Judge Philip Finnegan in the Criminal court declared a mistrial yesterday afternoon. The new trial of the policeman and the other defendants, Edward Otis, Harold Ardner, and Thomas Cook, was set for Feb. 20.

The jury was reported to have stood 7 to 5 for acquittal during most of its deliberations. The state's case was weakened because Gene Masintier, the complaining witness, was not present to accuse the defendants. Assistant State's Attorney John L. Murphy had to prove his case by statements made by Masintier to state's attorney's detectives before his disappearance.

The defendants were all arrested by Lieut. William Blaul while the jury was deliberating. He is holding them for possible identification in other alleged extortion cases.

MITCHELL BARS U. S. MARSHAL AS PARTY CANDIDATE

Laubenheimer Withdraws in 49th Ward.

On the eve of filing his candidacy for reelection as Republican committeeman of the 49th ward, United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer was forced to withdraw yesterday on request of Attorney General Mitchell, who informed the marshal that persons holding that position cannot be candidates for or hold any other office.

Today is the first day for filing petitions for ward committeemen in Chicago and precinct committeemen in the country towns at the county clerk's office. While at least ten ward contests are foreseen for Democratic ward committeeships, it is believed there will be two or more real candidates in each of the fifty wards for the Republican committee. The Snow and Deneen organizations are expected to have complete slates, the Brundage group will have some, and the Lundin and Crowe elements will each have a few.

I. J. Bryan to File.

Mr. Laubenheimer announced receipt of the ruling, which he had requested, at a meeting of the ward organization executive committee at 6116 Broadway last night, and I. J. Bryan, 5422 Lakewood avenue, was selected to file for the committeemanship in his place. A former newspaper man, Mr. Bryan is at present clerk for Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court.

It is believed Mr. Mitchell's ruling will also apply to other department of justice employés who hold ward or precinct committeemanships.

Mr. Laubenheimer would have opposed Chris Paschen, entered as the city hall candidate. The ward committee also indorsed George A. Williston for alderman to succeed E. I. Frankhauser, elected to the bench.

Rodenberg Will Not Run.

After a two day close survey of the situation in the state, former Congressman William A. Rodenberg said yesterday he had determined not to enter the Republican primary race for United States senator.

In making this statement during an interview the veteran of twenty years service as representative of the Twenty-second or East St. Louis district expressed deep regret that the people of Illinois and of the entire nation will not be given an opportunity to vote squarely on the question of prohibition. He also unsparingly condemned American entrance into the "league of nations court."

"I retired voluntarily from congress in 1923," he said. "Twenty or twenty-five years ago the thought of being a member of the senate would have been pleasing. But the direct primary and the popular election have made it a far different body from what it used to be."

Ruth McCormick in City.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, one of the two major candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination, came to Chicago to spend the rest of this week. She delivered three short speeches during the day, one of them in Harper Memorial assembly hall at the University of Chicago before a club organized in the interests of her candidacy. She was questioned about her opposition to the world court and said she was opposed to the "moral commitment" of the United States to the decisions of the court and of the league itself and their enforcement.

Mrs. McCormick will address the Physicians' Fellowship club at the Logan Square Masonic temple, at 2451 North Kedzie boulevard, at 9 o'clock tonight.

Deneen Expected in City.

Senator Deneen is still expected in Chicago this week, but it is said to be doubtful that he will open his downstate campaign before Feb. 17.

At a meeting of his Sixth ward Republican organization last night County Chairman B. W. Snow announced that he will not seek renomination as bailiff of the Municipal court. He will support Bernard J. Keely, secretary of the office, for the position.

From Lulea, Sweden

Lulea is a seaport of Sweden on the Gulf of Bothnia, 60 miles southwest of Tornia. It is situated at the mouth of the Lulea-Elf, a navigable river, enhancing the harbor facilities of the town. Railroads connect Lulea with central and southern Sweden and Gellivare, an iron producing center which supplies a large share of the port's tonnage. Lumber, salmon, and reindeer skins are also exported. Lulea's population is about 10,000.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Percival Gordon Evans and Miss Najken Lofgren, both of this city, were married today while they were in an airplane 5,000 feet over the municipal building, Manhattan.

The bridal party was in the air forty minutes. When the plane landed Evans said it was his first trip in the air. The bride said, "It was thrilling."

PACKERS' EDICT TO RAILWAYS HIT BY BROOKHART

Chicagoans Evading Law, Senator Charges.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Evasion of the statutes against rebating and unfair trade practices by means of an "illegal and immoral" system, known as "reciprocal buying," was charged against Swift & Co., and Armour & Co., Chicago packers, in a resolution introduced in the senate today by Senator S. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.].

In the resolution, which was referred to the interstate commerce commission of which he is a member, the Iowa member declares that the two packing companies, owning and controlling the movements of thousands of refrigerator cars have compelled railroads to purchase bumping posts, draft gear and other supplies from firms in which stockholders or officials of the packing firms are interested.

Quotes Swift Officials Letter.

The resolution quotes from a circular letter written by a Swift & Co. official advising railroad purchasing agents that the Mechanical Manufacturing company, owned by the Swift family, produces bumping posts, draft gear and centering devices, and adding: "We expect our railroad friends to use these articles on a reciprocity basis."

Armour & Co., according to resolution, have made similar suggestions to the railroads, urging that the latter purchase needed equipment or supplies from the Waugh company, in which, it is charged, Armour stockholders are interested heavily.

Fears for Small Competitors.

"These two specific cases," Brookhart asserted in the resolution, "are examples of the methods being used by a great many interests to violate the law by many forms of commercial bribery.

"The system," he continued, "is responsible for destroying small competitors, foisting inferior equipment on railroads at the expense and to the detriment of the public while enriching grafting officials of the guilty companies."

The "illegal and immoral system of 'reciprocal buying,'" according to the resolution, violates the 1903 act prohibiting railroad rebating directly or indirectly, the federal trade act of 1914 prohibiting unfair methods of competition and the packers' act of 1921.

Portuguese Warships Scan Ocean for Lost Trawlers

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 6.—(AP)—At the request of the Spanish government Portuguese warships began searching today for six Spanish trawlers, which have been unreported since the middle of January. Search by Spanish warships has revealed no trace of the missing fleet. One of the six has been discovered on the Arab coast in Portuguese waters.

POLA NEGRI QUITS BERLIN IN RAGE; FORFEITS PEARLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Pola Negri came to Berlin to recapture the sympathy of the German public, which was the first to acclaim her in the old days, but she left the German capital suddenly in a storm of wild fury.

Germany ignored her despite the feverish efforts of her press agents—all except one Sam Rachmann, originally from New York. He was her last manager here before she got an American contract. Mr. Rachmann says she failed to pay his commissions, totaling at least $60,000.

He showed contracts to the court. The court ordered him to deposit a guaranty sum for legal procedure and decided that Pola would have to deposit the same amount before she left Germany. Mr. Rachmann put down $5,000. When the sheriff turned up Pola dismissed him with a royal gesture and, turning to her dressing table, flung a rope of pearls over her head. So the sheriff grabbed the pearls from the screaming Pola. A few hours later the pair were on a train for France with Pola threatening Mr. Rachman with suits.

$150,000 ALIENATION SUIT AGAINST TURCKS IS LOST BY CONDICT

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—After five hours' deliberation, the jury which has been trying the $150,000 alienation suit brought by Alden S. Condict against his former parents-in-law, Dr. Fenton B. Turck, noted biologist, and his wife Avis, today returned a verdict for the Turcks.

The verdict was reached last night and was handed up when court convened this morning. Condict was the only one of the parties involved in the litigation who was present. He said the jury's finding was "a great shock" to him.

There remains to be tried a $150,000 libel action brought by Condict against the Turcks growing out of letters and statements in which he alleges the parents of his former wife accused him of being a fortune hunter.

In the alienation suit Condict alleged that his marriage to Katherine Turck was disrupted by Dr. Turck's opposition to the advent of a child.

PAY BY CHECKS TO FOIL BANDITS, RUSSELL URGES

Chicago firms were asked by Commissioner of Police Russell yesterday to pay their employés by check instead of in cash. Cash pay rolls, he wrote in the weekly police bulletin, are a constant invitation to the criminal.

"Paying by check removes the cause of pay roll holdups and there is nothing for the crook to gain by stealing paper that is worthless to him," the commissioner wrote. "Remember, it is the presence of ready money that tempts the criminal to robbery, which too often results in murder. Firms should educate their employés to cash their checks at the bank."

BULLETIN.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—(AP)—President Ortiz Rubio underwent a second operation this morning to remove a piece of splintered bone from his jaw, but came out of the anesthetic in good shape, it was learned tonight.

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—President Pascual Ortiz Rubio has become a national hero overnight. The attempt to assassinate him at yesterday's inaugural has gained for him, strangely, that unanimous support so often met with in Latin American countries under similar circumstances. Not only has the Revolutionary party, which backed him for president, rallied around him but also all nonconservative elements.

The president issued a statement to the public this afternoon, through his private secretary, declaring that he was getting along well, and thanked all for the interest shown in him. It was learned that, though his condition is not serious, it will be some time before he is able to assume his new duties.

The assailant, Daniel Flores, 22, given a "third degree" last night and this morning, maintained the crime was not inspired by others and that he worked of his own accord, convinced that his mission was to rid the world of the new president.

Breaks Down Under Quiz.

However, with a dozen military police and government officials questioning him in turns, Flores broke down and let slip a clew which police are following. Photos found in the Hotel Colonia, where Flores lived, proved that his home is in Charcas, San Luis Potosi, and that his relatives keep a store there. Police agents left this morning for Charcas.

More than thirty persons have been arrested, practically all of whom have affiliations with José Vasconselos, defeated candidate for president. Two taken into custody this morning are said to have given information concerning the intellectual authors of the plot. Two women gave military headquarters further important information.

Police, in working on the theory that the attempted assassination was the work of Vasconcelosistas, last night arrested Senorita F. Rivera, secretary of that organization, here. She is held at military headquarters.

Military Officials in Charge.

It was decided last night that as Flores' crime was committed within military lines and against the president of the republic it should be construed as military, and all investigations are being conducted by military authorities, aided by metropolitan police.

Flores was taken from military headquarters this morning to a prison, place unstated, but it is rumored he is at the Santiago military prison.

It was revealed today that seven persons were wounded by shots from Flores' gun, none seriously. President Rubio was shot in the jaw and cheek, a bullet grazed his wife's ear and scalp, another grazed the president's young niece, while Felix Galvin, the chauffeur, was wounded in the shoulder. Three bystanders were hit, one in the forehead.

Hoover, Senate Express Regret.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—President Hoover and the senate today expressed regret at the attempt made upon the life of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president of Mexico, and voiced hope for his speedy recovery from the bullet wound in his jaw.

Mr. Hoover said in a personal message that he was "deeply distressed to learn of the cowardly attack" made upon the Mexican president and his family, adding that he and Mrs. Hoover "rejoice with the American people that you and Señora De Ortiz Rubio have suffered no serious harm and that you have been spared to carry on your constructive program."

[Copyright: Harris & Ewing Photo.]

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Frederic M. Sackett, new American ambassador to Germany, won the German press today by choosing newspapermen for his first German audience. That is unusual procedure over here, and the Germans seemed to be captivated by his "jovial and amiable manner," as they phrased it. "I'm a product of Kentucky," Mr. Sackett told them, "famous for its beautiful women, fine horses, good tobacco and—formerly—good whisky."

KING FORGIVES 500 PRIMO FOES BY SWEEP OF PEN

General Amnesty Proves Sensation in Spain.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Feb. 6.—King Alfonso today extended royal clemency to 500 or more soldiers and civilians who tried their strength with the recent dictator, Primo de Rivera, and either landed in the bastille or lost their jobs.

To commemorate the first anniversary of the death of his mother, Queen Maria Christina, the monarch signed a sweeping amnesty drawn up and presented to him by his latest dictator, Gen. Damaso Berenguer. Sedition and mutiny, whether plotted or achieved, and all manner of other political offenses against the dictatorship were forgiven.

The penalties which were inflicted on the officers and men involved in the incipient revolts of Segovia, Ciudad Real, and Valencia were quashed, and everybody goes back to his garrison. The same thing holds for civilian offenders, like editors, who ran afoul of Primo's censorship.

King Signs Second Decree.

Along with this, the king signed a second decree restoring to active service certain higher officers of the royal navy, who had incurred the displeasure of the late dictator and had been relegated to the reserves.

The royal amnesty was published this afternoon in the official gazette and was widely splashed over the front pages of evening papers throughout the nation. It caused a real sensation.

With this gesture the king hopes to establish himself in the good graces of the soldiers and sailors, particularly the ones attached to the fanatically loyal artillery corps which after mysterious revolutionary affairs in the summer of 1926 he had decided to let down.

Honor Mother Queen.

All over Spain today monarchists held memorial services for the queen mother. Although her regency saw the collapse of Spain's colonial empire, she was revered as the only conscientious constitutional ruler the country ever had.

King Alfonso, Queen Victoria, and those of their children who could stand the trip, drove 30 miles this afternoon to the Escurial, the huge, gloomy pile which King Philip II. built as his monastery and royal mausoleum. They went down into the chill depths of the black and gold vaults, where Queen Mother Christina lies in her coffin of black marble, besides all the royal lines since King Charles V. A short service was said.

Spain is waiting to see if Gen. Berenguer really intends to restore the freedom of the press and prepare elections. Gen. Berenguer said privately it would take him six months to undo Primo's work. The press is clamoring for abolition of the censorship—with the exception of Primo's paper, La Nacion. Its columns have been slashed by the censor more than any, but Primo established the censorship.

Primo to Go to Country.

Gen. de Rivera himself is retiring to the country at the end of the week. He had to resign as president of Union Patriotica because Gen. Berenguer ruled generals must keep out of politics. The Union Patriotica has not been allowed to meet and is like any other political party now.

The Republicans, who are attempting to unite all left parties into a solid anti-monarchial phalanx in view of the promised elections, are hatching great celebrations to fête the anniversary of the republic of 1873 to 1876, which falls on Feb. 11, but it is understood Republican demonstrations will be banned.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Three persons were killed during municipal elections which ended today with the government party polling 65 per cent of the votes.

SUES BROKER FOR $100,000 LOST IN CRASH OF STOCKS

Leon H. Oberndorf, owner of a chain of ladies' apparel stores in Peoria, Decatur, and Los Angeles, yesterday filed the declaration of a $100,000 damage suit in the Circuit court, through Attorney Harold Schradzki, against Frazier, Jelke & Co., brokers at 112 West Adams street. The declaration asserts that Oberndorf lost that amount through failure of the brokers to keep a promise to protect his holdings during the stock market crash.

Oberndorf asserts that his account with the brokers ran as high as $226,000 during the period he did business with them. On Nov. 12, 1929, they called on him to furnish more margin. He avers that he called on them and said that he was leaving the city but would return in two days and provide the margin. The bill states that the brokers promised to protect his account, but when he returned he learned that they had sold him out. He claims to have lost $100,000.

Pins Its Hopes on Sale of Tax Warrants.

ganization, and Ald. Clark did not want to step on the toes of the law chief, and so it went until Clark declared yesterday afternoon that the committee must try to do something.

Little hope is attached to the noon meeting of the committee, because Ald. Clark plans to leave for Miami Beach at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Police Call on Governor.

The police are getting rather anxious for a pay day, so they circulated a petition yesterday asking Gov. Emmerson to call a special session of the state legislature for the purpose of granting some relief.

Today the school teachers will miss their second pay day. The school board hasn't the $1,890,000 necessary to meet their salaries.

The credit of the local governments was indicated by bids on $500,000 worth of bonds offered by the forest preserve district. Last week the district sold a like amount at a record low price of 90. Yesterday's bid of A. B. Leach & Co. was 90.5. This is a discount of $47,430 instead of the even $50,000 of a week ago. Several other bidders offered to take from $6,000 to $50,000 of the bonds at prices ranging from 85 to 92.5.

Some Relief Is Obtained.

A few dependents upon public funds obtained some relief yesterday. The beneficiaries of the firemen's pension fund were paid $97,000.

Three other relief movements consisted of contributions or loans by public officials. Coroner Bundesen from his own pocket paid a score of ex-service men who have been members of coroner's juries. City Clerk Smith and President Ames of the civil service commission said they will care for the needs of employes in their offices. Both have small forces.

The board of review hearing on loop valuations was devoid of any practical information. The board of education, through Attorney Frank S. Righeimer and Charles Kuntsman, real estate appraiser, started to present its evidence on the value of property in the central business district. The figures were not comparable with the figures of the board of assessors, and on the data submitted it was asserted to be impossible to reckon the value of any block of property.

Kuntsman said that he was given his figures on the basis of a square foot of land. Rule No. 14 of the state tax commission prescribes a definite method of fixing land values. After listening to the school board's figures for two hours, Charles V. Barrett of the board of review told Attorney Righeimer that the board must present its information on the unit basis prescribed by the state tax commission. Representatives of all the large property owners crowded the board rooms. The hearing is to be resumed this afternoon.

"Those figures are unintelligible," commented one millionaire privately, referring to the school board data. "They are trying to compare apples with bananas."

Ideas on Legislative Relief.

On legislative relief two statesmen came forward with several ideas. J. Scott Matthews, chief examiner in the county recorder's office, suggested that the law permit the spreading and collecting of taxes on each township as soon as completed. He had not figured out how the exact rate is to be established before the total valuations are obtained.

The other suggestion came from Edward J. Glackin, also of the county recorder's office, who is said to be a candidate for congress from the Beverly Hills district. He would divide the county into four assessment districts, with a different period for assessing and collecting in each. He would have a lower rate on homes than on business property. His opinion of the reassessment is not high.

New York Shies at Buying Tax Warrants Issued to Pay Chicago School Teachers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—"Well, we haven't got the money as yet," said H. Wallace Caldwell president of the Chicago board of education as he returned to his hotel room late this afternoon after a busy day with eastern bankers, "but Sullivan is still out."

Thomas V. Sullivan, a St. Paul lawyer attached to the Thompson ring at $10,000 a year as school tax attorney, who accompanied Mr. Caldwell here on the hunt for a buyer of $48,725,000 in school board tax warrants, appeared in the doorway. There was a whispered consultation.

"I think we can say we are as hopeful as we were before we left Chicago, can't we, Tom?" queried Mr. Caldwell.

"O, yes, the prospects are about as before," replied the lawyer.

"Did you have any luck with Halsey, Stuart & Co.?" Mr. Caldwell was asked.

Fears Strawn's Action.

"Well, they naturally would be interested," parried the school man, "for they took part of the $40,000,000 worth we sold last July. I am sorry, but I cannot tell you where I have been trying to place the securities. You see, Silas H. Strawn will be in New York tomorrow and I do not want him to know where we are trading. He blocked the sale of these warrants in Chicago after I had them placed last Dec. 10, and would do it again, if he could."

Mr. Strawn is head of the citizens' rescue committee in Chicago and he and Mr. Caldwell are traveling different routes in the search for a way out of Chicago's financial wilderness. If Mr. Caldwell can dispose of his share of anticipated taxes for the fiscal year of 1930 he can meet the pay rolls of his school teachers and civil service employés until next fall and then somebody will have to sell something else.

Must Wait and See.

"I would not say that," Mr. Caldwell cautioned when it was suggested that he might close the deal tomorrow, "we will have to wait and see. There was a unanimous reaction among the bankers I saw today that our warrants represented a marvelous security. They are a first lien on ten billion dollars' worth of property and pay 6 per cent interest."

Mr. Caldwell did not find all of his prospects in a receptive mood. He admitted as much.

"There has been considerable pressure brought to bear on these New York houses by Chicago banks," said the school head. "The Chicago banks are trying to stop us and a lot of it began today. The telegraph wires have been busy and there has been some long distance telephoning. We have had to spend almost all our time explaining why the home banks are opposing the sale of these tax anticipation warrants."

No confirmation of any Chicago agent interfering in the sale of the securities could be obtained here. Mr. Caldwell is known to have called on or communicated with Halsey Stuart & Co., Lehman Brothers, National City bank and Chatham Phoenix bank. He would neither affirm nor deny visiting these places.

Might Bank in New York.

Two things the school emissary was certain of, and the first was that Mr. Strawn was coming to New York for "no good purpose." The other matter concerned the banking of the anticipated money to be obtained from the anticipated taxes.

"In a telephone conversation with Corporation Counsel Ettelson in Chicago," said Mr. Caldwell, "I was advised that it would be perfectly legal for the board of education to deposit this money in any bank and draw the school pay rolls from New York. The city could not do that, but we can and we will if we obtain the money."

This undoubtedly was one of the requirements demanded by prospective purchasers of the warrants, as the interest on such a sum between now and next fall, when the last pay roll would be drawn, would be considerable.

While Chicago's security salesman was hawking and peddling his warrants without definite success in Wall street, New York City Controller Charles W. Barry issued a statement on his town's financial health that would make a brief case bulge. He insists New York never can go bankrupt or even broke.

JOYCE ASSAILS WIFE'S DIVORCE AS NOT LEGAL

Depositions recently taken in New York to support the charge of James Stanley Joyce, Chicago lumberman and fourth husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, that his second wife, Nelle M. Joyce, was not legally divorced from her second husband were filed yesterday in the Circuit court. The charge was made in Joyce's answer to his wife's bill for divorce on charges of cruelty.

The depositions were taken before Commissioner William Owen Van Keegan in New York. Witnesses who knew Mrs. Joyce there assert that she was a legal resident of New York when she won her divorce decree from Ramon M. Vail in Miami, Fla., April 30, 1926. William S. M. Fiske, justice of the peace of Greenwich, Conn., declares that she gave that city as her home when she married her first husband, Walter Lissberger, in 1921.

Clarence Harrington, Hugh McLaughlin, and H. L. Smith, formerly of the staff of the Park Chambers apartment hotel in New York, testified that Mrs. Joyce lived there in 1924, 1925 and 1926 under the names of Mrs. Lissberger and Mrs. Vail. A vehicle license, charge accounts at New York stores, and other records are included in the depositions.

Merchant Ends His Life by Leaping Into River

Irving Wall, 48 years old, 5124 Ingleside avenue, a commission merchant, committed suicide yesterday by jumping into the south branch of the river from the 18th street bridge. According to Thomas Holston, bridge tender, Wall approached him and after asking about freight traffic on the river walked to the rail and leaped into the water. An inhalator squad worked for half an hour in an effort to revive him. Relatives said they knew no motive for Wall's suicide.

Canada Sets New Record for Divorces in 1929

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 6.—(AP)—A record for the number of divorces granted was set in Canada during 1929, when a total of 816 marital bonds were dissolved. This was an increase of 31 over 1928.

MAYOR'S OWN VIEW OF CITY'S FINANCIAL ILLS

A sidelight on Mayor Thompson's own view of the financial troubles of the city is afforded by excerpts from messages which he sent to the city council during the recent controversy over the 1930 budget, which the mayor was prevented from overloading by more than $4,000,000.

In one of these documents Mayor Thompson said that the situation presents "an unprecedented financial crisis." He referred to it as "chaos." He asserted the "situation is intolerable and unprecedented."

"Never in the history of any American municipality," he said, "has there been anything like the maze and muddle" now existing in Chicago.

"The revenue crisis," the mayor asserted, "has crippled all municipalities in Cook county."

At another point he said: "The situation is beyond the realm of ordinary conjecture" and the "situation becomes graver each week."

The cause of the conditions Mayor Thompson attributed to "meddling reformers," "reform advisers," "reassessment reformers," the "loop's newspaper organs," the "invisible government," the "self-constituted government," public officials who became "rubber stamp for loop reformers," and "the lies of reformers."

Publisher Honors Memory of Son by Yale Foundation

In memory of his son, Kent Shaffer, who died in 1925, John C. Shaffer, publisher of the Chicago Evening Post and other newspapers, has established at the Yale divinity school a foundation the income from which will be used to support a yearly lecture course on "The Life, Character and Teachings of Jesus." The gift was announced yesterday by Yale university authorities at New Haven. Kent Shaffer was a Yale graduate.

Bottled Sunshine

—to build her up in weight and vitality

YOUR child's weight and height are, of course, an index to his health. Usually underweight means a lack of vitality and endurance.

For under par children physicians are advising a health-builder long known for its power to renew vitality and to increase general resistance to certain infections.

Authorities find that Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—helps to bring the underweight child up to normal weight. It gives him new vitality; puts the ruddy color of health into his cheeks.

Bottled Sunshine does this because it is so rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" of which children get so little in these modern days of indoor living, and Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and nutrition and increases resistance to many infections.

When they prescribe cod-liver oil, thousands of physicians specify "Squibb's," because it is vitamin-tested and guaranteed as to its content of the health-protecting Vitamins A and D.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil to help your child grow and gain weight as he should. Squibb has a new Mint-flavored Cod-liver Oil which will appeal to the older children especially. You can get it, as well as Squibb's Plain Cod-Liver Oil, at all good drug stores.

ALDERMEN FIND TWO OMISSIONS IN PHONE PACT

Wonder Who'll Pay Cost of Subway Changes.

While Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] and attorneys for the Illinois Telephone company were preparing yesterday for conferences to draft the new telephone franchise, other aldermen were raising questions concerning the nature of the measure. The agreement reached between a council subcommittee and the company's lawyers on Wednesday was said to have omitted two provisions of importance to the city.

The agreement provides for a franchise of twenty-three years. After that period the franchise may continue in force indefinitely but may be terminated upon six months' notice by either the city or the company. Compensation to the city remains at 4 per cent of the company's gross revenues. The company is relieved, however, from supporting the city's telephone bureau, which was a part of the old compensation, and the matter of free telephone service to the city is to be adjusted in the conferences.

Two Provisions Omitted.

One of the provisions omitted, however, according to several aldermen, is a section which would definitely obligate the telephone company to pay the cost of relocating its cables and conduits when a subway is constructed. Also missing was any definite understanding as to what portion of the tolls from long distance calls shall be considered subject to a 3 per cent payment to the city as compensation for the use of its streets.

It was recalled that the city's attorneys, Benjamin F. Goldstein and George I. Haight, had addressed a 28 page letter to the council subcommittee pointing out that these two provisions should be written into the franchise. The agreement of Wednesday apparently was reached without consulting the city lawyers, as they were not present.

Inclusion of a section relating to the Plan to Reroute State Roads in Chicago Area Under Fire

BY HAL FOUST.

No little study of maps will be required for motoring in the metropolitan area this spring if routes of the state highways are changed in accordance with a recommendation of the recently organized central traffic bureau.

The recommendations are revolutionary, and some of them of questionable merit. For example, Illinois No. 1 route is taken from South Western avenue and placed on South Park avenue as far south as 113th street, where it turns west to Halsted street. South Park avenue, between 63d street and 113th street is the usual harrow Chicago street whereas Western is 110 feet wide.

Would Change No. 42.

An example of proposed changes that might confuse motorists is the suggestion for Illinois No. 42 to the south. Drivers are accustomed to following this marker over the south shore route to the Indiana line when headed for the Dunes highway. The central traffic bureau would send No. 42 over Stony Island and Torrence avenues to a terminus at Sauk trail.

Mannheim road has become fairly well known as Illinois No. 46. It would become No. 51, a continuation of the 96th avenue route through Frankfort to Urbana.

The general scheme of the proposed rerouting is that the state highway markers should blaze trails directly through the city rather than converging on the boulevards, as many of them now do. For example, the Waukegan road [Illinois 42A] traffic would be directed over Harlem avenue, a route to be known as Illinois No. 50.

Would Distribute Traffic.

The theory of the wholesale remapping of the state's highways through Chicago is to bring about a better distribution of traffic over available pavements.

Another criticism is found in that the proposed new routes are over streets that are to be under construction this summer with funds from the county's share of the gasoline tax. Chicago would become a mess of detours.

A question is also raised as to whether this is the proper time—a month before the pleasure driving season—to change the map of Chicagoland. Motor clubs, newspapers and other map publishers are now preparing their 1930 road guides. With radical changes in the state's marking, there would be many erroneous road maps in general circulation this summer.

County Marking Routes.

In the meantime, Cook county is marking through routes within Chicago. One of these, posted as "BG," leave Lincoln park over Dearborn street and takes Canal street around the loop, going south on Archer avenue, Union avenue, jogging on 55th street to Morgan street and later over Halsted street to connect with the Dixie highway.

A subcommittee of the county board's advisory group, representing the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Chicago regional planning commission, met this week and polished its recommendations for the county to spend $21,000,000 in the next three years in improving through routes within as well as outside of Chicago.

The subcommittee, headed by Daniel H. Burnham, reached an important decision of policy by voting to propose that the county abandon its practice of agreeing to pay for twenty feet of the pavement where subdividers or villages want to join in a thirty-six, forty, or fifty foot project.

costs of relocating the company's properties when a subway is built is considered of extreme importance to the city. In New York the cost of relocating public utility property was in excess of $1,000,000 a mile, of which one-half was represented by the relocation of telephone properties. If the city is to dig six and a half miles of subway soon the relocation expense involved would amount to approximately $3,000,000. If this cost is to be saddled on the city it would come out of the traction fund, reducing the amount available for subway construction.

In the subway act of 1929 the legislature gave the city the power to order the removal of public utility facilities, with the companies paying the expense. The report of Haight and Goldstein, however, says it would be dangerous to omit a similar provision from the franchise. The company might contest the right of the city to order the removal, the attorneys have said, as was successfully done in New York.

CHICAGO NEEDS DOZEN AIRPORTS, GEN. O'RYAN SAYS

Tells Planners of Rapid Growth of Aviation.

Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, president of Colonial Airways and a national authority on airports, last night outlined a program for metropolitan airport development which dwarfed Chicago's present plans to gain a few additional acres for its single city air field. In a speech before the Regional Planning association at the Palmer house Gen. O'Ryan declared that Chicago soon will need ten or a dozen airports to insure the proper development of air transportation here.

"Building ten airports will keep you pretty busy the next year or two," said Gen. O'Ryan. "And before you have completed this task you may find that the growth of air commerce will justify you in building many more airports in the metropolitan area and coordinating these in a unified system of communication."

Need Larger Airports.

Recent increases in the size and speed of airplanes have brought a need for larger airports, Gen. O'Ryan said. He set 3,000 feet as the minimum length of runways for the big transport ships capable of carrying five tons of human freight and emphasized the necessity of providing runways of this length in all directions. Chicago aviation leaders at the banquet pointed out that one runway at the municipal field is only 1,800 feet long.

Many fields should be provided at all metropolitan centers, the speaker said, so that planes arriving in fog may have alternative fields on which to make a safe landing.

"We are only at the beginning of speed in the air," he declared. "Within the last four years the speed of commercial airplanes has grown from 85 miles per hour to 150 miles per hour and we are due for added speed."

Gen. O'Ryan predicted that safety will be the greatest contribution of aviation in the transportation field.

Urges Traffic Cures.

Traffic circles at highway intersections, wider roads, and grade separations were offered as real solutions of the traffic problem by E. J. McIlraith, staff engineer for the Chicago Surface Lines, at the planning association meeting yesterday afternoon.

"Michigan avenue and 5th avenue, New York," said Mr. McIlraith, "are the best examples of what not to do. The stop and go signs could be regulated by progressive timing, so that an automobile could run from the Drake hotel to 22d street at a given rate of speed under the green lights without a stop."

Chicago was urged by Maj. Rufus W. Putnam to get busy on the establishment of terminals to serve the traffic of the Illinois waterway, which is expected to be finished in two and a half years.

Daniel H. Burnham, architect and secretary of the 1933 World's Fair, was reelected president of the Planning association for a sixth term at last night's session.

6 HORSES, 20 AUTOS BURNED.

Arcola, Ill., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Two large automobile and stock barns of the Mell F. Crews company here were destroyed by fire early today, destroying 20 automobiles and six horses. Loss was placed at $20,000.

AIR OFFICIALS IN COURT TODAY IN FRAUD CASE

Donald Mackenzie, president and secretary of the Aviation Service and Transport company, 4056 South Michigan avenue, was arrested late yesterday by Sergts. Fred Sack and John Hanrahan of the detective bureau on charges of operating a confidence game. Warrants for Mackenzie and T. L. Evans, treasurer; G. A. Robarge, sales manager, and John Miller, vice president of the company, were issued by Judge William E. Helander in Felony court last Saturday. All warrants contained the same charge.

Mackenzie was released on bonds of $2,500 on each of three counts and will be arraigned today in Felony court. Complaints against the A. S. & T. officials were filed by three students, who alleged that they had paid the company large sums of money for flight training and had not received pilot's licenses.

EMERGENCY PLAN STARTED BY U. S. TO SAVE WHEAT

Propose Wholesale Buying to Bolster Price.

Legge suggested in this letter to Senator McNary had arisen.

While wheat prices, with the exception of May futures, dipped to a still new low point for the crop season in Chicago, there was spirited buying by the shorts toward the end of the day yesterday, closing quotations being 1⅝ to 1⅝ cents higher than the day before. A slight gain in closing prices was made in practically all markets of the world, although the farm board committee's announcement came after the market closed.

FARM PRICES NOT TO GAIN

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Present prospects for farm prices in 1930 promise Illinois farmers no improvement over 1929, a year in which they just about held their own, according to the annual state agricultural outlook report prepared by the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, issued today.

Average earnings on Illinois farms last year were about on a level with those of 1928 and above the very low level of 1926 and 1927, the report points out. Conditions varied, however, among different sections of the state.

Present unfavorable domestic demand probably will improve somewhat during the year, but with favorable weather, and unless smaller acreages are planted, larger crops will be harvested both at home and abroad, the report predicts. This will tend to lower prices, it is explained.

Legge Speaks at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Salvation for the nation's farmers lies in a "collective attitude" towards coöperative organizations, to stabilize prices, Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, today told farmers at the annual farm folks' week here.

"Grain, cotton, and wool now have been aided," he said. "The board is working towards assisting the dairyman and the livestock raiser."

"The weakness of the coöperative today is that it has not gone far enough," Mr. Legge said, explaining that "contacts with the terminal markets must be made to carry the sale of the product to the processing plant."

"Every well organized industry adjusts its production to the demand," Mr. Legge went on. "The farmer, however, fails, and when prices are low, he raises more in order to tide him over until he can make more money. Thus the low price commodity has an increased production."

Commenting on the advocacy of large scale farming, through the plan of placing several thousands of acres under one management, Mr. Legge said he was opposed to such moves.

EX-TOREADOR LOSES FIGHT TO WIFE IN DIVORCE ARENA

José Pinon, once the toast of all Mexico as the leading toreador of Mexico City's plaza de toros, yesterday lost a decision in Superior Judge Sabath's divorce arena to his estranged wife, Mrs. Guadalupe Rivera Pinon. The judge ordered Pinon to pay temporary allmony of $12 a week to his wife for her support and that of four children after she filed a cross bill for divorce on charges of cruelty.

Pinon filed a bill on a charge of desertion two weeks ago. He said that he is a decendant of one of Mexico's first families. He was forced to turn to bull fighting after his father had been shot in a revolution and the family estate was confiscated. On July 19, 1915, he married his wife, also of an old family impoverished by governmental changes. He came to Chicago two years ago after he had been so gored by a bull that his days in the ring were over. He charged that his wife left him shortly after his arrival here when he was reduced to a salary of $23 a week as a laborer in a lead factory.

Mrs. Pinon alleged that her husband lassoed her on her father's estate at Capula, Mexico, and dragged her a mile into the desert, where he fired several shots at her. She lives at 619 South Aberdeen street. Pinon lives at 818 14th street.

Performs 11,582 Marriages Without a Divorce; Dies

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. Vincent Pisek, 71, who prided himself in the claim that he had performed 11,582 marriages, not one of which had resulted in divorce, died today. He was a bachelor and for 46 years pastor of the Jan Hus Presbyterian church in East 47th street. The length of his continuous service as pastor exceeded that of any other minister of the New York presbytery. Through this long period he devoted himself to the spiritual needs of the Bohemians of the city to such effect that he was widely loved.

1,000 Cigarets Per Capita Used by Nation in Year

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Almost 1,000 cigarets for each man, woman, and child in the United States were taken from bond during the 1929 calendar year. Figures made public today by the internal revenue bureau showed that the 119,049,105,104 taken from bond last year were 13,122,339,453 more than during 1928. At an average cost of 13 cents for each package of 20, the country's 1929 cigaret bill is estimated at $780,000,000.

JAIL EX-HARVARD MAN FOR TRYING TO EXTORT $5,000

Boston, Mass., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Allan E. Burke, 25, of Brookline, former Harvard student, was arrested late tonight on a warrant charging him with an attempt to extort $5,000 from Donald McKay Frost on threat of ruining the reputation and social standing of his debutante daughter, Miss Mary Ryerson Frost.

Burke was questioned this week following an investigation by police and a private detective agency of threatening telegrams and letters sent the Frost family last month.

Police alleged that Burke had been identified by a telegraph operator at an exclusive hotel as the man who sent a telegram Jan. 25 signed "X" to the Frosts after a previous demand for $5,000 saying, "Last chance—tonight between 8 and 9. Newspapers are ready for the story."

Acting on this telegram, police kept a watch at a spot previously designated for leaving the money and even placed a decoy package, but the blackmailer failed to appear.

Burke has been in the interior decorating and antique businesses since he was dropped from Harvard for failure to keep up in his studies at the end of his freshman year in 1924.

ROBBED OF WEEK'S RECEIPTS.

Thomas Kondos, owner of a fruit store at 5400 Division street, was robbed of $390 last night by two gunmen who looted the cash register of the week's receipts. Kondos said he had neglected to take his money to the bank since Monday.

SUMMERALL TO OUTLINE ARMY'S TEACHING PLAN

The peace time activities of the United States army and its educational program will be outlined to the Chicago Teachers' league at a National Defense day luncheon at the Palmer house tomorrow at noon by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, with headquarters at Chicago, will be a guest at the luncheon. Gen. Summerall will explain the army's entire educational system, which provides training in almost every subject taught in secondary schools of the country.

THE FINANCIAL CRISIS.
II. THE EXHAUSTION OF CREDIT.

We have seen that the reassessment was ordered in July, 1928, to correct the injustices which had accumulated in the taxing of real estate in Cook county. We have seen that delays in completing the new assessment, many of them needless and deliberate on the part of the assessors and reviewers, have reduced the cash income of the local governments since April, 1928, to a dribble from miscellaneous sources. No money was collected from general taxation last year and none will be collected, in all probability, until this June.

The local governments have been deprived of cash, but the second largest city in the United States, a county whose real estate is worth ten billions, a city of vast productivity, ought to have no difficulty in commanding all the credit required in such an emergency. If we haven't the cash to pay our policemen, our school teachers and our school doctors, why can't we borrow it until the taxes are paid? A loan to Chicago, Cook county, or the Chicago schools ought to be as attractive an investment as a loan to any other municipality, and far more attractive than most.

Why Chicago has difficulty borrowing for a short term cannot be understood without knowledge of how the local governments of Chicago customarily pay their bills. Governments should seek to limit expenditures in any year to the funds received in that year from taxes. Generally speaking, the governments of Chicago do something very different. Even if there had been no reassessment Chicago would have paid its policemen and firemen in 1929 with money borrowed against taxes which would not have come to the treasury until April, 1930. The principle on which the city has been run is: This year's taxes pay last year's debts. The local governments are always a year, more or less, behind.

The system of meeting this year's expenses with next year's revenue is costly in interest and encourages extravagance because appropriations are never based upon anything but a rough guess at what income will be. As the guess is made by those who spend the money, the chances of a conservative guess are not great. Accordingly, the local governments, for the most part, have been sliding farther and farther back.

The school board has, in this particular, been the worst offender. Before Thompson took office the first time, fifteen years ago, the school board was on a cash basis. It paid that year's bills with that year's income. Today it is seeking to raise the money to pay this year's bills with borrowings against next year's income, while the borrowings against last year's income have not been paid. The other governments are in the same boat.

While the short term obligations have been piling up as a result of the reassessment, it is doubtful if that fact of itself would have impaired the city's credit as seriously as it has been impaired. There is doubt in the minds of bankers and investors about when the warrants will be redeemed, but there is also doubt whether some of those now outstanding can be redeemed at par with interest out of taxes when paid. Of the two doubts, the second is, of course, the graver.

At first glance it is difficult to see how the security of the anticipation loans can be jeopardized. A statute forbids municipalities to borrow more than 75 per cent of their levies. That seems to leave a safe margin and it would be a safe margin if the levy corresponded to the fact of actual cash receipts. Instead, by a process of legal hocus-pocus, coupled with the fact that the reassessment cut half a billion dollars from the expected total in Chicago, 75 per cent of their levies for 1928 and 1929 may actually prove to be more than 100 per cent of the amount received by some of the governments in 1930, when the levies are collected.

Those who have analyzed the city's accounts are of the belief that the city of recent years has sold warrants in anticipation of the taxes of 1928 and 1929 for several million dollars more than the taxes will yield. If this estimate is correct it is a good deal as if the city had mortgaged a piece of property for more than 100 per cent of its sale value. If the bankers hesitate to buy more paper of this sort, the reason is not difficult to discover.

Why the local governments have borrowed in this reckless fashion is a question which will be treated in a third article dealing with the fundamental question of appropriations.

GUN TOTING.

The state's attorney's appeal to the grand jury to indict gun toting malefactors emphasizes the need for a much more serious effort to correct this flagrant evil than has been made. The carrying of concealed weapons is an offense punishable by a year's imprisonment, yet the town is full of armed men who can show no excuse for carrying deadly weapons. The habit is so general that the difficulty of stopping it must be recognized, but the police, the prosecuting authorities, the juries, and the magistrates if they unite in an effort to enforce the law can reduce the evil materially, and in due time virtually abolish it.

Gun toting is protected sentimentally by a tradition handed down from frontier days, but there is no reason for its survival today. It is protected in some measure by the theory that a citizen is entitled under the constitution to bear arms, but the historical derivation of this right does not have reference to the carrying of a deadly weapon by an individual in normal times. It refers to the collective right of the citizens to provide for their protection from tyranny and the unlawful force of government. It is subject to limitation, as in the case of the ordinance against concealed weapons, and it does not authorize the carrying of arms by individuals of dubious record. As for the need for law abiding citizens to go armed for self-defense, there are very few who carry weapons and this objection is largely academic. Few law abiding citizens know how to use a gun and an attempt to do so would, in most cases, be more dangerous to them than the malefactor.

The police and authorities need not consider this theoretical phase, but should use every effort to intercept weapons in the possession of individuals who have not a clearly respectable status in the community, and to prosecute them. Magistrates are, in many cases, too lenient or worse in applying penalties in gun toting cases and often juries are equally neglectful of their duties. There is need for a general determined effort to cope with a scandalous and menacing situation which has persisted through lax enforcement of law and negligence in public opinion.

SUBMARINES.

One of the most difficult problems of adjustment with which the naval conference must deal is that of the submarine. Great Britain would like to abolish this weapon, and the United States government is said to be favorable to this solution, for similar reasons. Both nations have a great merchant marine, our own steadily growing, and our world-wide traffic must be protected at all costs. The submarine is a comparatively inexpensive weapon within the means of lesser nations and is a serious menace to merchant shipping. Its abolition would at once reduce the requirement for cruisers, and the limitation of one type is inextricably involved with that of the other.

The proposal to abolish the submarine had no chance of adoption by the other powers or by the twenty-three nations now building in this category, and it is now reported from London has been refused. The submarine menace will be used to support the British demand for a large allotment of cruisers, and the length of our own trade routes and the importance of our sea borne commerce should be insisted upon in this adjustment. It is, therefore, well for us to survey the submarine situation as it exists at this time. As to the major sea powers, excepting Germany, which is now forbidden to build submarines, conditions are about as follows:

The French are finishing up one of the strongest submarine forces in the world. The French submarines will be new while many of those in the United States and England are old and due for scrapping. The French have accepted a 5.00 to 1.75 ratio for battleships and aircraft carriers, but why should they even consider less than parity on submarines or even give a second thought to the abolition of the submarine? With the small ratio of surface ships, the abolition of submarines would throw the French on the mercy of the British in the Mediterranean, and France would be unable to bring a single soldier from Africa to France against English opposition.

The Japanese, Mr. Henning reports, have built up to a tonnage of 66,627, as against the United States' tonnage of 59,738; the British, 47,421; France, 31,213; Italy, 20,990. Prior to the world war the Japanese paid little attention to submarines. The effectiveness of the German submarines in the world war aroused the Japanese. They purchased the best British, French, and Italian submarine plans and started building some forty-five coast defense boats. Then, as some five or six German submarines had been turned over to Japan, a number of German engineers were employed, and under their expert supervision Japan started building some twenty-five seagoing submarines, which are now nearly complete.

The bulk of Great Britain's fleet consists of "H" and "L" boats, which are similar to our "O" and "S" boats, all of pre-war design. However, for some five years the British have been building very good 1,500 ton boats at the rate of about six a year. This six a year program is a wise one, as it provides continuous and systematic work for shipyards.

The Italian submarines are generally small, some 400 and some 800 tons. Only recently are they building larger ones, some five of the 1,500 ton type.

Figures for the United States are misleading, for the fifty-eight old boats should all be scrapped. The so-called fifty new ones are really pre-war boats. Our new post-war boats are really the "V" boats, of which the fifth and sixth are now being finished. We have but three with a maximum speed over 14.6 knots, the fastest 19.3 knots, while Japan has 15 with a speed of 20 knots or better. Our lack of bases calls for a fast long distance type. We really should scrap our old boats and start building systematically five or six a year until we acquire a modern fleet.

Editorial of the Day

HOT TIME DUE IN CHICAGO.

[Kansas City, Mo., Journal-Post.]

Five serious blasts in twenty-four hours aroused the Chicago police to start another campaign against bombers. It is to be hoped that the drive will improve the technique of the guardians of so-called law and order in Chicago because they will soon be needing all the skill they can muster in dealing with the underworld.

For Al Capone is due to be released from that Philadelphia prison. "Scarface" was sentenced for a year and a day, with the customary time off for good behavior, and a shrewd lad like Al is certain to have been a model prisoner. When he gets out he will have several scores to settle. He has kept in touch with his followers and he knows that a humiliating number of his gang has been taken for a ride. A gang leader cannot ignore fatalities in his own ranks and maintain his prestige. Rival gangsters must pay for those rides.

Before long there is going to be a hot time in Chicago and the police of that city will have their hands full keeping the situation "well in hand." They need all the practice they can get.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

DIDJA SEE WHAT THEY DID DOWN IN MEXICO—

at the inauguration of the new president? Just the regular thing. First, they swore him in as president and then they tried to bump him off. Nothing unusual in that! Down in Mexico there's always two people who have to be on hand when the new ruler takes the oath of office—one bird to swear him in and another to take a shot at him. That's a heck of a country! Darned if we'd live there! The idea, banging away with a gun right into the new president's motor car. We all feel mighty shocked up here in the U. S. A. at such going's on. (BANG! BANG! BANG!) Hey! Pull down the shades to those windows, somebody, or else make those gangsters fighting out there in the street go on some back lot and have their battle.

Yessir, right here in Chicago especially we have our opinion the way they do things down there in Mexico. Shooting at a president! And they call themselves a free country. BAM! Never mind, audience. He missed me! As I was saying, the conditions down in Mexico are appalling. We're all shocked! Why, even the bandits that'll maybe shove guns against our tummies tonight as we walk home in the dark wouldn't stand up in a corner and take a potshot at the president of Mexico. A president of Mexico doesn't get much salary and he wouldn't be likely to have much loose change in his pants. (BANG! BANG! BAM!) Will the audience kindly keep their seats? They're not shooting at us; the boys are holding up the bank on the corner probably, or maybe it's State's Attorney Swanson driving crime out of Chicago. Must have raided a paddle wheel at a church oyster supper that time.

But, as I was saying, we ought to pass resolutions bawling Mexico out all over the place. The conditions down there are horrible! (BLOOIE! BLUMP! BANG!) Never mind, audience, that was just a coupla pineapples next door; those bomb throwers are a busy lot. (BANG! BANG! BANG!) Audience, we will now adjourn; I cannot talk against all this racket. As soon as those guys stop shooting all over the place we will again express our horror at the conditions down there in Mexico. (BANG! BANG! BOOM!) They missed me again. I thank you!

ASSORTED ANTIPATHIES.

I do not like the long dress mode,
Or picture shows that squeak and squawk,
Or spinach, even when disguised,
Or "baby talk."

Doors that haven't any knobs, and
Platonic friendships bore me—quite,
As do the bleak days when the sun
Stays out of sight.

Children who aren't made to mind, and
Wrestling matches, greyhound races—
They disgust me; so do gals with Baby faces.

Cold French fried spuds do I abhor,
Synthetic gin and beer that's flat,
And static on the radio,
And things like that.

I hate those calls that waken me
At dawn—the phone's insistent ring—
"Wrong number!" . . . I don't care to hear
Al Jolson sing.

The smell of cabbage as it cooks—
I can't stand that, or winds that freeze.
While I suppose that you dislike

BADGER PETE.

Snowshoe Spills the Dirt About This Here Now Duke Bakrak.

R. H. L.: Oh, so Mr. Duke Bakrak is trying to tell me how to find a job an' become a great success like him, eh? Har, har! That guy gets 50 special delivery letters every morning, each one marked "Final Notice." Hell, I happen to know that last Monday he was parked in his private office reading a Horatio Alger book an' eating a sandwich which belonged to his stenographer, when suddenly the telephone rang. "Hey, Miss Schmaltz," howls him to the Shorthand Acrobat, "answer this call! If it's my wife I'll talk to her—an' if it's anybody else, tell 'em you think I mailed the check last night."

I tried the big stiff's advice about going into a large office an' asking the general manager for a position paying 25 thousand per year. The manager glanced at a calendar an' then told me to come back on the 29th of this month.

After that, I went to see a friend of mine which is president of a bank, an' I says to him, "Mr. Smith, how about a job?"

"Well," says him, "if it pays at least 30 bucks per week, I'll consider it. What kind of work would I have to do?"

So I galloped outa there an' breezes over to a dump which advertised for a high class salesman. "How about a job?" inquires me.

"Have you had any selling experience?" asks the delirious walrus behind the desk.

"My dear sir," snorts me, "Noah built the ark, but I'm the guy which kidded him into doing it—I wanted the order for the nails."

"Wonderful!" sneers the walrus. "I can think of only one thing which will stop you from working for this firm, an' that's me!" SNOWSHOE AL.

"Stob! Stob!" Said the Elephant's Child, "You Are Hurtib Be!"

Now, darn it! There goes old Hank Wales again! Wish Hank would stop rubbing it in. But look what he said yesterday in his story in the W. G. N. describing the dinner given by the First Lord of the Admiralty to the naval conference delegates:

> In the outer hall the buffet was spread, and white wine, from the great cellars under Lancaster house, was served. This supply is restocked annually by the government and includes some of the finest vintages and champagnes, especially imported by the government for official entertainment.

Oh, Hank Wales! Have a heart! For, as Cleopatra said to Marc Antony, "A sorrow's crown of sorrows is remembering happier things!"

NOW, WE'VE GOT IT! We've been worrying for four days to do something to bring relief to that Austrian ex-soldier who hasn't been able to sleep since the war. Let him read all the plans suggested for getting Chicago and Cook county out of its financial tangle. If that doesn't put him to sleep there's nothing will. R. H. L.

FOOD AND GOOD TEETH.

EATING proper foods will prevent decay of teeth, inflammation of the gums, and even pyorrhea. This was the general consensus of several essayists who read papers before a dental congress recently meeting in Chicago. Such a diet will cure most cases of soft, flabby, bleeding gums and inflammation of the gums. It will go a short distance in curing decay in a tooth.

It will cause some hardening of the walls of the cavity as well as arrest the progress of the disease. When proper cleaning and scaling is combined with dieting in the treatment of moderately advanced pyorrhea what might be called cure is secured in a reasonable proportion of the cases. By cure is meant cessation of suppuration, return of firmness to the gums, tightening of the teeth in their sockets, and some little building up of the socket wall and improvement in the near-by bone.

To secure the good results of diet the food must contain an ample supply of vitamins and minerals, particularly the former. The vitamin most needed is that which prevents scurvy. A deficiency in the rickets vitamin may be important, especially where there is also a deficiency in the scurvy vitamin.

The diet which one physician advised for all children two years of age and older consists of one quart of milk, one orange, one egg, ample green vegetables, one-half a head of lettuce, 3 tablespoons butter, 1½ teaspoons of cod liver oil twice a day or 5 drops of viosterol once a day. Nearly every physician, dentist, or physiological chemist who spoke agreed substantially with this diet, though some substituted other antiscorbutic foods.

It was generally agreed that to prevent teeth from decaying the diet must contain one part orange juice a day or its equivalent. Since vitamin C is very instable, does not stand alkalis well, and since the body is alkaline, antiscorbutic must not only be given daily, it must be given twice a day. One-half the allowance of orange juice or orange and lemon juice should be given in the morning and the remainder in the afternoon.

The anti-rickets substance can be stored up in the body in summer for winter use. Likewise sugars, fats, water, minerals, and other vitamins. Not so the vitamins which prevent scurvy, sore gums, decay of teeth, and pyorrhea.

CAUSE OF COATED TONGUE.

REPLY.

A coated tongue results from an accumulation of dead epithelium on the upper surface of the organ, the surface which is driest and which is least rubbed. Consider the kind of covering it has.

Among the causes of coated tongue are: Failure to chew enough; eating food that is too soft; breathing through the mouth; constipation, and certain diseases.

In most cases a coated tongue is of no special significance, though an experienced physician may learn about his patient in certain disorders by observing the kind of coating on the tongue.

The cure depends largely on the cause.

Some people chew gum to remove the coat from a coated tongue. Some scrape the tongue with a spoon handle, dull knife, or spatula. Some change the diet.

BATHS PROBABLY NOT HARMFUL.

L. E. P. writes: Are hot water baths morning and night injurious or enervating to a person suffering with kidney and bladder trouble?

I am also troubled with neuritis and these baths seem to relieve the pain.

REPLY.

I don't think hot baths twice daily will harm you.

EXTRACT MAY HELP YOU.

C. H. writes:

1. Last year I was operated on for tumors and had both ovaries taken out. I am now suffering from hot flashes. Sometimes I get weak and get a hot flash and at other times I get too near a radiator or a stove.

2. I have gained considerable weight since the operation. Should I go on a diet?

3. I have headaches practically all the time. I wear glasses at business but don't think it could be due to my eyes, unless the lens should be changed. I try to keep my bowels open but they do not move regularly, only when I take a physic.

REPLY.

1. You can be kept comfortable by taking ovarian extract periodically. It can be given hypodermically or by mouth. The dose is larger when it is taken internally.

2. Probably taking ovarian extract from time to time will keep your weight down if you are moderately careful about diet and exercise.

3. Have your doctor find out what kind of headache you have, and the cause, and treat you accordingly.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 7, 1865.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The deed is done. The horse railway bill, with all its odious features, was passed over Gov. Oglesby's veto, by both houses of the legislature—in the senate by a vote of 18 to 5, and in the house by 55 to 23. Chicago is bound hand and foot and delivered over to an unscrupulous and never ending monopoly. Only three men from Cook county proved so recreant to their constituents and the interests of Chicago as to vote for it. They were F. A. Eastman, Nathan W. Huntley and Abraham H. Dolton.

WASHINGTON.—President Lincoln has prepared a message to congress setting forth all the facts connected with the recent peace negotiations. When asked about the nature of the facts, the President responded by telling a story.

WASHINGTON.—The Negro admitted last week to practice law in the United States Supreme court had to get a pass before he could leave town, because he was a Negro. A resolution which was put through congress today looks to the abolition of this relic of barbarism.

PHILADELPHIA.—The Richmond Whig says that Senator Brown of Mississippi introduced a resolution in the rebel senate, which was adopted, thanking John Lancaster of Lancasshire, England, for rescuing Capt. Raphael Semmes and the crew of the pirate Alabama from drowning on the occasion of the Alabama's battle with the Kearsarge.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—State's Attorney Charles Reed of Chicago was brought before the house on a charge of contempt in refusing to answer questions on the penitentiary fraud touching matters confided to him as an attorney by his client. He persisted in his refusal and was committed to the custody of the doorkeeper to be kept in confinement until tomorrow morning, when he will ask the Supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus.

LONDON.—According to Boer advices from Pretoria Ladysmith is again undergoing heavy bombardment, but no details are given. Recent messages from the beleaguered town indicate that the Boers are gathered around it in great strength.

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Whether peace or war shall rule in Kentucky depends on Gov. Taylor's action tomorrow when he approves or rejects the agreement of the truce conference at Louisville, entered into between Republican and Democratic leaders. Taylor's friends insist he will not sanction the proposals which assure the seating of J. C. W. Beckham as governor.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Tribune company sued the Associated Press in federal court for $100,000 on a charge of pirating the foreign news service of THE TRIBUNE and the London Times and asked an injunction to stop the stealing of the news. The hearing was set for Feb. 16.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President McKinley appointed U. S. Judge William H. Taft of Cincinnati to be president of the new Philippine commission. He will be succeeded on the bench by Judge Henry F. Severens of Grand Rapids, Mich.

CHICAGO.—Hundreds of persons stood bareheaded in the snow flurries yesterday as the flower draped casket of the slain "Moss" Enright was borne to Mount Olivet cemetery. Among those who attended the funeral services at the Church of the Visitation were Al Tearney, former Ald. Joseph F. Swift, former Senator O'Brien, Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen, Judge John Sullivan, Deputy Coroner M. J. Walsh, Ald. William R. O'Toole, Senator John McDermott, and Gene Geary, now out on bonds on a murder charge.

STOCKHOLM.—Peace negotiations between Great Britain and soviet Russia are in progress, according to a statement which the Svenska Dagbladet attributes to Adolph Joffe, who headed the bolshevik peace delegation at Dorpat.

CHICAGO.—George Washington Jackson, the engineer who built Chicago's 60 miles of freight subways, was designated yesterday by Mayor Thompson's traction commission to tackle the question of constructing a downtown passenger subway. "We want to have the data for subways at hand," said Samuel A. Ettelson, chairman of the commission. "We are not committed to the subway or any other plan as yet, however."

CHICAGO.—Miss Ella Williams McCauley and Dr. Clarendon Rutherford were married on Feb. 4 at the residence of the bride's sister, Miss Lenea M. McCauley, 418 St. James place. The Rev. Dr. John Donald MacLaughlin officiated.

EXTINCTION OF WATERFOWL.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—What was wrong with the duck hunting on the Illinois river during the 1929-'30 season, and what became of the great flocks of mallards of other years?

Are the birds becoming more wary and staying out of the Illinois river valley due to the great numbers killed each year, or are they following a different migration route to the south, or are their numbers growing smaller?

My opinion is that the ducks are on the decrease. I have shot ducks on the Illinois for several years and, previous to the 1929-'30 season, I saw mallards by the tens of thousands at any time after the middle of November. The last season, however, was very conspicuous by the scarcity of birds. From all the famed shooting spots along the river came reports of poor shooting and small bags.

Bob Becker, THE TRIBUNE'S lucky son of nature, in all of his duck hunting stories claimed the shooting was excellent, but this was due to the fact that Bob hunted on club grounds, where the birds are fed. There will always be plenty of birds for wealthy clubowners, who can afford to control whole lakes and buy corn for the ducks.

It would be a blessed and merciful propaganda that would lead the federal government to spend some of its millions for the protection of our game birds, rather than squander enormous sums of money on prohibition enforcement. The natural breeding and resting grounds of our wild waterfowl are rapidly disappearing because of the fact that drainage of our lakes and marshes goes foolishly and industriously on. Many of these drainage projects turn out to be failures. The Horicon marsh in Wisconsin and Klamath lake in Oregon are good examples. Both were paradises for waterfowl before they were drained, but today they are worthless weed patches because the supposedly rich soil proved to be unfit for farming.

After the passenger pigeon was reported extinct the federal government offered a prize of $500 to any one who could capture a pair of these birds. The prize was never claimed because the passenger pigeon was gone—gone because of our carelessness in not protecting it.

Will this be the ultimate end of our waterfowl? WALTER G. POHLMAN.

FROM ODORLESS WHITING.

Whiting, Ind., Feb. 2.—In today's TRIBUNE "B. F. E." intimates the singular fitness of the name Chicago. Perhaps the prophetic powers of the ancient medicine men were greater than we have been wont to give them credit for.

Due to a disagreement in the interpretation of the name, the people of Chicago are fortunate in having a choice of meanings—namely: the place of the skunk or the place of wild onions. Evidently the locality has been pervaded with a pungent odor since the earliest times because the Chicago river was called Garlic creek by the French voyageurs.

In the light of recent events in northern Indiana we are almost compelled to admit that there is something in a name. Yes, shikago seems to possess a permanent odoriferousness.

ROBERT A. DAUGHERTY.

THE SINS OF THE FATHERS.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—As a young citizen of Chicago, I cannot but regret your paper's apathy regarding the gang killings and bombings occurring recently in Chicago. Your paper's heritage and fighting courage of old seems to be slumbering while the wants of our great city groan for leadership. If the older men who have made this city are too engrossed in gaining material wealth to aid you, for God's sake call on the young men who are the ones who will have to suffer from the city's besmirched reputation.

With six out of eight columns given over to crime and bombings in the evening's paper, it seems that settled interest will have to be put aside and a demand for some form of relief executed. Whether this relief will take the shape of a vigilance committee, federal troops, state troops, or a dictator, seems uncertain at this time, but something must be done. ROBERT TIEDT.

SOVIET DESTRUCTIVENESS.

Mercersburg, Pa., Feb. 3.—After the Russian revolution the communists determined to efface all traces of religion in Russia and they stopped at no means to effect this end. From the most superficial detail to the wholesale execution of church officials, they have been absolutely meticulous in every way. Statues, churches, ikons, and sacred objects have been wantonly desecrated and destroyed, but all these are mere trifles when compared to the destructiveness of the spirit of moral freedom and unrestraint opposed by the undermining of the church. This destructiveness is the distinguishing brand of a government which claims to be and probably thinks it is constructive. Religion has been a binding and a constructive cement to this civilization, and that which is consecrated in the lives of millions, or which is sacred to the memory of nations is not to be lightly tossed aside and condemned by any presumptuous race of totally unbalanced radicals.

This spirit of destructiveness has pervaded an ideal that might otherwise be ennobled by the striving of Russian millions that their organization seems to plant the parasite of discontent and class hatred in the very heart of our own country, where it breaks out in the form of riots and other disturbances. And we deliberate and quibble over the question of the recognition of a country which is openly trying to subvert American interest and motivating religion in her own ends! F. G. DEAN.

UNIFORMITY IN RUSSIA.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Evidently those at the head of the communistic movement in Russia have never heard of the art of compensation or the law of attraction. Is it possible that a people, in this day and age, are actually reduced to the citizenry of a nation to the common level of the least advanced member of that nation? The thought in the article which appears in this morning's TRIBUNE, "Same Food, Same Dress, and the Same Beds, New Red Czar," is simply appalling. We of America should bend our knees and thank God that we are free to develop as he intends us to do.

I pray that the day will come when these bolsheviks and anarchists will learn that it is not the men who have accumulated riches and knowledge who are holding them down, but their own thoughts. It is within ourselves whether or not we advance, and every one of us has an equal chance. It is God's desire that we shall all be happy and prosperous, and if the above mentioned people would give more thought to God's laws and less to the ruination of a great nation of God's children they would find themselves as they and God want them to be, prosperous and happy. SPRING IS HERE! FIRST POETS JOIN HISTORY CONTEST

Two Verse Entries Seek $1,000 Prize.

Two poetical entries were received yesterday in THE TRIBUNE contest for the best history of the United States told in 500 words. The contest, which closes on Feb. 15, carries prizes ranging from $1,000 to $50 and totaling $2,100.

The fact that form and style of the entries have been left entirely to contributors evidently inspired the two poets. Their contributions differed in form, one adopting free verse as a medium of expression and the other electing to tell the story in a sort of "Cowboy Lament."

The introduction penned by the first poet furnished an idea of what may happen to history when the muse gets in its work. It started:

"This is the story sublime
Of America, the great, the resplendent,
The land of miracles and of men.
Questing westward over a trackless sea
When the fifteenth century was young
And the world still a mystery to its inhabitants,
Columbus, an imaginative sailor,
Discovered these shores.
In the short space of four centuries
The wilderness which he set eyes upon
Was to become a mighty country
Peopled by a race proud, wealthy, aggressive."

Thus, in 74 words, the poet covered a deal of ground. There is no suggestion here that poetry may be the best medium of telling the history. Other entries received yesterday in prose were deemed excellent by the judges, but the poetical examples are presented because of their novelty.

The second poet treated his subject in a lighter vein, electing to garnish his contribution with rhyme. His poem starts:

"The history of the U. S. A.
Is the subject of this lay.
In 500 words it must be told—
Surely a task for the very bold.

"It was in the year 1492
That Columbus discovered this land so true,
Then along came Washington in '76.
He beat the British with his country 'hicks.'

"The constitution, it then was framed;
At the noblest of ideas it aimed.
It has survived ever since, you ken,
Except for an amendment now and then."

The history editor yesterday repeated that one person may submit as many manuscripts as he or she chooses. Manuscripts should be addressed to the History Editor, THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Square, Chicago, and must be received by midnight of Feb. 15.

THESE TRIPLETS MAY HAVE 3 DAY BIRTHDAY PARTIES

It will take at least two days and perhaps three to observe the birthday anniversaries of triplets born to Mrs. Frances Larkin, 37 years old, 1641 North Wood street. The first baby, a girl weighing 4½ pounds, arrived on Tuesday noon at the Grant hospital. The next, a boy, was born at 4:20 o'clock yesterday morning, and his younger sister arrived exactly seven hours later. Each of the last two babies weighed 3 pounds. The mother and children were reported to be doing nicely last night. There were already six children in the family, the oldest being 10 years old. Dr. E. W. Fischman was the attending physician.

TALKIE ACTORS TALK TO BOSSES AND MAKE PEACE

Standard Contract for Players Revised.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Occasional reports rambling westward from New York that the Actors Equity association will again attempt an invasion of the movie industry may be settled somewhat by an agreement put into effect here today between producers and a committee of movie actors.

Revisions in the "standard contract for free lance players," intended to improve working conditions, will go into effect immediately as a result of a meeting last night which concluded a series of quiet actor-producer conferences inaugurated by the actors' branch of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Chief Grievances Remedied.

The "standard contract," which in December, 1927, was adopted to settle a controversy between producers and free lance actors, was the butt of Equity's unsuccessful attack last summer under leadership of its president, Frank Gilmore.

Conditions to which the actors objected were largely due to the producers' rush to get talkies on the market at a time when production facilities for the new screen medium were limited. Long hours, day and night work, with no fixed time for rest, were among the players' chief grievances.

The revised contract will fix no maximum number of hours a player is to be kept on the job, but will require that a 12 hour rest period be guaranteed between calls. Formerly a studio, after working the actor far into the night, could call him back at the usual time the next morning.

Disputes arising between producers and actors are to be submitted to an arbitration board of five actors, at least three of whom shall be free lance artists. Both actors and producers are given a right to appeal from this board to the regular "conciliation committee" of the academy, whose decision is final.

Retake System Changed.

The "standard contract" applies only to free lance players signed by the week, but the producers also have agreed that players hired by the day shall have an eight hour day.

Under the old contract the actor could be called back for "retakes" at any time, at the producer's discretion, at the salary for which he originally worked. One player, for instance, recently was called back 18 months after completing his work on a picture. Although in the intervening months he had increased his earning power, when called back he received the same compensation as originally. Revised, this section now limits the "same salary" clause to "within six months," after which the actor is to receive payment commensurate with his larger earning power.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Gloria Gould Bishop got married again today. This time, the divorced wife of Henry A. Bishop Jr., whose diversions have interested society for years, became the bride of Walter MacFarlane Barker, a young contractor, formerly of Chicago.

The pair obtained their license at the marriage bureau in the municipal building late this afternoon and took a taxicab to the Yorkville police court, where the ceremony was performed by Magistrate Bernard J. Douras.

"Only two or three immediate friends" were present, it was announced, and the couple left on a honeymoon trip for unknown points.

Former Chicagoan.

Mr. Barker is the son of Alfred Barker, a contractor now of Palm Beach, Fla. According to information he gave to the marriage license clerk, he is 31 years old, was born in Chicago, but removed with his family to New York while a small boy.

Mrs. Bishop is 23, and is the youngest daughter of the late George J. Gould and Edith Kingdon Gould. She has had a varied social and theatrical career, her activities embracing a flyer as a dancing instructor, a term as manager of a Broadway movie theater, and a course in Greek dancing.

Her first marriage, to Mr. Bishop, Yale graduate and scion of a noted New England family, was a quiet affair, owing to the recent death of the bride's father. It took place on Sept. 18, 1923, in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's church. Five years later she went to Paris and established a residence with a view to bringing suit for divorce, Mr. Bishop's refusal to go to Paris, it was said, frustrated his wife's plans for divorce at that time.

Gets Reno Divorce.

She returned to America, went to Reno and, after fulfilling the elastic residence requirements of that resort, was awarded a decree.

Then she went back to France, returning to America only about two weeks ago and telling ship news reporters then that she was committed indefinitely to a state of single blessedness.

The bride is the sister of Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Lady Decies, Mrs. Carroll L. Wainwright, Jay Gould, George J. Gould Jr., and Kingdon Gould. She is a niece of the Duchess de Talleyrand and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

YOU hear people talking about the "tone" of radio sets.

One set has a "deep tone," they say. Another set a "high tone."

But when you stop to think, you realize that the best radio has no tone of its own at all!

Of course it hasn't. A radio set shouldn't create anything. It is a reproducing instrument. It should pass on to you only what it gets from the broadcasting studios.

The better it does that, the better your radio.

This is what we mean when we speak of the naturalness of a Screen-Grid Atwater Kent. This radio tells only the truth.

Its bass notes are the true bass. Its treble is the true treble. Light and shade of music are put there by the broadcasters. The set does not intrude with its own version of a song or a talk.

Atwater Kent has developed this natural tone for your radio because of a conviction that this is the only tone that will permanently satisfy you.

It must be this naturalness that most people prefer, for already hundreds of thousands of families have chosen Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio. They say it has "the natural tone you never tire of."

THE WORLD'S L...

DICTATOR HIRED TO MAKE PRISON RIOTERS BE GOOD

Military Rule Decreed by Colorado Board.

State Prison, Canon City, Colo., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The 1,100 inmates of this state penitentiary tonight were subjected to a military dictatorship ordered as a result of intermittent disorders.

The dictator is Col. Patrick J. Hamrock, a man of wide military experience, who during the world war commanded the 157th infantry. Announcement of Col. Hamrock's appointment was made today by the state board of corrections, which controls the prison.

Leaving the hospital where he was being treated for a sinus infection, Col. Hamrock, on one hour's notice, drove the 130 miles from Denver to Cañon City in his automobile and assumed jurisdiction over the prison.

Informed of the plan to restore order at the penitentiary, Gov. W. H. Adams suggested to members of the board that they resign their posts. The board replied that the governor's suggestion would not be followed.

Two Guards Discharged.

By resolution the corrections board took steps to discharge three guards whose actions were criticized after the riot last October in which 13 men were killed, and summarily discharged two more.

J. J. Shea and O. J. Pennington were relieved of duty, and charges will be filed with the state civil service commission here tomorrow against M. J. Conway, George Asher, and F. G. Thomas.

Asher, the prepared charges set forth, failed to throw a riot gun from the wall during the riot when another guard, Clyde Davis, shouted to him from the prison yard that a riot was in progress. Davis testified before Gov. Adams' special investigating committee that he could have quelled the mutiny at its inception had Asher given him the gun.

Ex-Service Men May Be Hired.

Col. Hamrock, it is said informally, will be given virtually absolute control of the prison for from three to six months, but the existing administration is not to be disturbed in its official capacity. Warden Francis E. Crawford is to retain supervision of the institution and Deputy Warden William Green, the target of much criticism from the convicts, will not be removed.

Hamrock's title will be special deputy warden. The work of reorganization is to include the employment when feasible of 50 ex-service men and others with military experience as guards.

Rum Seized; Farmers' Trip to Nebraska Is Halted

Harvey Freed, 35 years old, and Clarence Boji, 23 years old, farmers from Hoskins, Neb., were held to the grand jury by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday when they were arraigned on charges of violating the prohibition law. They were arrested on Wednesday night with 100 gallons of alcohol in Freed's automobile as they were starting for Nebraska. Vincent Turek, owner of a cigar store at 1252 Holt street, who, Freed said, sold him the alcohol, was held under $5,000 bonds. Freed's bond was set at $2,500 and Boji's at $1,000.

Sentences Son of Minister for Passing Bad Checks

Harold L. Buckley, 22 years old, 4002 Drexel boulevard, who said he is the son of the Rev. Jesse Buckley, Methodist minister of Whitehouse, O., yesterday was sentenced to one year each in the House of Correction on two charges of obtaining money under false pretenses by Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen in South State Street court. He was accused of passing fraudulent checks at a loop clothing concern.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Myron T. Herrick, late ambassador to France, saved her from destitution in Paris after Ferdinand Pinney Earle had struck her, cut off her hair, torn up a will that purported to bequeath her $100,000, and destroyed a paper settling $15,000 on her, Dolores Salazar, 24 year old dancer, told a jury in Judge Harry Archbald's court today.

The Latin American beauty, who was striving to launch a screen career when she came to Earle's attention at the age of 16, in Hollywood in 1926, told Earle's attorney, Sam Steelman, on cross-examination that she had imagined that Earle had some wealth when she met him but she did not care if he hadn't a penny.

Promised Fund for Child.

"It was the man I was in love with," she said. Earle's proposals to settle money upon her followed, months later, she said. "He told me he would be free to marry me on Jan. 3, 1927," she testified. "His money meant something to me only after he came to the hospital in January, 1927, and told me I was to become a mother and that he would settle a fund for the child."

Mrs. Emanuel Salazar, the girl's mother, testified in broken English that Earle visited her home one night and broke the news Dolores was in a hospital. Some days later Earle visited the Salazars again and said he had come to provide for Dolores' future.

Earle wanted to put $15,000 in the bank for the girl, the mother said, adding that her husband ejected Earle. The mother said she was a Central American, her husband a Spaniard, and that most of their seventeen children had been born in Mexico.

Earle is not at the trial, but his defense is being conducted by deposition. His attorneys lost a motion to non-suit the case after the girl testified. Miss Salazar is suing for $30,000 damages.

WILLIAM HOSKINS, NOTED CHEMIST, FETED AT DINNER

William Hoskins, 68 years old, was the guest of honor at a dinner last night in the City club celebrating his 50th year as a chemist. The dinner was sponsored by the Chicago Chemists' club, of which Mr. Hoskins was the first president. It was attended by 150 chemists. F. W. Brock presided.

Dr. L. V. Redman, the toastmaster, sketched Mr. Hopkins' career from the time when, as a 17 year old boy, he was a student apprentice in Chicago. More than 100 telegrams of congratulation from chemists over the country were read. A play, "A Day in Mr. Hoskins' Office," by Carl Miner and Dr. W. L. Lewis, was presented by club members.

DENTAL SOCIETY of NEW YORK

The First District Dental Society of New York is one of the oldest and most important professional bodies in American Dentistry...It is characteristic of the progressive and public-spirited policy of this Society that it should be the first in America to take official action in warning the public against the extravagant curative claims of so-called "patent medicine" toothpastes.

READ THIS RESOLUTION passed at the meeting of the Society, Monday evening, February 3rd

Whereas: The First District Dental Society has gone on record condemning the practice of certain manufacturers of dentifrices making false and extravagant claims in their advertising copy; and,

Whereas: The Bureau of Chemistry of the American Dental Association has been making investigations of several preparations to be used or recommended by dentists; and

Whereas: The officers of the American Dental Association have been sued for Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) because they have had the courage to tell the truth regarding certain products; and,

Whereas: Certain manufacturers who do not make false and extravagant claims regarding their products should receive the support and approval of the dental profession;

Be It Therefore Resolved, that the First District Dental Society endorse the action of and give moral and financial support to the American Dental Association in its campaign against useless preparations and extravagant advertising thereof; and,

Be It Further Resolved, that the First District Dental Society condemn those advertising methods used by certain manufacturers wherein they claim that their products if used in time will prevent decay and other dental maladies; and,

Be It Further Resolved, that the members of the dental profession if asked to recommend dentifrices to their patients will recommend those products the manufacturers of which make no misleading claims regarding their virtues; and

Be It Further Resolved, that the profession support and approve those manufacturers of dentifrices who have prepared a definite and acceptable formula, and who do not claim that their products possess any curative value, or will prevent decay or diseased mouth conditions, but only act as an aid toward mouth hygiene.

KEEP REDS OFF OUR SOIL! CRIES CHINA TO RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.—The national government, following a series of daily conferences since Jan. 26, has definitely decided to assume full responsibility in the forthcoming Chinese-Russian conference at Moscow. In the event that Mo Te-hui, president of the Chinese Eastern railway, is unable to serve as chief of the Chinese delegates, the government will appoint Alfred Sze, Chinese ministr to London, and order him to proceed to Moscow.

While the Chinese policy regarding the conference has not been disclosed, the official Kuo Min news service tonight stated that the government is determined to reprimand Tsai Yi-shen, Manchurian delegate who signed the Harbarovsk protocol, on the grounds that Tsai discussed matters outside of his competence.

China Objects to Clauses.

While the government will not renounce the Harbarovsk protocol, it is stated that it will make a declaration clarifying its position regarding certain objectionable clauses, especially the one pertaining to the soviet charge that China employed white Russians in her Manchurian army. The national government declares that this charge is false and was used by the soviet as a justification for intervention and raids into Chinese territory.

Another Chinese declaration will state that the government is willing to assure legal protection to soviet consulates on Chinese soil, but is not willing to permit the stationing of Russian armed guards there.

The Chinese newspaper, Shun Pao, published a report from Nanking today stating that the government's policy at the Moscow conference will include a demand for the complete cessation of communistic propaganda on Chinese soil, and withdrawal of soviet military and civil authorities from Mongolia. The declaration will further demand that Moscow cease supplying funds and munitions to Chinese generals, and that no young Chinese be permitted to serve in the soviet army.

Chinese Consuls Resign.

The four Chinese consuls who were recently appointed to posts at Vladivostok, Harbarovsk, Blagovestchensk, and Chita have resigned their positions due to fear for their personal safety. The national government has not yet been able to find any one to succeed them.

A report from Harbin today said several hundred White Russians, arrested when the Red army invaded Manchouli, Hailar, and other cities in the Barga district, have been taken to Harbarovsk, where they are imprisoned charged with calumny against Russia.

EVANSTON CLERK FOUND SLAIN.

The body of James Wilson, 61 year old clerk, who had been missing since Wednesday evening from his home at 944 Asbury avenue, Evanston, was found yesterday with a bullet in his head in a shack at 1400 Main street. His widow said he had been despondent over ill health.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The dress which Lady Nancy Astor wore on the historic occasion in December, 1919, when she took her seat in parliament as the first woman member, is to be placed on exhibition in the municipal museum at Plymouth, the town she represents.

Lady Astor has now represented the Sutton division of Plymouth in the Conservative interest for an unbroken period of ten years and the museum committee today sent to her their thanks for the offer of the garment which will be placed among the general exhibits.

The dress is a one piece costume of plain black material, cut in severe lines. With it Lady Astor wore a dark, close-fitting velvet hat, which she did not remove in the house of commons.

HAWKS DEFEAT MAROONS, 3-2; TAKE 2D PLACE

VEECK MEETS DEMAND FOR 2 YEAR CONTRACT

Basketball Keeps Star in Trim.

Aids Player's Family

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—William Wrigley Jr., who owns the Los Angeles Coast league ball club, today gave orders that all the local club's share of the gate at the opening league game shall go to the family of the late Gus Sandberg, the team's first string catcher last year. Sandberg was fatally burned while filling the gas tank of an automobile owned by Marty Krug, formerly a player with the Cubs and Los Angeles. Sandberg is survived by a widow and two small sons.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Except for a youth who still has to make his mark in the big leagues, the Cubs to a man are signed, sealed and ready to deliver. Up to yesterday noon the rookie and one regular comprised the delegation outside the fold, but shortly after luncheon Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler, of various fames, entered the club's office in the Wrigley building and a few minutes later put his signature to a two year document.

Cuyler had returned the paper sent his last month and along with it the information that it was not satisfactory. President Veeck naturally had an idea the ex-Pirate was going to ask for more money, but it developed that the amount originally offered was satisfactory. Cuyler merely wanted the term stretched from one year to two, and the boss was more than willing to accommodate him.

Kiki to Join Feb. 25 Squad.

As is customary with him, Cuyler has been basketballing all winter and is going to put in a couple of more weeks of it to make sure that his muscles will not require any of Andy Lotshaw's liniments after the first day of training at Catalina. Kiki will be a member of the second squad leaving here Feb. 25 and reaching the island camp three days later. By that time the pitchers will have their arms sufficiently seasoned to give the hitters a treat.

The one athlete remaining unsigned hasn't registered a kick since receiving his document, so is not classed as a holdout. He is expected to be on hand when the second gang heads westward, and even if he misses it will not cause any disarrangement of McCarthy's plans.

Still Hopes for Catcher.

Manager McCarthy has given up the idea of enjoying about a week of California weather before going to work with his men. He was with President Veeck in New York last week and before going back home said he would reach Chicago a week from next Monday and accompany the battery squad to the coast. It is possible that McCarthy is hanging close to the center of baseball activities with hopes of getting the catcher he thinks he needs, but just now there is nothing of that nature in sight.

E. S. Barnard, the American league president, will commute between Florida and Chicago next week. He'll arrive here Tuesday to prepare for a two day conference of umpires, starting Wednesday. With that bit of business concluded, he will return to the southland to work on his golf game.

HEAD OF OXFORD CREW RESIGNS AFTER DISPUTE

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The difficulties which beset the Oxford crew in a critical stage of its annual preparations for the boat race with Cambridge apparently were settled today when Alastair Graham resigned his position as president of the Oxford boat club.

A disagreement with Graham today caused the resignation of the entire Oxford coaching staff, Dr. Mallam, Hal. Wiggins and A. S. Garton. This afternoon Graham called a meeting of the captains of the college boats to discuss the situation and afterward it was announced he had resigned and J. J. Maine had been appointed president in his place.

OTTO REISELT WINS 2 BLOCKS; LEADS COCHRAN

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Winning both blocks today, Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia went into the lead in his three cushion billiard match with Welker Cochran of Hollywood. Reiselt now leads, 400 to 384.

Reiselt won the afternoon block, 200 to 42, in 71 innings, and the night session, 50 to 41, in 37 innings. Reiselt had high runs of seven in each block. Cochran's best cluster this afternoon was four and tonight seven.

Butler Cage Star Ruled Out as Pro

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Oral Hildebrand, captain and center of the Butler university basketball team, today was declared ineligible by the university faculty committee because of charges of professionalism.

The charges, contained in an affidavit signed by Arthur Groner of Brazil, Ind., secretary-treasurer of the Brazil chamber of commerce baseball team, related that Hildebrand, playing under the name of "Roy Hilden," received forty dollars a game for eleven games he pitched for the Brazil baseball club last season.

Hildebrand was the leading scorer in state collegiate basketball competition.

Included in the party were John J. Mitchell, Chicago banker; Mrs. Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, Chicago, and Oliver Harriman, New York.

Longshots Pay $116 and $90 at Agua Caliente

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Feb. 6.—Longshot players from the United States who visited the race track here this afternoon were celebrating and buying nothing but the best brand of wine tonight. They cashed in heavily on two horses which won the two best races on the program.

Edisto, 8 years old, and formerly a noted handicap performer on Chicago and Maryland tracks, won the Yosemite handicap at six furlongs. In the mutuel betting he paid $116.40 for $2 to win, $34.80 to place and $6.80 to show. He came through on the inside and got the decision over Crofton and Andromeda in a stirring stretch drive.

Just before Edisto started the longshot players into their celebration, Prospect, owned by Johnny Lee of Aurora, Ill., won the fourth race and paid $90.60 for $2 in the mutuels, $56.60 to place and $19.40 to show. It also was a 6 furlong sprint.

Edisto was ridden by Jockey McHugh and Prospect by Jockey Mulrooney. Both riders are veterans.

Prep Swimmers Open Title Meet in Lake Shore A. C. Pool Today

The pick of Cook county's prep swimming talent will take to the water at the Lake Shore Athletic club this afternoon in the preliminary heats of the third annual county high school relay carnival. More than 300 will face the starter in the nine events which comprise the program. Five teams will qualify in each event for the finals, which will be held tomorrow night.

No team championship will be awarded, but swimmers from Schurz, Maine, Tilden, and Roosevelt are expected to garner most of the honors in the senior division. Fenger is favored to set the pace among the juniors.

Judging by the times recorded by several of the teams in practice, new records probably will be established in the majority of races in the two days of competition.

The presence of Norman Hines, county champion at 100 yards, should give Tilden an opportunity to set a new time in the senior back stroke. Maine looms as the contender in this race.

CHICAGO GOLDEN GLOVES QUEST OPENS TUESDAY

West Siders Fight at the Ashland Auditorium.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Bargain prices of one or two cents a bout will prevail when the first of the city sectional Golden Gloves amateur boxing trials are held at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Winners of the first four places in each class will qualify for the grand finals to be held at the Coliseum on Feb. 25, 26, 27, and 28. Victors of first and second places in the Coliseum competition will compose the Chicago team, which will meet New York at the Chicago Stadium on March 19.

Two hundred and forty-six boxers have been nominated for the Ashland Boulevard preliminaries. More than forty fights will be held each night and admission prices are only fifty cents or one dollar. Gloves will fly from seven o'clock each night until the schedule is completed.

Many to Fight Twice.

It is important that all fighters report to Harry Berz not later than 6 o'clock to be weighed and examined. The weighings and examinations will stop at 6:30 o'clock, when drawings will be made so that the first bout can be started at 7 o'clock. In the majority of classes, contestants will be compelled to fight twice on each night.

Every effort will be made to prevent boxers from the same organization meeting in the preliminaries. When the semi-finals and finals are held at the Coliseum, fighters must take the chance of the draw as it will be impossible to prevent contestants from the same club or gymnasium coming together.

The 147 pound, or welterweight, division of the Ashland Boulevard Auditorium trials. Fifty welters have entered the bouts in this class will be staged first in order to give the winners a rest for their second appearances. In the lightweight division, there are 46 entries and 38 in the featherweight. Thirty-three middleweights will compete and 26 will take part in the bantamweight bouts. The same number have entered in the 112 pound class. Thirteen light heavyweight entries were received and fourteen heavyweights.

46 Fights Each Night.

If 70 per cent of the entry appears, about 46 fights will be held each night. This means there will be continuous boxing from 7 o'clock at night until 1 o'clock in the morning. The bouts will be staged in rapid succession and no delays will be tolerated.

Entries for the north section tryouts to be held at the Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, next Thursday and Friday nights close today at midnight. Nominations received tomorrow bearing today's post mark will be accepted. The entry list in this section is so large that it would have been impossible to hold the large number of bouts on one night. Officials of the Fronton, eager to coöperate with THE TRIBUNE in staging the tourney, consented to rent the hall on Thursday night. The same rules of weighing and examinations will prevail as at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium. Boxers in this set of preliminaries must remember they report on Thursday instead of on Friday.

Legion Indorses Tourney.

At a recent meeting of the state athletic committee of the American Legion a resolution was passed endorsing the Golden Gloves tourney and assuring THE TRIBUNE of the unqualified support of every post in the state. All profits of the show will go to the Forty and Eight for the maintenance of its camp in the forest preserve for disabled world war veterans.

Tickets for the Coliseum and Stadium shows are on sale at THE TRIBUNE'S public service office, 1 South Dearborn street. There will be no reserved seats for the sectional trials. Prices of admission will be fifty cents and one dollar.

Carnera Scores Third K. O.; This Time in Second Round

Newark, N. J., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera, giant Venetian, knocked out Cowboy Bill Owens of Guthrie, Okla., in the second round of their scheduled ten round battle before 8,000 at the Velodrome A. C. tonight. He made what is believed to be a ring record for expeditious disposition of rivals, without, however, satisfying observers that he qualifies for recognition as the exceptional fighter his advance notices from abroad would have fans believe.

COWBOY OWENS.

Engaging in his third American ring effort, Carnera knocked out Owens in 23 seconds of the second round, bringing his total of American victims to three, in the limited period of six minutes twenty seconds in the aggregate.

He knocked out Big Boy Peterson in his first American start in 1 minute 10 seconds. His second start was against Elzear Rioux in Chicago last Friday, and he disposed of the Canadian in 47 seconds. Tonight Carnera upset expectations by missing a knockout in one round. But the Venetian still is to experience the test that will determine whether he registers for the ring's first class.

Right Hand Drives Turn Trick.

Carnera knocked out Owens, who claims to be a Cherokee Indian, with a succession of smashing right hand drives to the jaw, delivered just as the echo of the gong starting the second round died out. The blows were driven home in rapid fire order in a furious assault Carnera launched the moment the gong released him from his corner. They landed quite plainly on the unprotected jaw of Owens, the first jarring him from head to heel, the second tilting his head back, and, at close quarters, the third flopping the Oklahoman on his back on the ring floor, where he was counted out by Referee Gene Roman of Paterson, N. J.

The finish came spectacularly and the crowd acclaimed Carnera wildly, a demonstration to which the Italian was entitled after what can be termed his first taste of boxing against an opponent who at least threw punches at him.

Owens Misses Target.

Owens, outfought in the first round, nevertheless earned the plaudits of the gathering by surviving the session. He had a style which was orthodox and unorthodox in alternate periods, and he swung from the portside and starboard with reckless abandon. Running into a stiff left jab which almost upset him at the start of the fray, Owens backed away and then came charging. He swung wildly and missed many punches and Carnera, ever atop his foe, missed repeatedly with right handers as well.

In one exchange Owens landed a left to the jaw and clinched and as the clinch was broken Owens clipped Carnera on the jaw with a left and right. Carnera jabbed and danced away and then rushed his foe, leading both hands for the head and missing with his right as Owens landed a right for the body which seemed erratic and made Carnera look appealingly at the referee.

Carnera Good Close In.

In the clinches Carnera, of course, handled his rival like a toy and occasionally drove a solid right to the body, which made Owens hold. At long range, Owens floundered about the ring for the most part and he was relieved and encouraged by the thunderous shout from the crowd which greeted the bell ending the round and shattering the illusion that Carnera's opponents are to be limited to one round in a systematized campaign to bring him to the forefront.

In the final analysis Carnera showed that he is still in the novice class, a mighty but unschooled giant. He weighed 276 pounds and Owens 220 pounds.

Gilbert Hall Wins in Indoor Net Tourney

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Twice within a single point of defeat, Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., cofavorite with Frank Hunter for the national indoor tennis championship, gained a hard won place in the semifinal round of the title tournament at the Seventh Regiment armory today.

Ed Jenkins, a comparatively inexperienced New York youth, caught the former Canadian indoor champion off his guard and had him tottering on the brink of defeat before Hall finally took control and pulled out the match at 9-11, 13-11, 6-0.

Qualifying to meet Hall in the semifinals tomorrow, Julius Seligson, Lehigh student, who once held the national intercollegiate crown, eliminated the lone middle western standard bearer, Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, Ia., by 6-1, 6-2.

In the other half, Hunter, who holds the rank of America's second best player, came through along with Perrine Rockafellow, one time Colgate star.

In the doubles quarter finals, Hall and Kenneth Appel, South Orange, beat Irving Raymond and Raymond Stone, Columbia university, 6-3, 6-2, and tomorrow will meet Coggeshall and Dick Murphy, Utica, N. Y., who won from E. W. Burns and Reg Talmadge, New York, 6-4, 9-7.

Ruth Cuts Himself That Cake Today—He's 36 Years of Age

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Babe Ruth is preparing to cut himself a piece of cake tomorrow. It will not be a slice of the profits made by the New York Yankees, of which the Babe desires $85,000 annually on a three year contract, but a slice of birthday cake.

The home run king will be 36 years old tomorrow. He will leave his daily rounds of golf long enough to participate in a birthday party in his honor arranged by Adolph Grant of New Rochelle, N. Y., a wealthy admirer of the Bambino.

The Babe insists he is not worrying over the dispute between himself and owners of the baseball club about the matter of salary.

"About that contract I've nothing to say," said Ruth today. "I'm mum, and the next move is up to Ruppert." He insisted, though, that he was serious in his demands for an increase of some $15,000 per year. Col. Ruppert is due here next week to talk to the home run king about salary matters.

EBBETS, CHASTAIN CLASH TONIGHT IN COLISEUM FIGHT

Battling Criss, Trafton Provide Comic Relief.

Fight Decisions

Harry meets Clyde Chastain of Texas in the feature bout. He brings along an impressive record of 62 knockouts in 92 fights. If Chastain whips him, most of Chicago's ringsiders will go home broke for they have made Ebbets the 7 to 5 favorite and have wagered on him at those odds.

Ebbets has knocked over Emil Baksic and Wilson Yarbo in Chicago engagements. Chastain's record is almost as good as he has decisions over Haakon Hansen and My Sullivan, and has been beaten here only by Jackie Fields. But Chastain brings his foe down with a body punch while Ebbets not only cracks his opponents in the stomach but can rock the boys to sleep with terrific blows to the chin.

K. O. Will Make Show Success.

Neither Ebbets nor Chastain had much of a Chicago following until they were matched up to clash in this engagement. There seems to be plenty of fans who want to see Ebbets get bowled over and there are even more who are anxious to watch Chastain take one that will send him sprawling.

So the success of Mr. Dempsey's latest production here seems to depend on one or the other of the main go battlers going down for a long count.

There has to be some comedy in boxing presentations nowadays, it seems, and George Trafton, the giant football player, will tackle Battling Criss of Detroit in the clown match. "I'll knock him cold in less than a round," was Mr. Trafton's statement late last night. Trafton whipped Art Shires. Criss backed out of a match with Shires because he was under the impression he was supposed to take a dive into the dry tank for the White Sox first baseman.

Criss Makes a Statement.

"I'll hit Trafton once and it will be all over," Battling Criss said as he was about to be bedded away for the night in a south side hotel.

Joey Medill, local lightweight, and Spug Myers of Idaho will mingle in a ten round semi-windup. It will be their third meeting. Joey won the other two fights on hair line decisions and Spug is bent on winning tonight. Both are in excellent shape. They will meet at 140 pounds.

Dan Gasparo and Kayo Franklin, local 168 pounders, will open the show in a four round engagement. Walter Madey and Jackie Williams, Chicago heavyweights, will meet in the second opener of six rounds. The other bout on the card will bring together King Levinsky of the west side and Chick Rife, the Toledo, O. light heavyweight. The show will start at 8:15 o'clock.

GENARO HITS LOW; GERMAN WINS ON FOUL IN SEVENTH

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Frankie Genaro of New York threw away his chances for an easy victory when he was disqualified for fouling in the seventh round of a ten round fight with Harry Stein of Germany here tonight.

Genaro, weighing 113 pounds, conceded Stein seven pounds and apparently was coasting in to an easy triumph when the referee stepped in and awarded the decision to the German. Genaro had been warned several times for alleged low punching.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

There must be something in the name of those Blackhawks, for they seem to have the Indian sign on the leaders of the National Hockey league. Expounding their favorite thesis, "the tougher they are the higher they bounce," the Hawks whipped the Mauling Maroons of Montreal, 3 to 2, before 13,000 at the Stadium last night.

It was the third consecutive time the Hawks have beaten the leaders of the Canadian division. Last night's victory, combined with the Rangers' tie with Detroit, moved the Hawks back into second place.

Led by the front line of Vic Ripley, Mush March and Stewart Adams, the Hawks rode down the stubborn resistance of Montreal with a speed that only one Maroon, Jimmy Ward, could match. For two periods they skated their heavier opponents off their feet and then staved off a desperate final period rally, when the greater power of the Maroons began to have its effect.

All Have Been Thrillers.

Not nearly as rough as some of the bone breaking games the Hawks have played, it was a worthy third to the series between the two teams, each of which has been a thriller. All three have been decided by a single goal, but in the earlier two the Hawks came through in the last minutes of play. Last night they didn't need to, for they were always in front.

Until that last period the Hawks had everything their own way. Ripley scored with March's assistance late in the first period. March scored with the aid of Ripley and Adams late in the second. Then came a blazing final session in which Hooley Smith twice brought the heavyweight Maroons within a goal of the Hawks, which might have helped more if Adams and Ripley hadn't teamed to insert another Hawk goal between the two for the Maroons.

The Maroons brought a recurring storm of booing from the crowd by a queer sort of delayed offense, with Red Dutton holding the puck behind his own goal whenever they were a man short. The referees ignored the section of the anti-defense rule which provides the puck must all times be kept in motion and that it may not be passed backward to delay the game.

Five Maroons Attack.

Those delays weren't long, however, and not too frequently interspersed in brilliant game, and there was none of it in the last ten minutes. Those ten minutes were packed with just about as much hard shooting hockey as it was possible for twelve men to play. The Maroons, only a goal behind, even went beyond the usual last minute desperate charges of four men, with one left on defense, and every Maroon player on the ice, except the goalie, smashed down in a series of waves against the Hawks' goal.

Not a little of the credit for the Hawks' victory deservedly goes to Chuck Gardiner. The chatterbox, who guards the Hawks' nest, had one of those nights when he was almost invincible. The two goals scored against him were almost impossible stops, two that got by of a dozen more that demanded every kind of flip-flop, nose-dive and wing-over that grinning acrobat uses to keep the red light from flashing.

Maroons Start Fast.

The Maroons outplayed the Hawks at the start of the game, once Neis Stewart missing the net on a wide open shot, but the Hawks came back to take the edge in the latter part of the period. Earlier penalties had left no openings, but three minutes before the end of the period Babe Siebert was ruled off for checking Tommy Cook into the boards and Coach Dick Irvin sent in a fresh Hawk line of Ripley, March, and Adams, who caged the Hawks' first goal on a brilliant play by March.

The trio carried the attack to the Maroons' net and lost the puck to George Boucher and Hooley Smith, who stood for a second with the puck between them, six feet from the edge of the net. That second was all that March needed for he sped between them, poke checking the puck out, and shot. Walsh saved but went down

Hawks Increase Lead.

Late in the second period that same line scored again, giving the Hawks a two goal lead, for they had held the Maroons scoreless despite the brilliant rushes of Jimmy Ward and Nels Stewart's loafing offside waiting for a pass. Ripley took the puck down left ice on this goal, with Adams trailing him and March winging down the right. Ripley shot and Walsh blocked it, the puck rolling to the side. Adams was on it like a cat, pushed a short pass to March in front of the net. Walsh had been pulled over to stop a shot from Adams, and March drove the puck past him.

The Maroons began the final period auspiciously when Smith scored the Maroons' first goal two minutes after the first faceoff. From center ice he drove straight in, faked the defense apart and slipped through to whip a shot under Gardiner as the goalie dove to stop it. Penalties came thickly as the game grew rougher and the Hawks scored again while the Maroons were a man short.

Smith Scores Again.

Less than three minutes later Smith again pulled the Maroons up within a goal again. Stewart took the puck on a faceoff by the Hawks' net after a tieup on the boards, spun around and whipped a pass to Smith, who was waiting in front of the net without a defense man within yards of him, and he shoved it past Gardiner.

That turned loose every ounce of power in the Maroons' attack and 13,000 fans stood and yelled as the Hawks battled them check for check. The puck was almost continuously in Hawk territory and the threats of a Maroon score were almost continuous but never became a fact.

COUGARS, RANGERS TIE.

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Detroit Cougars ended a four game losing streak tonight by playing their second overtime tie game of the hockey season with the New York Rangers, the score being 1 to 1. Billy Beveridge, Detroit goalie, was responsible for stopping the Ranger attack. He made 51 saves. The second period brought the scoring. Bun Cook buzzed a shot past Beveridge early in the period. Then George Hay beat Roach to tie the score.

CANADIENS, LEAFS DRAW.

TORONTO, Que., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs put on a spectacular hockey game here tonight, emerging with an overtime 3-3 deadlock for their trouble. Individual honors went to Charlie Conacher, who scored all three goals for the Leafs and engaged Howie Morenz in a struggle of speed, with honors even.

Storks' Roost at Sunset Gives Becker Thrill

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Punta Gorda, Fla., Feb. 6.—If you want an unforgettable picture of Florida bird life, a sort of outdoor pastel with a semi-tropical setting, come along into the Florida prairie barrens east of this town and watch the storks come in to their roost at sunset.

Last night we had a ringside seat for this interesting show. The sun, spreading a red and orange glow over the western horizon, had just dipped below the top of an extensive cypress swamp.

There must have been at least 75 of the big storks or ibises standing around the edge of the shallow pool or in the water. You can imagine the picture these birds made in the obscure light, tall, dignified white fellows silhouetted against a dark background. The wood ibis may exceed 40 inches in length. His head and neck are bare of feathers. A long big bill adds to his old world "storky" appearance.

Last night they appeared over the tree tops against the orange glow of the western sky. There was a picture! Three would come. Then nine in a bunch. Then seven or eight. All winging their way in graceful flight, alternated at short intervals with long sails.

Coasting down, they would bank around the pond and then light. We watched them for some time, these long-necked, long-billed fellows as silent as geese are noisy when the latter assemble for the night.

This wood ibis is a true stork and it is unfortunate that it is not called such. The name ibis is a misnomer. Of the three species of storks in North and South America, this Florida species is the only one found north of Mexico.

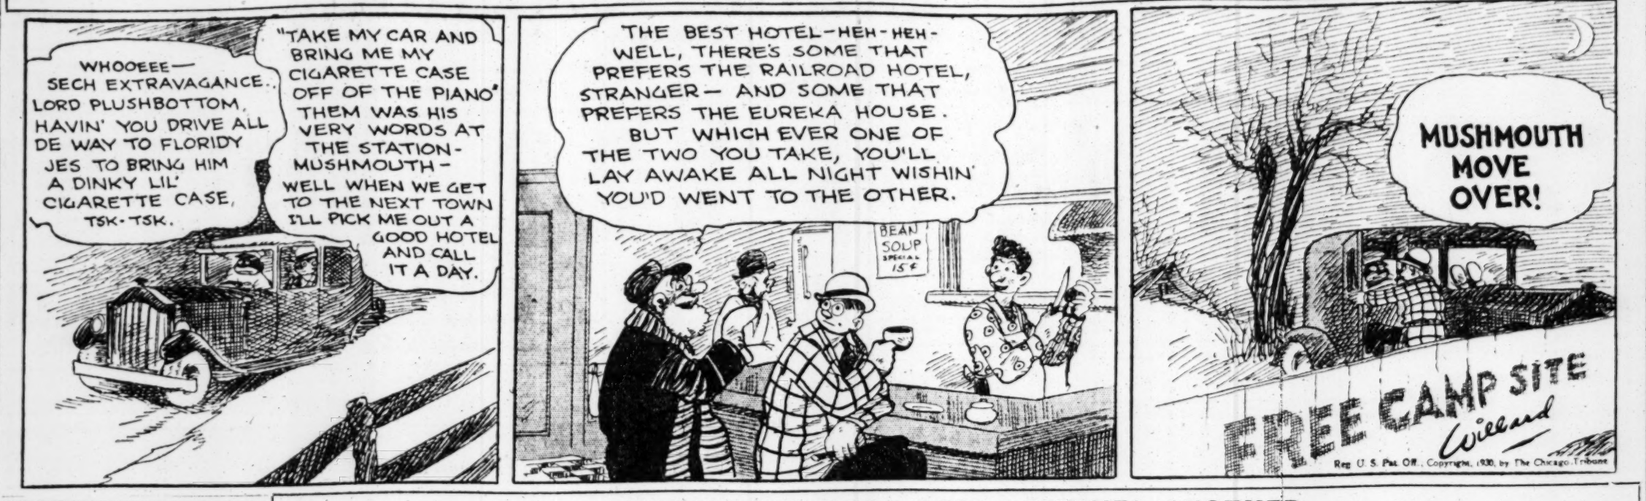
MOON MULLINS—THE TOWN BOOSTER



SMITTY—ONE GOOD BOSS DESERVES ANOTHER

POT-POURRI.

DID you ever play backgammon when you were a youngster? Well, "Modern Backgammon" is coming back. It already enjoys a vogue in New York, Miami, Palm Beach, and places where one may be a bit careless about the size of the stakes, for the modern game affords such opportunity. In fact, you always are "vulnerable," as they say in contract.

This game now is being played at the Racquet and Tennis, C. A. A., and University clubs here. Ralph Bond is expositor and advocate in these parts. Mr. Bond, it may be explained for the few who do not know him, is one of those chaps with a prosperous business who finds time from business cares to master bridge, contract, piquet, chemin de fer, checkers, other indoor sports—and backgammon.

Mr. Bond offered to teach us backgammon. He played a practice game for our benefit. We suggested it seemed a bit intricate and that our employers might at any time insist we take our 1929 vacation, so it would be better to wait. If this vacation contingency does not materialize, we'll be glad to tell you more about backgammon.

That Pest Welch, Purdue's all-American back, has accepted a coaching position under Jimmy Phelan at University of Washington is not surprising. Following the Big Ten football season, Coach Jimmy told The Wake: "Welch was the greatest player I ever coached. Why, he even taught me many things. He was absolutely unselfish. Sometimes he would ask a change of signals to carry the ball when it looked as if the play might not succeed. At other times, when his signal was called, he would ask the ball be given to some one else as a carrier, with the remark, 'I'll take out that big full back,' naming an opposition player who was giving trouble by his defense. He was for the team first. That's one reason why he was so valuable."

It's strange, but we just can't help wondering about the weather in Florida at this season of the year. We're not feeling very well, either, if that interests you.

CRANE QUINTETS DEFEAT TULEY IN DOUBLE HEADER

Crane Tech heavies and lights scored another double victory in the west section yesterday by defeating Tuley on the home floor. The heavies won, 25 to 13, and the lights, 20 to 18.

Both teams were pressed to win, the Tuley heavies holding the league champions to a 13 to 13 tie at the end of the third quarter. A free throw by Denenberg broke up the tie and from then on the champions never were headed. Milk Bocek led the scorers with 9 points. Crane lights led by 4 points at the end of the third period.

HARRISON LIGHTS WIN NO. 7; BEAT MEDILL, 43 TO 23

Harrison Tech lightweights yesterday invaded Medill's gym for a 43 to 23 victory, their seventh in the west section of the City league. The result tied Harrison with Marshall for the sectional lead, both holding records of seven won and one lost.

The Hornets led 8 to 1 early in the game, but baskets by Rocco Yacilla brought the home team up on even terms. Harrison recovered, however, and led at the half, 20 to 12. Capt. Odron, Ed Polivka, Jim Sisulak, Abe Gordon, and Ray Skora divided scoring honors for the winners. Lineup:

Marquette Five Invades Purple Court Tonight

Northwestern's basketball team, for the last two weeks engaged in mid-year examinations, will swing back into action at Patten gymnasium tonight with Marquette university providing the opposition. The B teams of the two schools will play this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Marquette has a veteran troupe of players, a team which Tuesday night lost a two point decision to Notre Dame. Cord Lipe, the former Illinois star and assistant coach, has developed a scrappy aggregation at Marquette.

Included in the Milwaukee school's starting lineup are two Chicago boys who formerly starred on Paddy Driscoll's team at St. Mel high. They are Francis McElligott, forward, and Joe King, guard. Capt. Jimmy O'Donnell will be remembered for his playing with Marquette academy in the Loyola national tournament in 1925 and 1926.

SPENCER MEETS DEBAETS; OPENS SIX DAY RACE

Bike race fans expected to put in some extra hours of sleep last night in anticipation of a wakeless session at the Chicago Stadium next week, when the riders stage their long six day trip to nowhere.

But so many arguments developed as to whether Freddie Spencer can beat Gerard Debaets in a mile race the fans didn't have a chance to get any "shut-eye." The Italians yelled and talked so much for Debaets the Americans were forced to stay up and talk about Spencer, who is a Yankee, hailing from Plainfield, N. J.

If Spencer hadn't been matched to meet Debaets in a mile race in the Saturday night sprints which will serve as an appetizer for the opening of a sleepless week on Sunday night the bike fans might have toppled over into bed, slept soundly for twelve or twenty-four hours, and then appeared at the opening on Sunday night in the pink of condition. Now they'll have to lose more sleep.

BOTH ENGLAND, U. S. MAKE CUT IN BANK RATE

Brokers' Loans Up 57 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Coöperation between the United States federal reserve system and the Bank of England to foster the prosperity of both countries and to encourage trade by relatively easy money rates was evidenced in no uncertain manner yesterday. The English institution lowered its discount rate from 5 to 4½ per cent and the New York reserve bank quickly followed with a reduction in its rediscount rate from 4½ to 4 per cent.

Although both events had been expected for the last week or two, they were none the less effective in promoting the recent revival of confidence in the near future. It is no secret that the directors of the New York institution desired to lower the rediscount rate a week ago, believing that the time not only was justified by money market conditions and the deflation of stock market credit but that it would promote the usual expansion of trade in the spring.

However, it appears that the federal reserve board feared such action might encourage speculation and also cause further exports of gold to England. But with the English bank taking initial action, the second possibility becomes remote and the reserve board apparently has been weaned to the idea that speculation will be held within reasonable bounds.

Third Since October.

The present reduction by the New York reserve bank is the third since October, when the rediscount rate had been brought by successive boosts to 6 per cent in an effort to halt unbridled speculation and inflated stock prices. The rate was cut to 5 per cent and then to 4½ per cent in November following the market collapse. The new 4 per cent rate is the lowest since May, 1928.

The Richmond federal reserve bank lowered its rate from 5 to 4½ per cent yesterday, thus making seven reserve banks with a 4½ per cent rate and four with a 5 per cent rate.

It is evident that the Bank of England has built up what is regarded as a safe gold reserve and does not expect further withdrawals for French and German account. Therefore it is free to help English industry by easing money rates. Within the last week or two the Bank of France cut its rate from 3½ to 3 per cent and the German reichsbank lowered its rate from 6½ to 6 per cent.

Gold Movement.

The movement of gold between the United States and other countries again exhibited stabilization this week. Gold imports totaled $1,556,000, while exports were $158,000 and gold earmarked for foreign account increased $1,300,000.

Stronger prices and greater activity in the stock market, coupled with a revival in new security issues, resulted in an increase of $57,000,000 in brokers' loans in the last week. The total now stands at $3,402,000,000, according to the weekly report issued by the federal reserve board yesterday. The current total, however, is $2,267,000,000 under a year ago.

Corporations and other leaders, exclusive of banks, withdrew $101,000,000 from the call money market, evidently for the purpose of meeting month end interest and dividend payments. They now are lending $1,074,000,000 less than a year ago. On the other hand, the New York banks increased their own loans by $105,000,000, and the interior banks furnished $52,000,000 additional. However, the New York and interior banks respectively are lending $188,000,000 and $1,004,000,000 less than a year ago.

A desire to ease money rates and furnish ample credit for commercial purposes is manifest in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued last night. While borrowings of the member banks declined $25,519,000 to a total of $381,422,000, the reserve banks released credit by purchasing $37,319,000 of bankers' acceptances and $1,308,000 of government securities.

Deposits expanded $20,288,000, but note circulation fell $18,420,000. Gold and total reserves declined $8,649,000 and $11,921,000, respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities sagged to 78 per cent, compared with 78.3 per cent last week.

At New York, member bank borrowings declined $10,384,000 to a total of $54,720,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $15,861,000. Deposits rose $22,978,000. Reserves declined $4,519,000 and the reserve ratio fell to 76.5 per cent, compared with 77.3 per cent a week ago. At Chicago, member bank borrowings declined $2,756,000 to a total of $74,798,000. Bankers' acceptances increase $5,010,000. Deposits held about stationary. Reserves increased $1,869,000 and the reserve ratio held unchanged at 78.5 per cent.

Says Chicago Is Slighted in Rail Grouping Plan

BY SCRUTATOR.

A valid objection to the proposed railroad consolidation plan of the interstate commerce commission is that it bears internal evidence of having been designed to bring together the political and railroad centers of the country.

An expression of this view is given by Slason Thompson in the bulletin of railway news and statistics. He points out first of all that the transportation problem of the United States is different from that of the principal European countries. London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, and Moscow all are natural railway centers as well as capitals. On the other hand, says Mr. Thompson points out, our political center was fixed when there was little to the nation but the Atlantic rim.

In the development since revolutionary days, the railroads followed the natural lines and centered themselves in Chicago. This was not done because gentlemen thinking for the whole country sat down and decided it should be. It occurred because it was logical; because the railroads followed the best routes and because the center of population is due south of Lake Michigan.

Suggests Alternative Plan.

It can hardly be contended that the interstate commerce plan is designed to give Chicago any direct outlets to the south except the Illinois Central, or that it is likely to aid the flow of traffic from the west into the established, largest terminal of the world.

"Including the Canadian Pacific, there are eight existing main routes from the Pacific to this natural center," states Mr. Thompson, "but only the Canadian Pacific, the Milwaukee and the Santa Fe start and finish on their own rails. The Great Northern and Northern Pacific are blocked off by the commission plan at St. Paul; the Union Pacific at Omaha and the Western Pacific and its connections at Kansas City or St. Louis.

He suggests, with the qualification that he does not believe any consolidation likely to assure an improvement on a hundred years of selection, an alternative plan, with nineteen systems. Important in his plan is the giving of the Monon to the Atlantic Coast Line, furnishing a good service through the south with the Louisville and Nashville connection; the assignment of the C. & E. I. to the Southern system, and a reformation of the big systems in the west to bring them all into Chicago.

Need Centering at Chicago.

The Union Pacific and the Northwestern would be combined; the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Burlington; the Rock Island and the Southern Pacific; the Frisco and the Chicago and Alton, and the Missouri Pacific and the Chicago Great Western. Thus it would seem, under this plan, that a maximum of the southern and western connections would be brought into Chicago. All the biggest systems, except those in New England, are made to point to this center.

Something has been said here before about the unwisdom of the whole consolidation program. It seems illogical to force shippers now on the lines of low cost to take over payment of charges on others that pass through high mountains and have comparatively small traffic. That is destructive of natural advantages. But if we are to have consolidation, a centering in Chicago must be accomplished; otherwise only the Atlantic coast will gain anything.

New York, Feb. 6.—Due to increased competition in the automobile industry, earnings of the General Motors corporation last year declined $28,185,840, to total $248,282,268, compared to $276,468,108 in 1928, according to preliminary figures made public today. Earnings are equivalent to $5.49 a share on the 43,500,000 common shares outstanding, against $6.14 a share in 1928, figured on a comparable basis.

Retail sales by General Motors dealers, however, increased last year, amounting to 1,860,403 cars, against 1,842,443 units in 1928. General Motors sales to dealers also were higher, totaling 1,899,268, against 1,810,806 in 1928.

Net earnings for the quarter ended Dec. 31, when general business took a sharp drop along with the stock market, were $25,433,933 after charges and federal taxes, and equal, after preferred and debenture dividends, to 53 cents a share on 43,500,000 common shares. This compares with $70,988,025, or $1.58 a share, in the preceding quarter, and $35,933,495, or 77 cents a share on the same common share basis, in the final 1928 quarter.

Fulfill Expectations.

Net earnings in the first quarter of 1929 amounted to $61,910,987, and in the second quarter, $89,949,323. The earnings for the year were about in line with Wall street's expectations.

After making millionaires of eighty of its executives some years ago, the General Motors corporation is preparing to repeat the process, this time for an even large number. The Managers' Securities company, through which General Motors made its famous "eighty" independent, is to be replaced by the General Motors Management corporation. A special stockholders' meeting has been called for March 5 to act upon the proposal.

The capitalization of the new concern will include $5,000,000 of common stock and $50,000,000 of seven year serial bonds. The General Motors corporation will sell about 1,373,000 shares of its common stock at $40 a share to the new company. This stock has been acquired during the last three years at an average cost below the proposed sale price. The new company will defray the cost by selling its own stock and bonds.

Steel Company Reports.

The annual reports issued by two more steel companies today were in line with preceding reports showing 1929 was a banner year in the industry. The Crucible Steel Company of America reported net profits of $8,162,343, equivalent to $11.66 a share on the common stock, compared with net profit of $5,634,417, or $7.06 a share in 1928. Chairman H. S. Wilkinson predicted this year will show increases over last year in both volume of business and profits.

The American Steel Foundries reported net profits of $5,121,487, equivalent to $4.70 a share on the common stock, compared with $3,256,072, or $3.10 a share, in 1928, figured on a comparable basis. George Murnane and Charles A. Monroe were elected directors to fill vacancies. Walter C. Doering was elected a vice president.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 6.—The stock market started off with a spread eagle rush today, but ran into rough weather along toward noon, and bogged completely down before the close. Final prices were generally 1 to 5 points below those of yesterday.

Volume also fell off somewhat, registering at 3,708,970 shares, as compared with Wednesday's 1930 record of 4,362,470.

Early buoyancy was based on news of the reduction in the British bank rate from 5 to 4½ per cent and the popular expectancy that the directors

New York Life Reports Good January Business

New York, Feb. 7.—The New York Life Insurance company's dividends in 1930 will amount to $71,775,000, according to the annual statement. The new business in 1929 amounted to over $953,000,000. On Dec. 31, 1929, the insurance in force was $7,266,000,000, while the company's total resources were $1,665,000,000, invested chiefly in bonds and real estate mortgages. The company in January had the greatest business month in its history, receiving more than 52,800 applications for insurance amounting to $185,500,000.

Copper Mining Co. Plans Decrease in Production

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—January production of copper of the Calumet and Arizona Mining company totaled 9,182,000 pounds. The company plans to cut production to 7,500,000 pounds this month.

United Founders Corporation

A Holding Company, organized in February, 1929, which has effected important alliances in profitable fields and now has resources exceeding $200,000,000.

The market value of the Corporation's investments owned on December 31, 1929, taken at then current market quotations, was in excess of cost.

For the fiscal period ended November 30, 1929, net cash earnings of $3.54 per share plus equity in the undistributed cash earnings of subsidiaries of $1.90 per share, and stock dividends of $1.03 per share, were equivalent to $6.47 per share on the average number of Common shares outstanding during the period.

We recommend this Common stock at current market prices for investment.

33 NORTH LA SALLE STREET

SERVING the public, according to the lifelong idea of this banking institution, involves far more than the mere physical ability to serve. There must also be the desire to serve. Of the two . . . the latter seems to us of greatest importance.

Since its beginning, over 68 years ago, the Foreman-State National Bank has held to one fundamental principle—generous, friendly service to all who enter its doors. Service—born of a genuine desire to serve.

Today . . . this concept, long known as the bank's guiding influence . . . finds greater expression in one of the world's truly complete banking institutions. Its services, embracing every function of banking, are unlimited. Its personnel is capable, human, friendly. Through great resources it is able to handle any problem of finance.

To the great physical size of the institution is added the vital factor of men and minds, capable of approaching any problem of business or finance with the sound, seasoned judgment only years can bring.

Thus, with the desire to serve has been combined, in even greater measure, the ability to serve. We extend to you, to the fullest degree, the obvious advantages of this rare combination.

Liquidation Turns Back Rising Prices.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Trading on the Chicago Stock Exchange started the day yesterday with a zest which was reminiscent of the bull market days of '29. A selling squall overtook the list, however, before prices got very far, and what promised to be a bullish session turned into a ragged trading day. After the liquidation spent itself the list steadied noticeably, but the net result was an uneven closing price column.

Utility stocks displayed the most uniform strength and most of the issues in the group finished moderately higher, but the automotives were soft while gains and losses among the specialties were about evenly divided. Transactions totaled 357,400 shares.

Center of Interest.

Middle West Utilities was the main center of interest throughout the day. On sales of more than 85,000 shares the stock rose to a new high for the year and closed at 31 with a net gain of a little more than a point. Other Insull issues advanced in sympathy with the leader. Central and South West gained 1¼ and Commonwealth Edison rose 2¼.

Corporation Securities, Insull holding firm, was another to reach a new high closing at 69¾. Insull Utility improved a major fraction. Other investment issues closed irregularly with Chicago corporation most active and slightly higher.

Among the specialties Art Metal Works was active and a point higher at the close. Strength in the issues may be accounted for by reports of good future prospects. Jefferson Electric and Construction Materials also improved more than a point each.

Radio stock were quiet and comparatively inactive. Trading in Grigsby, which has long been one of the leaders on the board in point of volume, fell off to about 2,100 shares and the prices was slightly lower. Atlas Stores declined about a point.

Auburn Off 8 Points.

Minus signs and fractions appeared opposite most of the automotive issues at the close, while Auburn dropped eight points on light trade. Houdaille issues were soft as were Bendix and Borg Warner. Noblitt Sparks eased up an eighth but trading in the issue was dull.

Noblitt Sparks Industries formal report for 1929 made public yesterday showed net earnings of $675,700, equal to $9 a share on the common stock. The figure was substantially in excess of the $294,604 earned in 1928 which was equivalent to $4.91 a share on a smaller capitalization. Gross sales for 1929 were $5,362,158 against $2,901,371 in the previous year. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 shows current assets of $1,503,116 compared with current liabilities of $217,027.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Cotton goods continued generally quiet in gray goods lines. Printed wash fabrics, fancy domestics, spreads, towels, and bleached cottons were selling moderately. Expectations are general that the garment strike will not be prolonged. Silk was slightly firmer. Silk merchandise is quieter because of the strike. Worsted dress materials are selling in a filling in way. Further lines of overcoatings are being shown for fall.

Top yesterday, $12.60; average, $11.20.
Receipts at Chicago today, 1,500 cattle, 30,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep.

Hogs recovered Wednesday's losses on yesterday's active market, both the extreme top and general average prices equaling the previous high marks of the season at $10.70 and $10.40, respectively. Prices finished at the high point of the day in view of the expected decreases in supplies the rest of the week.

Small packers and shippers bought freely at the upturn, while larger packers refused to follow. However, few of the 7,000 in the pens at the close were offered for sale when only 30,000 were estimated for today, against 40,623 the previous Friday, 35,483 a year ago, and 43,161 two years ago. Five of the leading markets expect only 62,000 against 87,300 a week ago.

Fancy Beeves Absent.

Although yesterday's meager supply of 4,000 cattle, among the smallest in recent years for Thursday, blocked buyers' attempts to slash prices again, activity was lacking and all but a few well finished beeves had to be peddled before a sale could be made.

Fancy baby beef yearling steers were absent again and prime 1,474 pound averages topped the market at $15.25. A load of 1,505 pound steers sold at $14.50. Bulk of sales at $10.50 @13.25, compared with $11.00@14.00 the previous Thursday. Some plain quality 1,188 pound cattle sold as low as $10.00, and 700@900 pound averages of common quality sold at $9.00. Best cows and heifers were stronger, while others ruled weak. Calves sold steady at the recent sharp decline. Stockers and feeders were hard to dispose of at steady rates.

Market Semi-Demoralized.

The market for lambs entered a semi-demoralized condition yesterday when too many medium and heavy lambs were dumped at Chicago. New low levels were established on all weights, stock exceeding 90 lbs in weight suffering the brunt of the 25@ 50c decline. Top fat lambs declined to $12.50, being only 10c above the lowest top since 1922. Choice light and handy weights were scarce and in fairly good demand at the least decline, city butchers and shippers taking several loads at $12.50. The supply on sale, however, consisted largely of lambs averaging 90@100 lbs, at $10.00@12.00. Some 108 lb averages sold at $9.75 on afternoon rounds. Aged sheep sold steady and yearlings 25c lower. Feeding lambs were unchanged, with good kinds at $11.50.

JAN. SALES SHOW INCREASES FOR CHAIN STORES

The Simmons company reported a gain of 9.32 per cent in its January sales. The total figure was $3,065,729, compared with $2,804,253 for January last year.

The National Tea company reports a slight increase in its sales for January. The total was $7,333,919. This compares with $7,272,103.

S. S. Kresge company reports January sales totaled $9,351,731, against $9,018,333 in January, 1929, an increase of 3.68 per cent. The company has 584 American stores and 59 in Canada.

RAILROAD NOTES

The American Refrigerator company is in the market for 1,000 refrigerator cars, according to Railway Age, and the Van Sweringen lines are planning to buy 91 passenger cars. The Pennsylvania has ordered five combination baggage-passenger cars from the J. G. Brill company.

The New York Central railroad company announced yesterday that it had applied to the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue 75,000 shares of its capital stock to be offered to officers and employés for subscription on a monthly payment plan at $130 per share. Recently the stock has been selling around $180 per share.

The Erie railroad has placed orders for 450 gondola cars with the Greenville Steel Car company, 800 seventy-ton hopper cars with Standard Steel Car company, 500 fifty ton box cars, and 200 side door auto cars with American Car and Foundry, 100 end-door auto and 100 furniture cars with Pressed Steel Car company.

Permission to sell $20,000,000 in gold bonds sought by the Louisville and Nashville railroad in an application to the interstate commerce commission. The bonds already have been sold to J. P. Morgan & Co., subject to approval of the commission, at 92¼ per cent. Of the issue approximately $5,000,000 is to be used for improvements and the remainder for financing purposes.

MAY TRANSFER OWNERSHIP OF OREGON ELEC CO.

Negotiations are now being conducted between the Public Utility Holding corporation, formed by the Harris Forbes and American Founders interests last fall and the Central Public Service corporation of Chicago, with a view to the transfer of the former company's holdings in the Portland Electric Power company to the Central Public Service corporation, it was announced yesterday. The consummation of this deal will make Central Public Service one of the leading utility holding companies in the United States, with assets of approximately $300,000,000.

The proposed transaction will be undertaken through an exchange of Portland Electric Power stocks for the class A and voting stocks of the Central Public Service system and the payment of a large amount of cash to the Public Utility Holding corporation.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE HIGHER AFTER SELLING

Eastern Buying Helps to Absorb Surplus.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Heavy buying of wheat futures by houses with eastern connections and by shorts absorbed the surplus in the pit after general liquidation early yesterday had carried all deliveries except the May to a new low on the crop.

March sold at $1.12 on the dip, but advanced 4⅛ from the low, and the finish was at the top with net gains of 1⅝@1⅞c, March being $1.15⅞@1.16 and May, $1.20½@1.20⅝. There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the buying.

Foreign news early was distinctly bearish, with Russia offering wheat to the United Kingdom, and Liverpool closed 1⅝@2⅛d lower. Winnipeg failed to fully reflect the upturn in Chicago, and gained only ⅜c for the day. Argentine markets were weak early. Buenos Ayres closed ¼@⅜c lower, rallying over 1c from the low point.

Fear Farm Board Action.

Fear of farm board activities, and the possibility that the latter would feel called upon to support the wheat market in case of a radical decline in values tends to cause many traders who are bearish to avoid the short side on the breaks. It is figured that any action taken by the board would not be bearish.

Russia has embarked on a very elaborate centralized farm program, and the necessity to secure money to pay for the needed machinery is given in cables as the main factor in causing exports of wheat, although it is claimed that there is little to spare. Another cable said Russia was trying to arrange credit abroad against further shipments of 250,000 tons of all grain. So far this season exports of wheat have been 952,000 bu from that country.

Liquidation continues in wheat in Liverpool, and prices there dropped to a new low for the season on all deliveries. At 10 a. m. Chicago time yesterday March wheat here was $1.13¼, while the same month in Buenos Ayres was $1.11 and in Liverpool, $1.21⅛. The difference between the prices in exporting countries and Liverpool is regarded as abnormally small, although a charter was reported at the gulf at equal to 4.8c per bu.

Corn Rallies with Wheat.

Corn was easier with wheat early, but rallied with that grain later and closed ¼@½c higher, with March 88c, and May, 91½@91⅝c. Trade was mainly of a local character. The open interest in corn is gradually increasing and is now 40,938,000 bu, or about 10,000,000 bu larger than at the recent low point.

Commission house buying and short covering in oats gave that grain a relatively firm undertone, with the close at net gains of ¼@½c, with March finishing at 44½c, and May, 46c. Cash interests were fair sellers at times. Reports of damage to the southern winter oats crop attracted some attention.

Liquidation was on in rye early with the nearby deliveries selling at a new low on the crop, but the market rallied toward the last with wheat and closed ¼@1¼c higher, with March, 83¼c, and May, 84¾c. There was some selling credited to foreigners. The Hamburg, Germany, market collapsed and declined 6½c per bu.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—COFFEE—Futures were quiet today, with prices lower under liquidation and some European selling promoted by easier closing cables from Brazil. No. 7 contracts closed 18@23 points net lower; sales, 19,000 bags. Santos contracts closed at a net decline of 17@24 points; sales, 13,000 bags. Closing quotations: Santos contracts, March, 13.01c; May, 12.10c; July, 11.50c; September, 11.10c; December, 10.88c. No. 7 prices follow:

BUTTER MARKET ERRATIC

After sharp fluctuations butter futures for February delivery finished at the previous figure on the Chicago Mercantile exchange while March contracts eased slightly. The butter make was about 500,000 lbs above a week ago, but 181,000 lbs below the corresponding week last year. Sales were 63 cars and receipts 4,406 tubs.

Expecting larger receipts by the end of the month, egg traders let the futures drop somewhat in spite of a firmer spot market. Sales were 74 cars and receipts 2,254 cases. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

With the heaviest buying of wheat that has been on any day this week, attributed to eastern shorts, traders were less bearish at the close, although it was said that the disposition is to sell on all sharp bulges and be more careful about getting too large a line, as the market is not broad enough to permit handling them without creating sharp fluctuations.

Recommendations of the wheat advisory committee of the farm board that a stabilizing corporation be formed to take care of the coöps. was regarded as likely to have a bullish influence on wheat values. It was also said that the continued absorption of cash wheat by the farm board coöperatives forces millers into the market in competition with the coöps. and that eventually it should have a strengthening influence on wheat values.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but, in doing so, shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jimes rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards, Shear kills Doc Brown, who, he claimed, had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim meets Sackville, who is buying his cattle and who offers him a job with him.

INSTALLMENT XI.

THE FIGHT.

They walked out together to an adjoining restaurant. Jim chose a table in a corner, his back against the wall and his face to the door. Sackville had started to take that chair but he surrendered it at the Texan's request.

"Are you superstitious?" the Englishman asked.

"About sitting with my back to a door of a public eating place in this town—yes," Jim answered grimly.

"Why in this town, if I may ask?"

"Because I have enemies. It's a long story."

Sackville was about to make a comment upon the lawlessness of this frontier country when he observed that Rutledge was not paying attention to him. His gaze was fixed on some point over the Englishman's left shoulder.

Looking around, Sackville saw that three men had come into the restaurant and were walking straight to their table. One of the three was the marshal, Shear. The other two he did not know. Simultaneously he was aware that the Texan, on the opposite side of the table, had pushed his chair back. An odd sensation ran up and down Sackville's spine.

"I'm going to arrest you, Rutledge," the marshal said harshly. There was a look of annoyance on his face, as though he were doing this against his own wishes.

Jim had risen. He did not look at the marshal but at the two men standing beside the officer. The men were Sam Moss and his brother, Peter. His gaze held steadily to them. He knew that a critical situation had arisen. It was possible, probable, that within a few seconds guns would be roaring. Jim's first remark was characteristic. He spoke to Shear, though his eyes did not shift to the marshal.

"All right. I don't want him. He can go," Shear said.

"See you later," Jim said to his new friend, without looking at him.

"What does this mean? I don't understand, you know," Sackville responded doubtfully.

"None of yore business. Hit the grit, fellow," Sam Moss ordered with savage impatience.

Sackville was not a timid man, but he did not know the factors which went to make up this situation. Shear stood for the law. If he had come to arrest Rutledge there was apparently nothing to be done about it. Reluctantly he rose and drew back from the table.

"I'll take your pistol," Shear said to the man he had come to arrest.

"Just a moment, marshal." Jim spoke softly, spacing his words, in a voice chill with menace. "Is it yore idea to take my sixshooter and let my enemies kill me? Because it's not mine."

"He's resistin' arrest," Pete cried exultantly.

"No," Jim denied. "Do you need all this help, Mr. Shear, to take me to jail?"

"No, by gum, I don't," the officer flung back, angrily.

"Why bring it, then? Volunteer deputies, I reckon. You can have my pistol soon as these fellows go."

To Sackville it seemed that all four guns flashed into the air at the same time and without warning. Shear's broad body leaped forward between the Moss brothers and their intended victim. His arm swung up and down. The long barrel of his revolver struck Jim on the forehead. The boy tottered back, clung to the wall a moment, and collapsed.

"Don't you! Don't you!" he snarled, his face distorted by rage. "I'll jump lead in you both."

"That's a lie. You came here to kill him. Get out. Both of you. Sudden."

"What's eatin' you, Joe?" gasped Pete, taken aback at this surprising transformation. "He's no friend of yours, is he?"

"Get out." His eyes blazed at Sam Moss furiously. "And don't you monkey in my private business, young fellow, or I'll send you to hell on a shutter. That goes for old Dave, too. Tell him for me."

The brothers stared at him, uncertain how to meet this unexpected defiance. They dared not look at each other. The instant snatched for a consultation of the eyes might prove fatal. Sam made choice for both of them.

"All right, Joe. It's yore business to arrest this bird, not ours. But I don't get you. Thought you were our friend."

"Friend, eh? I've heard about you callin' at the 'dobe house, the other side of the tracks. Stay away. You hear me? Marked private property."

Sam's beady eyes narrowed to shining slits. "Since when, Joe?"

Once more Sam made his choice, and it was not for immediate war. He laughed heartily, without mirth. "Come on, Pete. Seems we're not wanted here," he said, backing toward the door.

"You hit me with yore gun," he complained.

"Lucky for you I did. Soon as you're ready we'll drift to the calaboose."

Jim spent the rest of the day and the succeeding night in jail. He was released the morning of the second day. Sackville and Pendleton had made the necessary arrangements for bail. The charges against him included horse stealing, rustling cattle, and attempt to kill.

You could hear Harrison Pendleton's voice, so Chan Rutledge claimed, half across the state of Texas. The hearty vitality of the man boomed out in it. When he had anything to say not meant for the entire world he had no resort to whispers.

He was whispering now, as he leaned across a card table in a private room of the Longhorn saloon.

"I don't get this straight, Jim. Something back of it. When we first met up with Shear, two-three days ago, he was in cahoots with old man Moss. I could see that. So could you. There's been some kind of a bust up. You had no objection to you gettin' outa the calaboose. Fact, it looked to me like he was kinda helping us when we took yore case up with Drachman that morning. Why? What's been going on we don't know?"

Jim shook his head. "Shear's gun knocked me plumb out, but according to Mr. Sackville's story the marshal got on the prod considerable with his friends, the Moss boys, especially with Sam. There's no doubt he saved my life after he wiped me with his pistol."

"Why? He could have got away with the resisting arrest story. It's been done a hundred times, and as I understand it you had yore gun out. Plenty of excuse to bump you off or let his friends do it." The cattleman put his forearms on the table and frowned ruminatively across at a steel engraving of an eastern houri stepping coyly into her bath.

"You can figure it two ways," Jim said. "I've been told Shear is vain. Maybe he just wouldn't stand for any one buttin' into an arrest he was making. That's not an entirely satisfactory explanation, I'll admit."

"How will this do then? He and old Dave Moss hadn't been gettin' along fine, say. We'll put it that Shear was sore at him, an' this gave him a chance to explode. He sure enough read the riot act to Sam, according to Mr. Sackville. It was war walk, an' Sam choked the horn and chawed leather. Didn't want to be number twenty-five, don't you reckon?"

Pendleton looked at his watch. "I told Jerry Denver to report to me here at ten. Time he was coming. Thought he might pick up some news for us."

From the big room below there floated up to them the strains of a piano playing, "Hogs in the Cornfield," and the sounds of feet shuffling in quadrille. A door opened. Some one was moving up the stairs. On the chances that it might be an enemy Jim's hand edged toward the butt of his revolver.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Well, she said reluctantly, these are the facts concerning "The Show Boat" as I see them:

It is not Edna Ferber's "Show Boat" nor is it that of Florenz Ziegfeld. It is Universal's own peculiar mixture, blended by somebody who read the book, saw the play, said [I suspect], "Poof, I can make a better 'Show Boat' than either of these!" and set to work with more enthusiasm than perspicacity on his revised version. If Mr. Ziegfeld did indeed proclaim, "This is the greatest show I ever produced," he must have been referring to his own stage production, for his only connection with the film—that I could discover—has to do with the prologue in which Jim Bledsoe sings "Ol' Man River," Helen Morgan croons "Bill," and Aunt Jemima and chorus shout "Hail, Fellow." These folks, who were in the play, appear at no time in the picture proper.

"The Show Boat" is two hours long. It is bulky with incident it would have been better off without, and dispenses with tragic and humorous episodes that could have made it one of the outstanding productions of the day: for instance, the discovery of Julie's secret, featured in both book and play; and the gloriously funny bit—in the latter—where Capt. Andy is a whole show in himself. There are other irksome additions and subtractions. In brief, the movie has not been faithful to the book and utterly lacks the swing, rhythm, color, imagination, and poignant appeal of the stage interpretation.

The acting is, I should say, quite as good as direction and scenario permit it to be. Joseph Schildkraut introduces some bits of flashing mimicry that do much to enliven the occasion and Laura La Plante, consistently likable, does some memorable work at times. Emily Fitzroy et al. prove capable. You can make your own comparisons between these players and the ones you saw in the same rôles in the "legit."

The film has some charming scenery and boasts costumes and sets that are effective. Posters err which claim that "The Show Boat" is an altaiker. It is not. See you tomorrow.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SEEKS TO LOOSEN CONTROL BY STATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The church assembly today accepted a committee report recommending a new method of appointing bishops. The report recommends that the electing body have a right to refuse the king's nominee without incurring penalties; that the archbishops of Canterbury and York are not liable to penalties for refusing to confirm and consecrate persons elected by the bishops; that the prime minister, before making an appointment, should consult a committee of seven members, including the archbishops of Canterbury and York and five others selected by the prime minister and the church assembly.

At present the prime minister nominates the bishop, the name of the person selected being conveyed by the king's letter to the chapter concerned, which then goes through the motions of electing the nominee.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question E. Glaser, 6137 Glenwood avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

The Answers.

Mrs. Robert Johnston, 5945 Wright street, housewife — There are many women now working for mere purposes of pin money who are in reality keeping men, men who are heads of families out of work. Women should not work unless they have to.

Isadore Katz, 4128 Clarendon avenue, salesman — No. That keeps some girl or man out of work who is in need of it. Because most women are capable of holding jobs ordinarily filled by men is no reason why women should take advantage, for, generally, men are of necessity the breadwinners of the families.

Miss Violet Horn, 110 South Hamlin avenue, nurse—Married women, including the pin money earners, who are in comfortable financial circumstances, and perhaps have children, should be the first to realize man's position as the breadwinner, and therefore should not readily trespass on his rights.

Percy Glianella, 9050 Dakin street, secretary — Decidedly not. There are so many who need employment, to whom money means everything, and who can't obtain employment. One cannot very well make any law on a subject like this, but if anything can be done to help the people that have to work it should be done. The capitalists can take care of themselves.

Mrs. Beatrice Kentz, 3540 Fifth avenue, clerk—It all depends on whether they need the pin money or not; whether they can afford to get the luxuries they would like to have. If such women do not wish to appear selfish they will avoid depriving the rest of the family of things, and will go out and win extra money by work.

Rumanian Prince and Spanish Princess Are Reported Engaged

MADRID, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Officials at the royal palace today declined to comment on reports from Bucharest that Prince Nicholas of Rumania would be betrothed to the Infanta Maria Cristina, King Alfonso's second daughter. The report said the marriage would take place before the end of this year.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Count Alexander von Hochberg, fiancé of Princess Ileana of Rumania, will obtain the nominal title of a Rumanian prince, giving him precedence equal to that of members of the royal family and before that of the regents. He and Princess Ileana will be known, however, as the Count and Countess von Hochberg.

Strife on Creed Splits Hastings College Faculty

One Leaves for Yale; Six Others Resign.

Hastings, Neb., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The religious education chair at Hastings college, a Presbyterian institution, was vacant tonight. This followed the break between college authorities and some of the faculty over the question of religious instruction.

Prof. Willard E. Uphaus, his supporters said, had been reprimanded for disseminating doctrines described as "extremely liberal and even radical." He left for Yale university to accept a research fellowship in the Yale divinity school.

Six other department heads, who "bolted" out of sympathy with Prof. Uphaus, will resign in June. They are Prof. Joseph Baccus, public speaking; Dr. Hewitt Vinnedge, history; Prof. Leroy G. Pulver, economics; Prof. Merle Maupin, piano instruction; Dr. Forest Witcraft, sociology, and Dr. James Duncan of the physics department.

Prof. Uphaus said he was "fired." A. H. Jones, president of the board of trustees, however, declared Prof. Uphaus had been advised if he "could find a suitable connection at the end of the season, we would release him."

The action of the six others Mr. Jones described as the "move of disgruntled men who can now leave the college as martyrs, whereas one or two would not have been retained." "These men," he added, "must have known their fate."

Prof. Uphaus' chair, endowed by a wealthy Philadelphian, Thomas W. Sennott, who offered $50,000 for the establishment of three similar chairs in religious training, will be filled at once, temporarily by local men until a successor is named, Mr. Jones said.

Dr. Uphaus produced a copy of a letter which he said illustrated his theology.

"As I study the life of Jesus," he said, "I am more convinced that his marvelous character was the result of processes . . . every thought, motive, impulse, and social contact experienced from childhood to maturity made its contribution. God could not confer character upon him any more than upon us.

"The old theological dogma that asserts that you are saved merely by Jesus' death cannot be true."

THE STAGE

RETURNING to Chicago after an absence of eleven years, William Gillette, dean of the American theater, will bring the most popular of his plays, "Sherlock Holmes," to the Erlanger on Monday, Feb. 24, for an engagement of three weeks. In this engagement, it is announced by Mr. Gillette, he will say farewell forever.

On this tour, which opened in Springfield, Mass., last November, Mr. Gillette has received impressive tributes. At the opening performance in New York President Butler of Columbia university made an address, welcoming the actor-author back to the stage; and the conclusion of the play Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale presented to him a portfolio containing letters of salutation from some hundred or more prominent persons.

The actor was welcomed to Washington by President Hoover. He was greeted in Baltimore by Gov. Ritchie of Maryland. And next week he will play his native city of Hartford, Conn., where he will greeted by Gov. Trumbull. Thus, from all accounts, the tour has taken on the aspect of a national "Ave et Salve" to an eminent player-dramatist of the old régime.

Mr. Gillette withdrew from his retirement on his estate at Hadlyme, Conn., on the persuasion of Messrs. Erlanger and Tyler, who planned for him a sentimental journey to the scenes of his early triumphs in "The Professor," "The Private Secretary," "Too Much Johnson," "Held by the Enemy," "Secret Service," and "Sherlock Holmes"—all of these plays being the actor's own adaptations or of his own authorship. "Sherlock Holmes," first presented by Mr. Gillette in 1899, has not been played by him in Chicago since 1916, when it was seen in the Studebaker theater. In 1917 he played Clare Kummer's comedy, "A Successful Calamity," in this city. His last appearance in Chicago, previous to the forthcoming engagement, was in "Dear Brutus," in 1919.

A cablegram from London to the New York Times says that Maurice Browne, producer of "Journey's End," has acquired "B. J. I.," a play portraying modern naval warfare by Commander Stephen King-Hall, co-author with Ian Hay of "The Middle Watch." The action centers in the battle of Jutland, and there will be no women in the cast.

The prologue shows a gathering of British and German naval officers at Kiel before the war. The first two acts take place aboard a cruiser before and during the battle of Jutland, while the last act happens after the war. B. J. I. is the British naval signal for "every man to his post."

Mr. Browne selected this play, which will be staged in London soon, after reading some 600 manuscripts in his search for a second "war epic."

Mitzi's revival of "Sari," which must be included in the manifestations of the current vogue for old operettas, will move out of the Liberty theater, New York, tomorrow night. The company will go on tour, and will eventually reach Chicago.

The Theater Guild's "studio," which means the various activities of its rookie players, will soon stage "Dead or Alive," a play of the early West by Philip Barber. The "studio's" production of "Red Rust," which deals with contemporary Russia, has had a measure of popularity in Manhattan.

"The Field God" will have only one more week at the Goodman theater. The first performance of Philip Barry's "Holiday," which will follow, is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 18. This play, which was well received in New York last season, tells a story of the younger generation against a "society" background. It is a comedy of witty dialogue and modern American manners—a vein into which the Goodman company has not yet adventured.

The stay of the Marx Brothers in "Animal Crackers" at the Grand has been extended to March 1. After that date they must be moving on, for they are under contract to do a talkie by Ben Hecht, beginning April 7, and are booked to begin an engagement in London June 23. C. C.

Two Sects Will Merge New Orleans Negro Schools

By action of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church, which closed a three day session at 740 Rush street, yesterday, the Methodist and Congregational churches will coöperate in the merger of three Negro schools in New Orleans. The institutions to be combined are New Orleans university, Flint-Goodridge Nurses Training school, Methodist institutions, and Straight university, Congregationalist. The board agreed to put $500,000 into the combined schools with an equal sum offered by the Congregationalists. The board of education will hold its next meeting in June, 1931.

Stock Conducts Famous Chorus of Cincinnati

BY EDWARD MOORE.

For the first time since 1893 the Cincinnati May Festival chorus came to Chicago yesterday to take part with Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra in three concerts as part of his twenty-five years of service as orchestral conductor. Theodore Thomas founded the chorus fifty-seven years ago; Mr. Stock became its conductor three years ago, and the first concert at Orchestra hall last night disclosed that it has uncommon qualities. In fact it ought to be regarded among choruses much as the Chicago Symphony is among orchestras.

It has incisiveness. It gives a comforting impression of being on top of its job, whatever this job may be. It is especially comforting when one hears and is convinced that the contralto section sings not with the soft woolliness common to contralto sections but with a brilliant tone, that the tenors sing firmly and do not shout, that the sopranos reach for high notes and grasp them in the middle thereof without straining of throat muscles or flatting. One can ordinarily expect an acceptable bass section, but this bass section is more competent than most.

And the whole chorus sings not only music but words. In either German or English it pronounces and projects words as I never before supposed any chorus was able to do.

The program began with one of the Bach cantatas, "Nun ist das Heil und die Kraft," which is not Bach at his most overwhelming and masterful. But it was a prelude to what became one of the stirring events of the season, Mr. Stock's own "Psalmodic Rhapsody," written for tenor solo, chorus, and orchestra.

Seven years have passed since it was last heard here, much too long a time, for it is a magnificent piece of writing. It is dramatic, it is even exciting, it is gorgeously colored, and yet it never for an instant loses the mood of calm dignity that means religious music. It is difficult beyond all telling, which is perhaps one reason why it has stayed silent so long. At any rate it was a great experience to hear it by a chorus and an orchestra like these, and Dan Gridley, the soloist, was at one with them both. He gave an impressive performance of an impressive melody, and when the chorus concluded the work there was a demonstration from the audience that made one believe that Chicago was going emotional.

The second half of the program was given to Brahms' "German Requiem," with Ethel Hayden and Frazer Gange as soloists, but another musical event made it impossible for me to remain longer.

Meanwhile the German Grand Opera company at the Auditorium was arriving at that section of the "Ring des Nibelungen" which deals with Siegfried and his early adventures, his sword, the slaughter of the dragon, and finally the discovery of Bruennhilde with the imperishable words, if you will pardon the translation, "That is no man."

There has been reason earlier this week to think admiringly of the singing of Johannes Sembach, and one thinks in the same strain of his Siegfried. Similarly Marcel Salzinger was admirable as the Wanderer, and Werner Klus' Alberich was a fine study, as it had been in "Das Rheingold." But Alexander Larsen's Mime was almost startling, so brilliant a performance was it. He and Mr. Sembach had by all odds the clearest enunciation of any of the men in the company. In his case it disproves a sometimes announced theory to the effect that a vast forestation of false whiskers has a tendency to interrupt the flight of consonants through the air.

Laurenz Pierot and not the announced Bennett Challis was the satisfactorily megaphonic voice of the dragon, a dragon in this case a bit subnormal in steam pressure and red lighting, and Milo Miloradovich and not the announced Edna Zahm warbled the words of the bird effectively. Johanna Gadski was the Bruennhilde and Sonia Sharnova the Erda, but again the last act of an opera came too late for a morning newspaper. Ernest Knoch conducted with well blended, fiery suavity.

Cold Weather Kills Millions of Peach Buds

BY PAUL POTTER.

Urban populations, inclined to indifferent sympathy at the plight of agriculturists who suffer from weather, overproduction, or plagues of varied sorts, have come in recent weeks to realize that the consumer is affected indirectly by the troubles of the producer.

Pithy, inferior, and rather high priced oranges, for instance, have this winter brought home the realization that inroads of the Mediterranean fruit fly, which ruined large areas of southern groves, brings into the market every available basket of fruit, even though the quality be inferior.

Likewise, according to a survey of the peach crop by THE TRIBUNE, the abnormally low temperatures during January have killed millions of healthy peach buds in the regions of Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan where peach orchards of the north are thickest.

Low Temperatures to Blame.

"One of the largest peach growers in southern Illinois took the pains to cut into a thousand frosted buds from various orchards, and failed to find a live one left," says H. W. Day, secretary of the Illinois Horticultural society. "It looks at the present time as though practically the entire peach crop of southern Illinois has been killed by temperatures as low as 18 and 20 degrees below zero." Similar reports have been received from southern Indiana.

Berrien county, Michigan, the home of more peach orchards than any other county in the north, is said to have suffered a loss estimated at more than $2,000,000 from a sudden drop of the mercury on Jan. 18. While the weather man reported this change from 10 to 20 degrees below zero lasted but a couple of hours, it has practically annihilated the buds that soon would become young peaches.

Even farther north, in somewhat lighter areas of peach production, the frost damage has been lighter, according to H. D. Hootman, secretary of the Michigan State Horticultural society. The buds seem but slightly injured around Grand Rapids and neighboring points.

Georgia peaches, as well as those from Tennessee and Arkansas, will have their inning this year, on a market of rising prices, the present situation indicates. Ohio's crop has been sadly thinned out by the same means as in Indiana.

Different in the South.

The southern orchardists have had their problems with the weather in the past, however. Dr. Lee M. Hutchins of the federal department of agriculture observes that while severe winters in the north usually mean short crops, the rule works just the other way in the south. This is because "temperate zone fruit trees require a definite amount of cold weather during which certain changes are carried on which prepare them for growth and bearing in spring. It is called a "rest period" by orchardists. "Mild winters in Georgia do not give peach trees the required amount of resting, and the result is what peach growers call a 'prolonged dormancy.'" Dr. Hutchins explains.

BUILDING EMPLOYERS' GROUP AGAIN NAMES ERICSSON AS LEADER

Former Building Commissioner Henry Ericsson was reëlected by acclamation yesterday as president of the Building Construction Employers' association. Other officers reëlected are George Mehring, first vice president; Sumner Sollitt, second vice president; William McGuinness, third vice president, and A. C. Preble, fourth vice president. E. F. Pierce was reëlected treasurer.

The board of directors of the Employers' association of Chicago at the Union League club reëlected Earl H. Macoy president and J. C. Belden and C. J. Whipple vice presidents. Mr. Pierce of the builders' organization has been its treasurer since its establishment in 1912. E. M. Craig's position of general manager is appointive.

MONEY IS VOTED TO MOTHERS FOR TRIPS TO FRANCE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Congress completed action today on legislation to provide $5,386,367 to enable Gold Star mothers and world war widows to make a pilgrimage to the graves of the loved ones in France.

A house resolution to provide the money was passed by the senate and sent to President Hoover.

Present plans for the pilgrimages would bring the Gold Star mothers and world war widows from all parts of the country to New York at government expense. After a day or two in that city they would be given cabin class accommodations to Europe, two weeks abroad, and the journey home again, with even the expense of tips provided for.

Maj. Gen. Frank B. Cheatham, under whose direction the pilgrimages will be made, announced after an extensive survey that a majority of the 6,730 who have signified a desire to make the trip probably will go during 1930.

Russia Fines 1,110 Private Traders Total of $130,000

MOSCOW, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Charged by the government with having violated the regulations respecting the payment of taxes, 1,110 private traders in the Moscow district were fined a total of $130,000 today.

Millions drink coffee in the morning and at noon—but never at night. They fear its effect on nerves—know that it will disturb sleep.

But now there is no need to stint coffee or forbid it—all you ever loved in coffee can still be yours. Only caffeine—the drug in coffee—need be omitted.

Likoffy is coffee's better twin. Even hardened coffee drinkers can't tell the difference—unless told. Children—to whom coffee is rightfully forbidden—drink it with gusto. Elderly people find in it the real coffee satisfaction that means so much to them—and none of the harm.

Likoffy is 99 5/6% free from caffeine. It depends for its flavor and aroma on a small quantity of the finest coffee so skillfully blended with the Likoffy that the caffeine content is reduced to a negligible fraction.

Serve Likoffy at mealtime and you will be complimented on the excellence of your coffee. The real coffee flavor and the real coffee aroma are hermetically sealed in the Likoffy vacuum can. So potent and so invigorating is this coffee fragrance, that Likoffy has that genuine coffee taste found only in the finest coffees.

Costs Less—Goes Further

Likoffy costs only fifty cents a pound at leading grocers everywhere. If your favorite grocer does not have it in stock, he will gladly get it for you. One trial will convince you that now there is no need to stint coffee or be satisfied with a drink that lacks true coffee flavor. White Sauce Is Foundation of Many Recipes

Master It and You're on Road to Success.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

There is a perfect cook book in the expression "white sauce" as used in this modern day. White sauce might even be the title on a small book devoted to the subject of nutrition.

There is hardly a more serviceable combination of food ingredients in all cookery than that which constitutes the white sauce. There is hardly a better or more constant way of getting into what is called a balanced menu, unless you will drink milk, one of its most essential numbers, than by using the white sauce, thin, medium or thick. The reason for this is that milk is the great protective food, and without using something like the white sauce—perhaps a custard—it is sometimes difficult to get enough milk into the day's ration. But it is not in a sauce service alone that it is so great a complement. Most cream soups have a thin white sauce for a base.

There are innumerable uses for the white sauce, and among them ways of completely disguising what it is. It may appear in the menu from soup to dessert. The cream or milk soup is, as suggested, a thin white sauce plus the puree that gives it the name. A white sauce as thin or of the same type as that used for the basis of milk soups may be used as the sauce for a delicate fish, like shad. And the number of creamed fish dishes is legion. There are also creamed meats, but these are quite special, and the sauce in such is usually partly meat stock.

All the scalloped dishes may be made with the white sauce. The uses of white sauces with vegetables perhaps are or have been too common. This latter combination needs to be an exceedingly nice one or it is objectionable. The white sauce is really the base of many a dessert which might be called a white sauce plus sugar and egg and flavoring. The best way to learn to make an excellent lemon cream pie, perhaps, is to proceed from a white sauce basis.

Recipe Commonly Used.

The briefest way to state the white sauce recipe is this: Two tablespoons of butter, two of flour, about a level teaspoon of salt for each cup of liquid and anywhere from a cup to three cups of milk, according as you want a thin or a thick sauce, each having its special uses. The thick is used to bind croquettes and such mixtures.

There are several ways of putting this sauce together. The great cook's way is to melt the butter and work the flour into it. He even puts this combination away—calling it a "roux"—ready to be used not only with milk but with other liquids for sauces, making it in a large quantity for this reason. When he is ready he takes out the amount needed for a given thickness of sauce, adds his liquid until it thickens with this addition, then cooks it with some stirring until the flour is well cooked.

The time can be shorter when the butter has been melted and the flour stirred into it over the fire. In this case the flour is a good deal cooked, but if it should be too much cooked it would not thicken the sauce. The chef in making his sauces not only uses this basis, but will finally add some butter to his sauce because of its rich flavoring value.

Delicate Dishes.

The white sauce dishes are delicate dishes, and even before the name white sauce was given to the basis for some invalid dishes these were much used, as in the case of creamed toast, and when made for very delicate digestions the butter was not cooked at all. Also, in cases where people wish to economize, the butter was not cooked because less was required, or only enough to give a slight flavoring. In making cream soups with vegetables of strong flavor it is possible in some cases not to use any butter at all in the base, but just a milk thickened with a little flour. When no butter is used in this combination it is vitally necessary that the flour be thoroughly cooked, otherwise the soup would have raw taste.

To make this kind of sauce wet the amount of flour to be used with cold milk in such a way that it seems to dissolve it, and stir in until it is smooth, then add the necessary milk. If it is kept cold the milk can be cold, but when we are adding milk to a combination of hot butter and hot flour stirred together it is probably always best to have the milk hot, otherwise the sauce will have to be strained, and it is a curious fact that in the older cooking it always was strained, thus making extra and a disagreeable piece of dish washing.

When the dissolved or smoothly wet flour and milk are put together, put them over a slow fire and stir constantly until they cook. It is not too long to cook them for twenty minutes. If we cook them in a double boiler we need not continue the stirring after the flour has once swollen all it will. When the flour is thoroughly cooked, take the sauce from the fire and add butter to taste.

Cream Soups.

The cream soups which may be so wholesome can be unwholesome if they are made with a poorly cooked white sauce. Some of the cream soups like those of green split pea will not need anything more than the addition of milk to a pea puree to give a soup of the right consistency, and sometimes we may add just hot milk to a batch of seasoned mashed potatoes and get what we call a cream soup. But even a potato soup is usually best if we use as a base a thin white sauce instead of unthickened milk. It will seem richer and finer so made.

The fish chowders may be made with plain milk, but if that milk is only slightly thickened with flour, needing only butter to make it a sauce, the chowder will be in many cases superior.

A little nutmeg, a little vegetable seasoning, perhaps a little mushroom liquor, a little onion juice, are some of the ways of seasoning white sauce in its different services. If we make an imitation Hollandaise sauce, adding lemon juice and extra butter to our white sauce, we will probably use a little nutmeg besides. In making a creamed lobster we will enrich our white sauce with some pure cream and then add the sherry flavoring.

One of the greatest derivatives, we might say, of the white sauce is the cheese sauce. To a cup of the white sauce is usually added one-half a cup of grated cheese, or even more is used sometimes, and the sauce is poured over toast to make a sort of imitation Welsh rabbit, if the cheese happens to be of the right sort. But cheese sauces have many uses and perhaps none is as worth while as cheese sauce with rice. It is a most serviceable dish.

Almond Paste.

Besides the fact that a considerable number of requests have recently come in asking how to make almond paste, the subject is timely because the Lenten cakes are likely to be of almonds or almond paste, especially the simnel cake of mid-Lent or Mothering Sunday.

It is not so easy to make an almond paste, and therefore most people purchase it already made, but even the prepared paste can deteriorate, and always there is an agreeable quality in freshly ground almonds that makes it worthwhile to use ground almonds, if not paste, in some of the recipes calling for almond paste.

First, almonds should be blanched two or three days before we attempt to grind them to a paste. Professional cooks made this almond paste by pounding together equal weights of almonds and sugar, in most cases cutting the almonds by hand first to facilitate the process. Care is needed and various devices are used to prevent the almond from becoming oily and soggy, as it will when it is pounded without sugar or without some addition.

A little plain water is sometimes used when almonds are pounded without sugar and it is highly important that the nuts be in exactly the right condition or the paste will be oily in spite of great care. The final guiding principle as to the condition of the nuts seems to depend utterly on experience and that is only obtained by working with them.

With special care we may put almonds through the nut butter disk of a food chopper, and then knead into them, with a wooden spoon, an equal measure of confectioners' sugar, making a sort of dough of the two, which may be rolled out thin for all sorts of ornamental work on cakes, and for use in layers in cakes, or for use in making macaroni, plain or fancy.

If we make a little dough of this type and are successful with it, we can roll some of it into little balls and dip them in fondant to make a bonbon, or they may be chocolate dipped. It goes without saying that this is a superior type of candy, or at any rate almond candies are great favorites.

In using this for the top of a cake we can spread it on and put a plain uncooked icing over it. This makes a delicious finish. The addition of almonds to a cake makes it truly rich, because almonds contain 2,940 calories a pound. Walnuts contain more calories even then that, but in adding them to cake we do not use whole layers of them, usually.

TAX ON BUTTER SUBSTITUTES IS VOTED BY HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—A bill amending the oleomargarine law to bring "cooking compounds" sold as butter substitutes under a ten cents a pound tax, was passed in the house of representatives today by a vote of 245 to 74.

Debate under the five minute rule on several amendments consumed more than two hours during which a small but determined group charged that the bill was instigated by packing interests to drive out competition in the marketing of the "naturally" colored compounds to be taxed. Advocates of the measure described the compounds as an iniquity intended to deceive the American housewife.

In general representatives from the central states which have large dairy interests voted for the bill, while members from the east and south opposed it. The opponents succeeded in attacking only one amendment. That provides that the bill shall not go into effect until six months after its enactment.

Coming Days Are Auspicious for Gay Parties

BY SALLY LUNN.

You who are clever at manipulating scissors and paste brush should have ample opportunity to exercise your talents during the late winter and early spring season just ahead. There are more special occasions for parties that adapt themselves to the decoration and favor idea in the next few weeks than there are in all the rest of the year. Within the next week, there are two such, Lincoln's birthday and Valentine's day. Then comes Washington's birthday on the 22d, St. Patrick's day on March 17, April Fool's day, and Easter.

Each of these occasions has its traditional symbols to be worked in a colorful and effective decorative scheme. It's quite simple to get readymade ideas for carrying out such schemes, but I would advise you to use your own originality to get the best results. Go to the favor departments of the big stores, and to the special shops where the materials or completed favors may be obtained to see what specialists in the decorative world suggest, for your inspiration, but you will get more satisfaction from evolving ideas of your own than from adopting theirs in entirety.

Gay Colors Possible.

The vivid colors appropriate for the special occasion parties are particularly charming. The bright red, white and blue of Old Glory, significant for use on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, always provide a dashing and patriotic note to decorations. Red hearts in various guises make Valentine's decorations delightfully gay, and the refreshing green of cardboard shamrocks is always pleasing.

Of course, this business of using time worn symbols for decoration is not particularly subtle, but the manner in which they can be presented can always be novel. No matter how many analytical books are now written in an attempt to disillusion us about our favorite characters in history, we always cling to our childhood remembrances. The log cabin, the flag, and the log mean Lincoln to us, just as the cherry tree and the redheaded ax denote the Father of His Country. And you have only to see the stationer's stores with counters full of lacy valentines to realize that romantic sentiment is still rife.

Meaning of the Custom.

And, by the way, did you know that the custom of valentines originated from an old belief, prevalent even before the time of Chaucer, that the mating season of the birds began on St. Valentine's day, so-called in honor of St. Valentine, who was beheaded by the Romans on Feb. 14?

It really doesn't make any difference, though, whether there is a meaning to symbols or not, when they make such pretty decorations and such good excuses for parties, so put on your thinking cap, lay in a supply of cardboard, crêpe paper, ribbons, and what you will and give your creative abilities a chance to show what they and you can do.

If you have a sick or convalescent child whose bed is within range of a window, install a bright weather vane on the garage, fence, or best available place. The bright blue sailor boy or yellow witch on the broomstick, waving arms or whirling about with the wind's fancy will prove amusing for a long while.

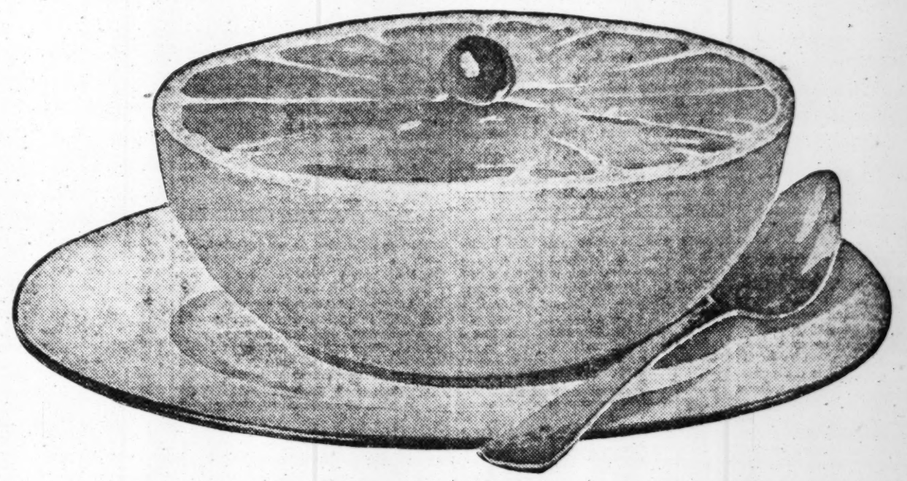
You must TASTE Seald-Sweets to really know the difference in Grapefruit!



IF you want to know the fullest meaning of grapefruit goodness, then by all means serve your family Seald-Sweets this very day!

Their thin, taut peels are bulged with the sweetest, finest flavored juice of any grapefruit grown. For Seald-Sweets are the very best of Florida's crop . . . the juiciest grapefruit that ever put a thrill into eating breakfast! But don't limit Seald-Sweets' juice treats to breakfast alone. Their rich store of minerals, vitamins and antacids make them the delicious health food for lunch and dinner as well.

AND ORANGES, TOO

"Seald-Sweet" is the name that also brings you the oranges with ¼ more juice. That's because Seald-Sweet oranges are Florida's finest . . . richest in sparkling juice that never hears "enough" in answer to its excellent flavor.

Next time you go to market for either oranges or grapefruit, look for the famous Seald-Sweet stamp on their juice-filled skins. There's not only shopping-ease in that method, but also a sureness of getting exactly what you want—the juiciest fruit on the market!

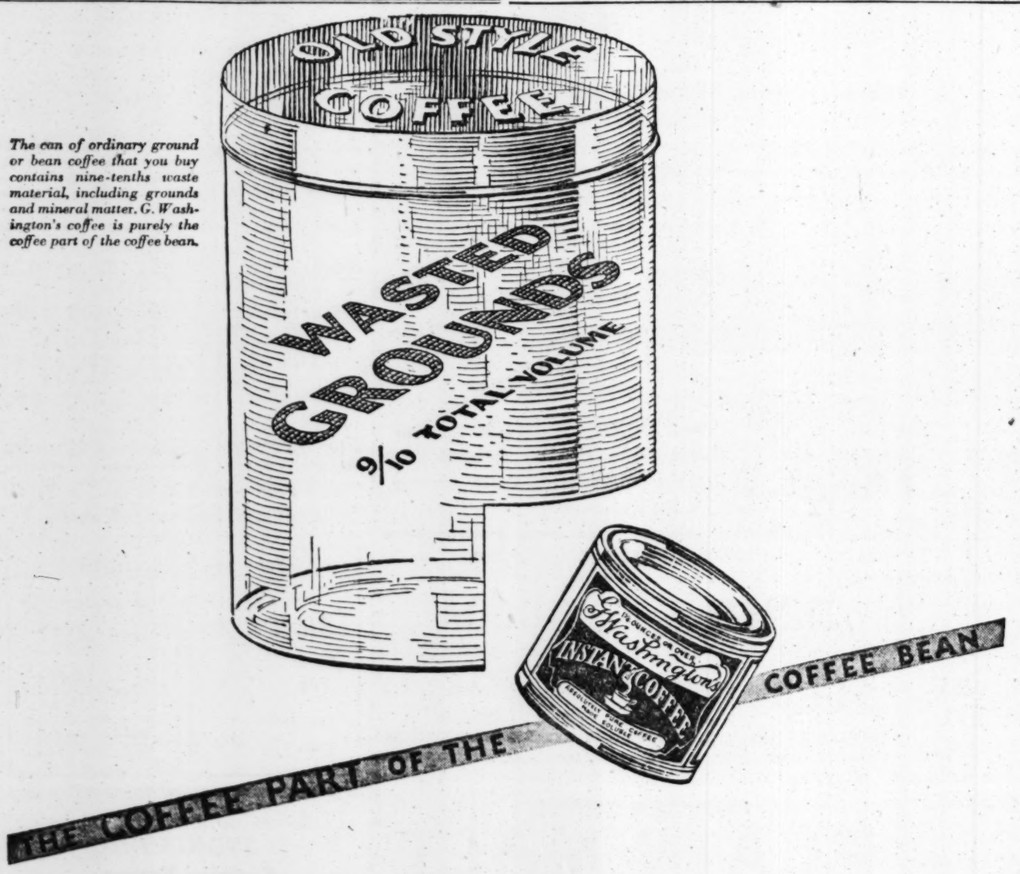
The can of ordinary ground or bean coffee that you buy contains nine-tenths waste material, including grounds and mineral matter. G. Washington's coffee is purely the coffee part of the coffee bean.



AFTER a series of thorough tests, The Boston School of Cookery said, "The new G. Washington's coffee is certainly a labor saving product far more uniform in quality than the average 'Coffee-pot Coffee.' Everybody will appreciate the speed and ease with which it can be served, as well as the unvarying quality."

"The lasting freshness of this coffee was a revelation to us," reported the Home Making Center of the New York State Women's Clubs. "Experiments conducted by our own staff, with coffee made from one day to six months previously, showed that every cup was as fresh as though just roasted."

As for economy, Miss Farmer's School of Cookery found that "G. Washington's coffee especially considering the quality and service to the housewife is not expensive or out of line in price. It costs you less than the old-style coffee, considering time and labor saved the housewife."

G. Washington's is pure coffee, good coffee and nothing but coffee. It is the coffee part of the coffee bean, with the grounds and moisture removed before the coffee is packed. All you do is add hot water and serve; no percolator, no grounds or scouring. Sold at all good grocery and chain stores. Send 10c for a sample tin to the G. Washington Coffee Refining Company, 1303 Hanover Avenue, Morris Plains, New Jersey.

Belmore Browne Shows Canadian Rockies in His Spirited Paintings

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

At the O'Brien art galleries there has just been placed on view a group of paintings by Belmore Browne. The paintings are landscapes of the north Canadian Rockies and the artist has faithfully transferred the rugged grandeur of those snow-clad heights to canvas. Among the most beautiful of the paintings is "Under the Cliff of Rundel." The "Crowfoot Glacier" and "Alpine Valley" are less impressive in size, but well worth seeing.

A portrait by Roy Collins, one of his wife painted several seasons ago, is another high light in the O'Brien galleries at the moment, and a third incident of the greatest charm is the delicate and lovely "Mother and Children" by Jourdan. "Finches in the Snow" is a remarkable reproduction of the original painting by Bruno Liljifors and illustrates to what high standards of excellence the art of color reproduction is being developed.

The South Side Art association galleries in the Fine Arts building are showing the work of two men this week. One is Theodore Saunders and the other is Adrian Dornbush. Both names are unfamiliar. Dornbush indulges in careless drawing and generous color. He sweeps in the various elements of his picture with a rush and trusts to the paint box to cover up any awkward pauses. The handling is broad; at times it is humorous. Now and again he makes use of perhaps unconscious pathos. There are three low keyed landscapes which are at great variance to the majority of work in his particular group.

The tired horses, "Maud and Beside," are well done. The still life of flowers is decorative but ragged about the edges. The "Eureka Springs" is an animated color note.

Theodore Saunders in the further gallery leaves a good bit wanting. One feels for bottom and strikes a quagmire. The paintings are so etherealized that they let the unwary spectator down frightfully. His "Horses on the Beach," shown previously, remains one of his best. One feels if he could think his composition through a little more clearly and strengthen it with a little solid painting, the result would not be so irritating. It just misses fire, always a depressing conclusion.

Careful Grooming Goes Long Way to Achieving Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Sometimes I am inclined to think we concentrate overmuch on reducing and the latest in coiffures, the new in makeup and things of such nature, forgetting that a woman can arrive at a state of charming perfection by other routes, too.

I am thinking at the moment of a charming person whose weight is registered in large, healthy round numbers. It doesn't bother her much. She's always been a nice armful—and she's never found, to date, that it has affected her popularity any. Her coiffure has been the same as long as I've known her. It's becoming—but not striking nor individual.

But she is the most extraordinarily neat person I know, a triumph in itself where there are many pounds to be checked up. Her shoes are perfect. I doubt if any one ever saw her with a shabby shoe. Yet her closet boasts fewer pair than most women I know. She has what many plump women have, if you will notice—beautifully carved legs and slender feet.

She wears a good deal of black because it is becoming. But that wee edge of white piping at throat and wrist always looks as if she just got through sewing in a fresh piece. Usually she wears a gardenia on coat lapel or dress. Other gardenias, worn after a few days, look weather struck, blighted, shopworn. Hers has the air of a fresh one bought every morning. Needless to say her manicures are attended to with fastidious niceness. Her hair, while simply dressed, is lovely of texture and color. To me she is a lovely, luscious big peach. If she opens her bag in your presence, you see into the tidiest interior imaginable.

Paris Wears Black Velvet With Blue Fox

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS. — [Special Correspondence.] —The fabric of society this winter is black velvet. Giving the names of the women who wear it is making a roll call of the social register. Vicomtesse de Noailles wears black velvet with blue fox in Paquin's best manner. Princess Faucigny Lucinge wears an ensemble of pressed black velvet from Lelong, to mention two of the smartest women in Paris.

Worth tells me that there is a run on the black velvet frocks and ensembles in his collection that is as active as a lively morning in the stock exchange.

Black velvet is black velvet, but there is a difference. Black millinery velvet made its evening debut under the patronage of Jean Patou, and this particular fabric is one that has the greatest social success. Panne velvet is good, but not so good as pile velvet. Printed velvet hasn't been able to crash the gates of smart society at all this season. Velveteen, the youngest and least pretentious of the large velvet family, is ag reat favorite, especially amongst the younger set. Whole ensembles for dances and such energetic events are made of velveteen and worn by the most particular young ladies in Paris.

The vogue of the princess silhouette is to be credited for a great deal of black velvet. The two are inseparable and nothing is prettier or more fashionable for dancing and dining in public than the princess frock of black velvet with a short coat of the same material. One of Worth's most successful black velvet evening ensembles is shown in our sketch. It can be seen any evening in Paris at the Grand Ecart, or one of the other chic night clubs.

The dress is cut on Worth's new bathing suit princess lines, with a long ruffled skirt; even in the back and dipped to a point in front. Nine horizontal tucks across the front of the bodice make its fitted lines easy to wear. The decolletage is interesting, being a narrow V in front, squared in back. The short coat is collared and banded with blue fox, the smartest fur with black velvet.

SHINING OR SAVING—WHICH ARE YOU DOING?

Are you shining your teeth or saving them? Many dentifrices help in simply cleaning and whitening teeth. But only PEBECO goes further—definitely retarding decay by checking the destructive mouth acids. You can expect PEBECO to taste different from ordinary dentifrices because it performs that extra function. Try PEBECO one week—then ask yourself if your teeth don't look better and your mouth feel more comfortable than ever before.—Advt.

Children's Home and Aid Society Closes 1929 with Big Deficit

Rodney H. Brandon, director of the Illinois department of public welfare, will deliver the address at the annual meeting of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. He will speak at a luncheon on Monday, Feb. 10, at the Palmer house. At this meeting directors and officers will be elected for the coming year and reports given from the various departments.

The society has had an unusually difficult year, according to Carroll H. Sudler, president. The report of the treasurer, A. F. Shiverick, shows that the work of the society for 1929 was carried on at a cost of $390,526 and the year was closed with a deficit of $23,812. Through the departments the society served 5,254 children in 1929. It provided care for long and short periods of time for 2,219 children and during the entire year had a daily population of 1,830.

Ice-Mint as this new preparation is called is said to shrivel up hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes so that they can be lifted out easily with the fingers. It's wonderful. Think of it; only a touch or two of Ice-Mint and real foot-joy is yours.

There is not one bit of pain or soreness when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

If your feet are inclined to swell or puff, or if you have cracked or bleeding toes, it will draw the inflammation right out and quickly heal the sore and tender places. It is the real Japanese secret of fine, healthy little feet and is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes and by men who have to stand on their feet all day. Try it. Just ask in any Drug store for Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing better.

Scouts Obtain Cash for Year's City Campaign

More than enough money was pledged yesterday by Chicago business men to carry the proposed four year expansion program of the Chicago Council of Boy Scouts past its first year's activities. James B. Forgan, treasurer of the campaign, announced that the special gifts committee had raised $360,218.

The formal drive toward the $1,250,000 fund began with a luncheon at the Union League club. In the absence of Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the campaign, who is in Washington, Laurence B. Robbins, chairman of the scout board, presided, outlining the program. He declared the prevention of juvenile delinquency in Chicago to be the matter of utmost importance to business men.

"Scouting, which is carried on in fifty-seven civilized countries, has done more to create a sense of good conduct in boys than any other movement," Harry A. Wheeler, former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said in addressing the campaign workers. "You men who are back of this drive should get the idea across that scouting will produce worthwhile citizens."

Among chairmen of business and professional groups who will aid in raising the fund are Warren B. Buckley, James C. Murray, Wesley M. Dixon, Mark A. Wallace, George A. Miller, P. W. Kunning, Charles E. De Leuw, Carl J. Easterberg, Robert J. Fischer, Martin L. Straus, William P. Reed, F. H. Massmann, Walter L. Gregory, R. T. Frasier, W. S. Houston, William F. Juergens Jr., Dudley Osborn, Edward P. Welles, H. G. Chase, Dr. P. J. H. Farrell, George H. Dickerson, William C. Hollister, William T. Morgan, George J. Cooke Jr., Alexander H. Thorn, M. H. Kennelly, and Charles R. Napier.

The Kiwanis club turned its meeting yesterday over to E. Urner Goodman, chief executive of the Chicago council. Boy Scouts gave demonstrations of their activities in the Hotel Sherman.

During the four year expansion the council expects to double the present number of Boy Scouts in Chicago to 30,000, do intensive work in selected city areas of juvenile delinquency, increase camp facilities, extend the educational program and expand the Sea Scout program. The scout movement is conducted in coöperation with churches of all demoninations, the schools, clubs, Y. M. C. A. and other recognized institutions who sponsor troops.

The Misses Lydia Garrison and Elizabeth Walker are giving a dinner dance tomorrow evening at the Embassy club for Miss Leigh Haskins and William Spode Hammersley, whose marriage takes place the following afternoon.

Mrs. William A. Barstow and her twin debutante daughters, the Misses Lois and Theodora Barstow, of Lewellyn Park, Orange, N. J., are sailing on Feb. 22 for Bermuda, to be away several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lorn Marston are sailing on the Munargo tomorrow for Nassau.

Miss Elizabeth I. Chase, who arrived today on the Aquitania, will be at the Berkshire for a few days before leaving for Palm Beach. There she will join her mother, Mrs. Irving H. Chase, and sister, Miss Dorothy Chase.

Humane Society Says Child Beating Shows Decrease in State

For thirty years Mrs. H. M. Schweppe and Mrs. Sophia de Muth composed the Alton, Ill., Humane society. Mrs. Schweppe was president and Mrs. de Muth was special agent. They investigated complaints of cruelty to children and animals, brought offenders to court, and taught their community thoughtfulness for dependents.

But the society went out of existence in May, 1929. On the 12th the special agent died. She was survived only six days by her president. That was revealed yesterday at the annual meeting of the Illinois Humane society at their headquarters, 1145 South Wabash avenue, when the story of their long service and the coincidence of their death was told.

Child beating, which used to keep humane investigators working overtime, is becoming rare. George A. H. Scott, secretary, in his report, stated that only three real cases of cruel child beating came to the society's attention in 1929. The most extreme case was that of a father who beat his 14 year old son on the back with a heavy wire, because he went to a golf club to caddy.

"During 1929 the society received and investigated 1,853 complaints involving 4,474 children," according to the report. "Court prosecutions totaled 375 cases in which 554 children were bettered. Thirty-four defendants were sent to the house of correction, five to the county jail, and two were held to the grand jury. Drinking was responsible in 143 cases. In dozens of cases mothers went out to drink, leaving their children alone."

Under the society's surveillance were circuses, stock shows, kennel clubs, amusement parks, carnivals, the stock yards, poultry markets, and dog pounds. Among animals and fowl inspected were 26,254 canaries, 255 parrots, 435 love birds, 40 linnets, 15 chaffinches, 34 gold fishes, 10 macaws, 19 cockatoos, 12 doves, 381 guinea pigs, 564 dogs, 90 cats, 2 owls, 467 rabbits, 77 white rats, 82 white mice, 3 squirrels, 5 monkeys, 22 pigeons, and 19,823 gold fish.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 6.—"Breaking the bottle of champagne against the bow of the Thorold was the biggest thrill of a month of thrills," declared Miss Eileen Battle of Thorold, Ont. She returned today on the Ile de France from the European trip awarded her as first prize winner in the TRIBUNE personality contest.

"Of course, seeing the Tower of London, and Paris with all its famous dresses and fashions was enough to set any girl's head whirling, but when I saw the new motor ship Thorold glide down the ways after I christened it with the name of my home town, it was something to really remember," she declared.

The Thorold was especially constructed at Hull, England, to transport paper from mills in the Canadian province of Ontario to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S presses. The ship will make the trans-Atlantic voyage in May. Thereafter it will sail the great lakes with its cargo of paper rolls for THE TRIBUNE.

Miss Battle, accompanied by her sister and chaperone, Regina, sailed from New York on Jan. 10, aboard the Bremen. Landing at Southampton, England, on Jan. 16, they immediately went to Hull. There Miss Eileen christened the new ship.

There followed a week of sightseeing in London and its immediate vicinity, views of the Tower of London, the house of parliament, etc. Then came a trip to Stratford-on-Avon, to the birthplace of William Shakespeare.

Miss Battle and her sister went aboard the Ile de France at Havre Jan. 30. The weather was stormy during the first three days out, but "neither of us were seasick." She and her sister danced. She talked with Will Rogers.

Lively Party Farewell to Phil Nesbitt

BY THALIA

One of the liveliest parties that has been given all winter was an almost impromptu affair the other evening as a farewell party for Phil Nesbitt, who is departing this week with paint box and brushes for an artistic sojourn in Samoa.

The party took place at the William B. Greenlees at 70 Scott street, and the invitations were issued by telephone just a few hours beforehand. There were about twenty young people in on the fun, and they all appeared in as ingenious and ridiculous costumes as they could rig up on such short notice. The results are reported to have been screamingly funny, and the party was an immense success.

Isabel Greenlee, as the duchess of Pinchknees, greeted each arrival and drafted him or her into the "deceiving" line until the entire party was assembled. Al Kornfeld, in blackface, checked off the guest list on a milk card, and Tom Seyster appeared in an antique chair, placarded "Do Not Handle." Emily Otis, dressed in a raincoat and carrying a bath spray, represented the popular song, "Singing in the Bathtub," and Jessica Hambleton promptly became "Polka-Haunt-Us." Howard Bristol's regalia earned him the name of "Toot and Come In," and Phil Nesbitt was labeled "His Disgrace." Betty Scriven, as "Conchita," improvised a dance, and Barbara Poole, in Bowery outfit, did a Bowery dance. Martha Fitts wore robes, and Bob Greenlee impersonated Marianne Stevenson. Emeline and Carol Bush announced that they were the "bush women" from Australia, and George Carpenter was a parson with a flaming red tie and socks.

Ira Nelson Morris returned to the Lake Shore Drive hotel yesterday and is expecting Carol A. Davilla, the Rumanian ambassador to the United States, to arrive on Monday to be in Chicago until Wednesday. Mr. Morris, who is the Rumanian consul general, will assist with the ambassador in the ceremonies at several universities, where Prof. Nicholas Iorga, president of the National University of Buchait, is to give addresses next week. Mr. Morris is to give a dinner for the ambassador on Tuesday evening.

The Endly Aid society is to hold its month meeting at 10:30 o'clock this morig at the residence of Mrs. William Ibinson of 5116 Woodlawn avenue.

Assistinat the Arts club tea this afternoonwhereat three exhibitions are to be ened, will be Mrs. Charles O'Connor , Mrs. Walter Ayer, Miss Agnes Fman, Mrs. Adolph Bolm, Mrs. Jacqs Gordon, Mrs. Stuart H. Otis, Mrs. ohn H. Winterbotham, and Mrs. Chan H. Swift.

The Ciago Public School Art society iso have its annual lunch tomorrow 12:30 o'clock at the Arts club. Joh Shapley, new director of the Art dartment of the University of Chicagds to speak. Mrs. Walter S. Brewst who is president of the society, h a luncheon at her residence yesday, with Miss Josephine Haynes sling and Miss Marion Hall playing theafter. She leaves on Sunday for a eck's stay in New York City.

Members of the English-Speaking union are hear about the last expedition of apt. Robert Scott to the south pole, a lecture by Dr. Griffith Taylor, Sc., B. E., B. A., at a dinner to given for him at the Palmer hou on Friday evening, Feb. 14. Dr. Tor is professor of geography in th University of Chicago, and was sen geologist on the Scott expedition. With Capt. Scott in Antarctica" the title of the lecture, and it is to illustrated.

Mrs. George Massey of Winnetka has gone to nta Barbara, Cal., to spend this nth with her mother, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson. George B. Massey Jr. is organizing a large winter sports week-end party at Draper hall, at Oconomowoc, Wis.; and the young people who are planning to go on the outing are crossing their fingers that the weather will be propitious for the program of skiing and ice boating planned. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Crawford of Winnetka are to chaperon the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan M. Clement of 209 Lake Shore drive and their son and daughter-in-law, the Franklin G. Clements of Lake Forest, are at the Edgewater Gulf hotel near Biloxi for a stay. The Frederick H. Bartletts, who have been in Miami, are now at Edgewater Park also.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward W. Willits of Highland Park are opening their house at Thomasville, Ga., where their daughter, Mrs. Robert Burnside, with her young son, and Mrs. J. McGregor Willits and her small daughter are to join them.

Mr. and Mrs. Burridge D. Butler of Hinsdale have closed their house and will spend the next two months in California and Arizona.

'Miss Europe,' a Greek Girl, Wins Title from 18 Beauties

PARIS, Feb. 6.—The classic Grecian features of Alice Diplarakou of Athens won for her the title of "Miss Europe" in a contest here, in which beauties from 19 countries competed. "Miss Europe" is a dark haired daughter of the Peloponnesus, where the purity of Greek blood is supposed to have been retained for 2,000 years. She is 18 and her complexion is of a delicate olive tinge, while her figure has the rounded lines of classical beauty.

MISS MARY TRIGG WALLER.

Mrs. Trigg McElwee Waller of Highland Park announces the engagement of her daughter, Mary Trigg Waller, to James Monroe Carry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carry of 1317 East 50th street. Miss Waller attended Wells college, where she was prominent in student activities, and Mrs. Waller gave a debut tea for her a year ago.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—President and Mrs. Hoover gave a dinner tonight in honor of the speaker of the house and Mrs. Longworth. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, and Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff, both of Chicago; Felix Warburg, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Lamont of New York. After the dinner there was music by Tito Schipa, tenor, and Miss Beatrice Harrison, violoncellist. For that program about two hundred guests were invited to the East room. They included Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey then left for New York. There they will be joined by Charles S. Dewey Jr., his father's secretary, and they will sail tomorrow for Poland, where Mr. Dewey is financial adviser to the government at Warsaw.

Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of the Vice President, was the guest of honor at luncheon today given by Mrs. Robinson Downey of Pennsylvania, in the Presidential suite of the Willard. Among the guests were Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the D. A. R.

New Kind of Salts Taking Country By Storm

They Revitalize the System—Induce Youthful Activity —Keep Body in Splendid Condition— Free From Fat.

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most Salts, Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c at—any drug store in America—take one half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger, eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier — nerves steadier — you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals, and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation — one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

U. S. EXAMINING RADIO INDUSTRY TRUST EVIDENCE

Senators Hear R. C. A. May Be Prosecuted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Proceedings against the Radio Corporation of America under the Sherman anti-trust law may be the result of a department of justice investigation which the senate interstate commerce committee learned today was undertaken last November.

The investigation is being conducted by "two of the ablest men in the anti-trust division of the department" and probably will be completed within three or four weeks, according to Assistant Attorney General John Lord O'Brian. A letter from him to Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.] promising that "if any legal proceedings are justified such proceedings will be promptly instituted" was read into the committee's record.

Chicagoan Won Inquiry.

The current investigation is the result, Mr. O'Brian's letter indicated, of demands made by Oswald Schuette of Chicago, secretary of the Radio Protective association, for resumption of the inquiry abandoned when William J. Donovan, assistant attorney general in the Coolidge administration, with all of the assistants who had participated in that investigation, resigned.

"As you are no doubt aware," Mr. O'Brian wrote, "all of the proceedings taken by the Radio corporation and its affiliated corporations have been guided by the advice of some of the best known lawyers and patent experts in the country. As shown by the briefs filed before the federal trade commission and their recent statements it is their claim that every act complained of is protected by the legal monopoly granted by the United States patent office, and they still own or control about 3,500 patents.

"In this important aspect, the case presents a conflict between the anti-trust laws enacted to prevent monopoly and the type of monopoly created by the government through the issues of patents. It is not an exaggeration to say that the case is one of the most complicated ever examined by this department."

Conspiracy Prosecution Asked.

"We have asked the attorney general," Schuette said today, "to begin dissolution proceedings against the 'radio trust,' which is made up of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the General Electric company, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing, the United Fruit company and the Radio corporation, and to prosecute these companies as a conspiracy to destroy the independent radio industry."

Maj. Gen. J. G. Harbord, U. S. A., retired, chairman of the board of the Radio corporation, and William A. Winterbottom, vice president of R. C. A. Communications, Inc., were witnesses before the senate committee during the day. Gen. Harbord defended the proposed merger of R. C. A. Communications, Inc., with the International Telephone and Telegraph company, and Winterbottom confined himself to denials that his company sought to hinder realization of the proposed press Wireless, Inc., organized by a group of newspapers including THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for the transmission of news dispatches by short wave radio.

ENDS LIFE BY POISON.

Joseph Siegel, 60 years old, 1308 South Springfield avenue, a baker, died at the Mount Sinai hospital last night from the effects of poison which he swallowed at his home on Wednesday evening while despondent over domestic troubles.

Boy Soprano a Real Treat, Elmer Opines

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

First of the rare treats on the air last evening was William Mathias, Welsh-Eglish boy soprano, on the W-G-N, 8 to 8:30 program. I have heard a number of boy sopranos, and having long been hearing about the wonders of boy sopranos, but this Mathias youngster is the only boy soprano that came up to my expectations. And he went beyond any advance expectations I ever held.

Women would undoubtedly call his voice and his singing most sweet and lovable. It is all this and more, for Master Mathias is considerable of a song interpreter. His numbers included two Welsh airs and the familiar "In An Old Fashioned Town." His high tones were quite like that of a female soprano, his middle tones somewhat resembled a mezzo-soprano, and his lower tones were of contralto quality.

The second rare treat was Mme. Galli-Curci, on a chain program through KYW, 9 to 10. She sang quite a number of songs, each being skillfully arranged. I find this paragraph difficult to write, partly because in her radio appearance two years ago she gave a brilliant vocal display. The first half of last evening's recital was sung in a noticeably subdued tonal mood. Even Rossini's florid "Tarantella" song had a suppressed effect. Considerable spectacular brilliancy marked the last half of her recital. It is interesting to observe that high C was reached with ease, and that in one instance second high E was reached with an equal case.

The Y. M. C. A. College Glee club gave an enjoyable program from WLS, 9:30 to 10. The boys wove their way quite successfully through the polyphonic weavings of Palestrina, chorded solid masculinely through Handel's "Largo," and then serenaded with the brighter and more modern popular numbers—all to their cultural advantage and our enjoyment.

Install Towers for Police Radio at Town Hall Station

Two towers 100 feet high, which will carry the antennae of the new police radio station, were completed yesterday at the Town Hall station at 3600 North Halsted street. Similar towers at the Warren avenue station were erected two weeks ago. The radio broadcasting equipment is expected to be installed within the next few weeks.

W.C.T.U. FINDS LIQUOR DEATHS ON THE DECLINE

To support its claim that prohibition "has saved at least 25,000 lives that would have been lost had pre-prohibition alcoholism death rates continued," the national headquarters of the Woman's Christian Temperance union at Evanston yesterday issued a statement showing a decline in the rate of deaths from alcoholism.

"Alcoholism killed 4,627 people in the United States last year," the statement said. "That death rate was 4 per 100,000. Had alcoholism killed at the rate of 6.6 per 100,000, which flourished in 1916, the height of the saloon era, there would have been 7,896 deaths. Credit 3,359 to prohibition."

Thirty-one states, according to the report, were below the national average death rate of 4 per 100,000 for 1929, with only Illinois, New York, Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Wyoming above the average.

SEEK TWO GIRLS ON HIKING TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

Two girls, believed to be hiking their way to California, were being sought by their parents and the police last night. The girls are Marjorie Ketler, 18 years old, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Ketler, 6418 Woodlawn avenue, and Louise Martel, 17 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Martel, 30 North Catherine avenue, La Grange, Ill.

Both girls, who are intimate friends, disappeared from their homes last Monday afternoon. The girls wore khaki walking suits. Miss Ketler, whose father is a retired Methodist minister, has dark hair and eyes and weighs 150 pounds. Miss Martel's father is an official of the Jones Foundry company.

John O'Rourke, Detective at Hotel Sherman, Is Dead

John O'Rourke, 71 years old, for nineteen years a house detective at the Hotel Sherman, died yesterday at his home at 1731 Carmen avenue after a brief illness. For twenty years before he entered the employ of the hotel upon the opening of its present building Mr. O'Rourke was a member of the Chicago police department. He is survived by a son and a daughter. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at Our Lady of Lourdes church, with burial at St. Thomas cemetery.

Steel Man, Nephew of Chas. M. Schwab, Is Dead

Danville, Pa., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Carlton Schwab Wagner, 36, former owner of the Danville Structural Steel company, died suddenly tonight. He was a nephew of Charles M. Schwab, the steel manufacturer, and was reared by Mr. and Mrs. Schwab.

The inventory of the estate of Mrs Carrie Cornelia Smith, widow of Byron L. Smith, founder of the Northern Trust company, was filed yesterday before Leon Edelman, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. The estate is composed of $1,100,000 in stocks and bonds and $400,000 in real estate in Cook and Lake counties.

Mrs. Smith, who was the daughter of the late Renssalaer Stone of Chicago, died on May 28 at her summer home at 1175 Lake road, Lake Forest. She was 73 years old. Her husband died in 1911. Mrs. Smith's will divided the estate among her four sons, Soloman A. Smith, president of the Northern Trust company; Walter B. Smith, a director of the bank; Harold Cornelius Smith, president of the Illinois Tool company, and Bruce Donald Smith of New York.

Shares.
720	Amer Tel & Tel	$168,630
131	Illinois Cent R R	16,798
419	Commonwealth Edison Co	106,845
360	Northern Trust Co	270,000
208	A T & Santa Fe R R	49,712

Stocks not listed include 400 shares of Aetna Casualty and Surety company; 100 shares of American Express company; 752 shares of Elgin National Watch company, and 1,280 shares of Super Heater company.

Bonds listed in the inventory are valued at $200,000. It also included a membership in the Saddle and Cycle club.

MAKES OWN PLEA IN ILLEGAL LAW PRACTICE CHARGE

Thomas Victor Novotny, charged with practicing law without a license, will conclude his final argument to the jury in his own behalf before Municipal Judge Freeman L. Fairbank today. Mrs. Florence Malone, 2013 Point street, charges that Novotny accepted a $500 fee under representation that he would obtain a commutation of the sentence of the woman's husband, who is in prison for violation of the postal laws.

In opening his argument yesterday Novotny declared the Chicago Bar association has "been trying to get him." Novotny lives at 80 South River road, Riverside, and maintains an office at 100 North La Salle street.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Klenha in his plea declared Novotny has been practicing law for seventeen years without a license. He termed "a fraud" a document Novotny exhibited as his authority to practice.

Barsaloux Funeral Rites Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine A. Barsaloux, 7406 Oglesby avenue, wife of David L. Barsaloux, a member of the Board of Trade, will be conducted at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the chapel at 52d place and Normal avenue. Burial will be at Mount Greenwood cemetery. Mrs. Barsaloux died on Wednesday at St. Petersburg, Fla., where she had gone last December in an effort to regain her health. She had been a resident of Chicago for forty years. She is survived by her husband; one son, David Jr.; a sister, Mrs. Jay Billings; and two brothers, Thomas G. Warren of Chicago and William H. Warren, vice president of the Lukens Steel company, Coatesville, Pa.

'SALS' BOSTWICK, CARTOONIST, DIES AFTER OPERATION

Salisbury Bostwick, 27 years old, staff cartoonist for the Chicago Evening American and formerly of THE TRIBUNE, died yesterday in Mercy hospital following an operation for appendicitis. Burial will be at his native town, Eau Claire, Wis., at 2:30 p. m., Sunday.

Weeks ago physicians had told him his condition warranted an immediate operation but "Sals," as he signed himself, insisted on drawing enough cartoons to cover the period of his confinement in the hospital. The operation was performed a week ago. His condition took a sudden adverse turn yesterday and death came as his parents and two newspaper friends sat at his bedside. Bostwick taught his profession at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

Youth Shot While Fleeing from Policeman Is Dead

Bruno Norvell, 17 years old, 2312 Kroll street, who was shot by policemen on Wednesday night while trying to evade arrest, died last night in the Bridewell hospital. Norvell was shot in the side while he and Stanley Lietis, 17 years old, 1730 String street, were fleeing from a police squad which had caught them stripping a stolen automobile in the rear of 1821 South Peoria street.

Mabel Normand Improves After Blood Transfusion

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 6—[Special.]—Mabel Normand underwent a blood transfusion in a hospital today and the screen actress, who has been ill with tuberculosis for a year, is reported in a condition slightly more favorable than was expected. "Her gain in strength may become permanent," it was said.

Lindbergh Flies Glider 15 Miles in 21 Minutes

Lindbergh Camp, Tehachapi Mountains, Cal., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh late today took off in a Bowlus glider and remained aloft 21 minutes 10 seconds, landing in a bean field about four miles away. Observers said Lindbergh flew about 15 miles in all. He passed over Lebec lake and circled several times.

Manor House Players

One of history's most romantic episodes, the courtship of Miles Standish, is radiofied by Jean Conover, and presented by the Manor House Players. Harry W. Spingold directs the company. 7:30.

Blue, just blue

Bonnie Blue, crooner of blues and stormy boop-boop-a-doop girl, carries on with the dance band and Axel Christensen, master of ceremonies. Half an hour of bright blues. 8:00.

Melody and rhythm

Two orchestras vie for the honors. One plays lovable melodies, many by Victor Herbert. The other steams up some garrulous dance wows. On their mark at 8:30.

Billiken Troupers get going

This has nothing to do with Goldilocks, but the Three Bears of harmony are the Billikens Three. Also superpeppy dance music. A half an hour at 9:30.

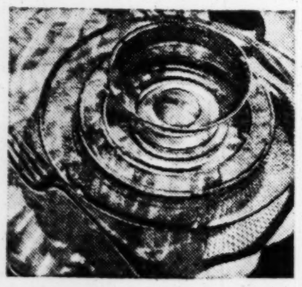
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

NEW THINGS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Table Linen Demands Hand Washing



Caressing White Hands Every Woman's Right

Wash Linens This New Way—Keep Hands Satin-Soft

SPOTLESS table linens—soft as only hand washing can make them—are as much a mark of social knowledge as good manners.

To have them—impeccable and flawless—and, at the same time for the housewife to have caressing, white hands is a problem that has now been solved an interesting, new way.

Use any kind of soap, soap powder or soap flakes, in washing linens. But add a teaspoon of CLIMALENE to the water.

This enables you to use ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity of soap. For it softens the water instantly, so that far less soap is needed. Thus avoiding any danger of "soap fat" or fading, so fatal to fine fabrics.

Then by bland cleansing elements IN ITSELF, CLIMALENE acts to gently DISSOLVE any food stains, grease or dirt in things being washed. Thus they emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading.

Containing superlative SKIN WHITENING and SKIN SOFTENING ingredients—used by scores of beauty specialists—it leaves the hands soft and lovely beyond words.

Women are flocking to it. It costs only a dime at grocers. Try it. Just ask for CLIMALENE.

New Education Opens the World to the Children

"A Sex Education Booklet," by Mrs. Bevans will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We can't tell whether a person will take a disease until he's exposed to it. And we can't tell [except in cases of genius] whether a child has this or that talent unless he's exposed to the influences of that art, or profession, or craft.

People who misunderstand the new education, when they see their children in a rich school environment which offers them opportunity to draw, to paint, to write, to work with their hands often say, "I don't want my son to be an artist or a writer. What's the use of trying to make a cabinetmaker or a sculptor of my daughter? That's not fitting them to be practical, hard working citizens."

It is not the aim of the new education to make professional artists, writers, or craftsmen of the children in its schools. Its aim is to open the world to them, and to give them an opportunity for all the well rounded, varied activity that childhood needs. This means a full and satisfied life—in childhood.

But also, it often happens that the rich environment of the progressive school does one of two things which brings happiness in mature life, as well.

One of these things is to develop a love of something which as an avocation, or a hobby, like an appreciation of art or music or the practice of a craft, gives pleasure throughout a person's whole life.

The other thing it accomplishes is this—it helps human beings to find their true vocation in life. Any system of education which does that, justifies itself absolutely.

Don't worry and think that these things in school time mean wasted hours. Even scholastically they don't mean lost time. The children who are not required to devote themselves exclusively to the "tool" or academic subject for long periods come out more advanced in the end.

Visited York.

While traveling in Europe I visited York and was anxious to see the Guild hall. Looking for a guide, I saw a man dressed in a long black cloak, similar to those worn by the guides in the cathedral, showing a small party around the place.

I asked if I might join them, and receiving a gracious answer, I followed with them, expecting to pay my share. Imagine my embarrassment later, when I discovered that my "guide" was a high official showing the Guild hall to some most distinguished guests. A. G.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

An unusually distinctive model in dull black silk crêpe, with the shiny surface used for the contrast is shown. The cascading jabot frill takes a diagonal slant and does much towards giving the effect of slenderness. The skirt is circular, and a straight belt that has perforations to be made in three sections, is inserted between the bodice and the skirt. It shows the center section in the reverse side of the crêpe.

The pattern, 2826, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin [coin preferred; wrap it carefully] for each number, and address your order to Clotilde Patterns, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 247 Park avenue, New York City.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

So-Called "Man" Lets Wife Pay Bills and Support Their Child

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What do you think of a husband like mine? We have been married thirteen years, in all of which time he has never contributed one cent to our son's or my support. I pay the rent, keep the house, buy the clothing. I never worked. My money comes from a trust fund.

"My husband is a business man, earns a good salary and he pays me what he calls his board every week, in amount, twelve dollars. He does not squander his money. He has it all invested and in savings banks, but he will not spend a cent on the boy or me. Not even at Christmas time did he give our boy a thing, although he had gifts from us both.

"He is like a saint until I ask for money. Then he roars like a demon. Our friends think we are one happy family if ever there lived one. Yet I'd leave him, but for the gossip and the boy.—Mrs. G. C."

To get at the root of the trouble I suppose one would have to go back thirteen years and ask why you started out paying for everything, releasing the man from every financial obligation. Husbands sometimes have to be trained in the way they should spend! And some of them have to be put through a vigorous course of training about money obligations.

You must have started in wrong, assuming too willingly the early expenses. Having let thirteen years go by, it is a question now whether you ever can get him to see your point of view. If the young son could not extract a Christmas gift voluntarily, his does seem an unusual cause of money hardness to conquer.

One cannot extract any particular peace of mind out of the idea that all the savings eventually may be returned with interest, for it is neither holy nor wholesome to reckon on a dead man's shoes, though the temptation may be great.

What a curious makeup in a man! Son of a Midas, loving his gold more than his wife and child, at the same time a good natured person, which usually is not the case where a gold fever runs in the veins.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Unfair to Her.

"Dear Miss Blake: In seven years I will be ready to support the girl I go with very easily. Is it fair to make her wait that long? N. E."

You would be doing both the girl and yourself an injustice to make such a suggestion. The time's too long

Find Younger Friends.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow of 24. I am 16. People make remarks. Please advise. MARY."

If you go out with boys of your own age I'm sure you'll have better times.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Offers Screens.

"I have two or three lovely screens to give away. I am sure they would be of use to some of your readers.

"MRS. M. G."

There are so many uses for a gift of this sort, it should be welcomed in almost any household. It is an excellent way to hide an unsightly corner, and in the invalid's room placed before the open window it is an assurance against drafts. Write me, if you can make use of one of these; please do not telephone.

SOUTH SIDE MEN

Waiting list will soon be established for applicants seeking positions with a large international organization. These lists already exist in many of the 46 countries in which we operate over 600 branch offices. We are just commencing operations in the United States and our expansion program calls for about forty men in the Indiana and Illinois territory.

These men will be assured of a splendid income and a remarkable future with a financially strong old company. Inasmuch as we are the only ones in our particular field, we cannot get experienced men, and the qualifications are loyalty, intelligence, and aggressiveness.

If you are selected you will be expected to start at once by attending preliminary schooling at factory branch at our expense.

COLUMBIAN COLORTYPE BUILDING

Two blocks from the southern tip of Grant Park and the Lake at Twenty-first-st., now has space available, affording to tenants full daylight floor space, advantageous location, superior transportation facilities, abundant fresh air, relief from loop congestion, abundant parking space, and very moderate rent. 18,000 square feet are on each floor; the floor load is 250 lbs. to a sq. foot.

Ten minutes from loop by train, elevated, street car or motor bus, the Columbian Building affords close proximity to downtown with the added advantage of parking space for automobiles and a lack of traffic congestion. The widening of 22d-st. and of Indiana-av. opens two wide traffic arteries into this district.

The 1933 World's Fair, which is to be built on Lake Shore Drive, just south of the Lief Erickson drive, will have its main entrance at the Twenty-third street viaduct, only two blocks from the Columbian Colortype Bldg.
